.... when his house there [Stanley] was bought by John Shaw, rector of Swettenham (Ches.). Shaw was succeeded in 1715 by his son Richard, an Anglican clergyman who died unmarried in or shortly before 1754. In 1760, in accordance with Richard's wishes, the house, then known as Lower House, and 70 a. were settled on trustees to endow a charity for the poor of the township. [VCH VII]

One Shaw, Dr of Physick, and Schoolmaster of Tamworth, sometime since published a Latin Syntax, and just now he hath published another 8vo Grammatical piece about the Heteroclites, in which he hath a Letter to Dr Robert Freind, Master of Westminster School, about some places of Horace. He seems to be an affected, bold, conceited Man. He despises old musty books and MSS. Remember to inquire about this Man, & of what University. I am told he was not of Oxford. Matthaeus Prior, A.M. St John's College, Cambridge.

Prior was at this time Secretary to the English Ambassador at the Hague. Samuel Shaw of Leicestershire at Emmanuel Coll., Cambridge, 1684. Samuel Shaw, M.D., was elected Master of the Free Grammar School at Tamworth, Nov. 23, 1708. Author of several Works on the Latin language — Grammatical Dictionary of the Latin Tongue, 1726 ; A Short and Plain Syntax, 1727 ; and A New Grammar, 1730. This last is dedicated to Henry Harpur, son of Sir John Harpur, Bart, of Caulke, Derbyshire. He died in 1730 and was buried at Tamworth on April 24. The school was in high repute in his time and he was elected a Capital Burgess and Bailiff of Tamworth in 1722. (Information from Mr William Morton, Tamworth,) Dr Samuel Shaw's daughter Margaret married Alexander Brodie of Banff, and he was, therefore, great-grandfather of Sir Benjamin Brodie the surgeon. Both families were Jacobites.

Thomas Shaw (? parochial curate of Bucknall) e1567-....
Shaw, born perhaps about 1567, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 13 Sep 1597 he is described as a curate at Bucknall but in 1604 it is stated that Bucknall was served by "A Reader, Thomas Shaw without orders. stipend allowed by the yeare £3, no preacher". He may have later been ordained since he is again described as curate in 1639 and might have still been in office on 1 Jan 1641. No further record has been discovered.

William Shaw M.A. (rector of Mavesyn Ridware) c1617-1672 H106
Shaw, born about 1617, was a son of Ralph Shaw of Sandbach, Cheshire yeoman. He was educated at Sandbach. He studied at Cambridge where on 12 May 1635 he was admitted as a sizar at Pembroke College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1638.9 (M.A., 1642). Shaw was likely ordained deacon and priest before 1643. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. In 1648 he may have been - unsuccessfully - presented by John Agard as ?compliant minister of Mavesyn Ridware rectory. By 3 Feb 1651.2 he was in office as ?compliant minister of Broughton chapel-of-ease (in Eccleshall) but it is undiscovered how long he continued in office. In a lawsuit of about 1659 Shaw claimed to be the rightful minister of Mavesyn Ridware. Although his claim was not upheld at law he seems to have caused the existing presbyterian minister Richard Swinfen 1630-1691 to coercively resign about Jun 1660. In early Jun 1660 Shaw may have continued at Broughton as de facto stipendary curate but had likely left office before 7 Sep 1660 when he was instituted rector of Mavesyn Ridware. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 1 Aug 1662. On 23 Jan 1663.4 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Pipa Parva. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Mavesyn Ridware constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths. On 17 Feb 1666.7 after presentation by Mary Offley 1622-1718 by right as widow of John Offley of Madeley esquire c1619-1658 and their son John Offley of Madeley esquire 1651-1688 he was, plurally, instituted rector of Mucklestone. Still in all his offices he died, aged about 55, on 16 Nov 1672 and was buried on 18 Nov in the chancel at Mavesyn Ridware. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 19 Apr 1673. His personalty was valued at £265/4/0. Shaw married about 1643 to Catherine Broughton c1618-1689 dau of John Broughton of Whittington in Eccleshall gentleman c1594-1659 by whom he had 2 sons and probably 2 daughters. Bryan Shaw (rector of Barthomley, Cheshire) c1649-1699 was his older son and John Shaw (rector of Mavesyn Ridware) c1652-1710 was his younger son. Ann Shaw - wife of Josias Deane (parochial curate of Armitage & Pipe Ridware) c1638-1697 QV - was probably his older daughter.

Edward Shawe (parochial curate of Marchington) c1643-1686 H107
Shawe, born about 1643, was a son of James Shawe of Chesterfield, Derbys. He studied at Cambridge where on 27 Apr 1663 he was admitted as a sizar at Magdalene College but is not known to have graduated. On 25 Jul 1663 he was ordained deacon and on 5 Jul 1664 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield. On 4 Aug 1665 after probable presentation by the vicar of Hanbury then Peter Watkinson c1608-?1688 QV he was in office as parochial curate of Marchington. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Marchington constablewick and was not assessed there. He probably resigned at Marchington before 3 Sep 1668 when after presentation by Philip Stanhope 2nd Earl of Chesterfield c1634-1713 he was instituted as rector of Somersall Herbert, Derbys. Still in office he died, aged about 43, about Apr 1686. His will made on 29 Mar 1686 was proved under Lichfield on 23 Apr 1686. Shawe married about 1673 a widow by whom he had 3 sons. Abraham Shawe M.A. (rector of Edlington, Yorks West Riding) c1659-.... was a younger brother.

Shawe, born about 1585, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 22 Jul 1605 he was schoolmaster of Milwich parish school and was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 25 Oct 1610 when after presentation by Walter Aston 1st Baron Aston of Forfar 1584-1639 he was instituted vicar of Milwich. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Still in office as minister in early Jun 1660 he was then reinstated as vicar and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 14 Aug 1662. On 1 Aug 1665 he was said to be "old and sick". In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Milwich constablewick and was assessed on 2 hearths at Coton township. Still in office he died, aged about 87, and was buried here in May 1672. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 18 Nov 1672. Shaw married about 1624 to Dorothy by whom he had 3 sons and 2 daughters.

Apparently Hill did not accept the appointment, for on 15 Mar 1548.9 Forsett, the supervisor, reported to the same commissioners that Hen Wollaston, whom they had appointed vicar, had but small learning and was an enemy of the King's proceedings and that John Sheldon was more meet for the post, though even he was not very meet.
Shortly after this report Sheldon was appointed vicar by the commissioners, but did not give satisfaction to the parishioners, who made a formal though undated complaint of his absence and of the very unsuitable persons that he appointed to take the services. [1915 281]

Complaint made to Sir Walter Mildemaye knt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, by Edward Luson esq. & Thomas Flymyng yeoman, parishioners of Totenall, co. Staff., in the name of all the inhabitants of Totenall that whereas Sir John Sheldon, clerk, late prebendary of the late collegiate church of Totenall was appointed vicar of the parish church of Totenall by said Sir Walter Mildemaye & other officers of Edward VI, to minister to the parishioners there, being 1,000 "housling" people & has a yearly stipend of £13/6/8 paid him by the Auditor of co. Staff., shortly after his appointment absented himself from that place & procured other spiritual promotions of more or less greater value than the said stipend & has appointed at divers times very unsuitable persons in his place, & although repeatedly asked to perform divine service & give the sacraments himself or to appoint suitable persons, he takes no notice & therefore the parishioners pray that Sir John may serve the cure in person or else the Auditor may be commanded to pay the stipend to complainants that they may procure a suitable person & not one of small reputation & learning as supplied by Sir John. Note signed by Sir Walter Mildmay that the Receiver stop payment of the stipend until the party serve the cure himself or provide another who shall satisfy the parishioners, failing which the stipend to be paid to such sufficient man as the parish with consent of the ordinary shall provide [PRO Ecclesiastical 135-9-18]

$Isaac Keeling M.A. (compliant minister of Wolstanton) 1605-1679 (H66)
Keeling, christened on 15 Sep 1605 at Newcastle, was first son of Ralph Keeling of Newcastle gentleman 1582-1650 and Elizabeth Yardley daughter of John Yardley of Grobershill. He studied at Oxford where on 31 Oct 1623 he was a student at Magdalen Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 9 Mar 1626.7 (M.A., 9 Jul 1629). On 18 Dec 1631 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield, on 19 Feb 1631.2 ordained priest by Oxford pro Lichfield and on 2 Oct 1633 licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. By 1638 after probable presentation by the rector of Stoke-upon-Trent then John Mainwaring c1605-1692 QV he was in office as dependent curate of Burslem. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Before 8 Dec 1643 he was, jointly, presented as vicar of Wolstanton by the Staffordshire parliamentary committee at about the same time as Richard Shelley c1599-p1645 was presented to the same office by Ralph Sneyd of Keele esquire c1612-1650. Shelley appears to have served as de facto vicar and (from Feb 1643.4) de facto compliant minister until about Sep 1645. That month Keeling appears to have resigned at Burslem and was in office as compliant minister at Wolstanton vicarage being approved by the Staffordshire parliamentary committee on 11 Dec 1645. In 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted him an augmentation of £20 to his annual salary of £40. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Isaac Keeling Minister of Gods Word at Wolstanton". In 1658 he certified the fitness of many candidates for the ministry. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto vicar and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £2. On 26 Jun 1662 after presentation by William Sneyd of Keele esquire c1614-1695 he was instituted vicar. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £40. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax but was assessed twice at Wolstanton - for 8 hearths (probably at his privately owned home) and 3 hearths "att the Viccaridge". Still in office he died, aged 74, and was buried there on 15 Aug 1679. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 3 Sep 1679. On his death his goods were to be administered by two of his creditors. His personalty was valued at £28/0/10 and included "the deceaseds Librarie £6/8/4". Keeling married on 23 Aug 1636 at Wolstanton to Ann Brett (d 1683) daughter of John Brett of Keele esquire c1567-1628 by whom he had 3 sons and 4 daughters. On 7 Apr 1663 Keeling certified his family's entry in the heraldic visitation of Staffordshire but no coat of arms was exhibited. Keeling qua vicar of Wolstanton was patron of the dependent chapelries of Keele (where he had probably presented Edward Beardmore ?1619-1679 QV in 1665) and of Newchapel.

(1915) 1643 depr. 11 Dec 1645 Richard Shelley M.A.? 6 - 6 Shelley. Probably M.A. 1623 Emmanuel College, Cambridge (Venn). On 13 Sep 1645 Shelley complained to the committee for plundered ministers that the vicarage had been wrongly taken from him by and upon a presentment of his patron's delinquency. On 11 Dec 1645 the said committee decided that Ralph Sneade of Keele, esq., did not present Shelley until after his estate had been sequestered for delinquency and that Shelley had himself expressed great malignancy against Parliament; therefore it confirmed the appointment of Keeling as vicar and ordered him to preach diligently to the parishioners there (Add. MS 15669 p328, 524). Walker states that he was ejected by the Staffordshire parliamentary committee; no doubt on receipt of instructions from the aforenamed committee. [1915 p316 319]

Anthony Sherly (parochial curate of Farewell) e1622-1688 H109
Sherly, born perhaps about 1622, is of unknown parentage. He is said to have studied at Oxford as a student at All Souls. On 21 Jun 1662 in his will Anthony Dyott of Lichfield St Mary esquire 1616-1662 recommended to his brother's care his "faithful clerk" Anthony Shirley and left him an annuity of fifty shillings. Sherly was likely ordained deacon before 20 Aug 1662 when he was in office as stipendiary curate of Yoxall and subscribed to the Act of uniformity. However on 21 Feb 1664 he is said to have been ordained deacon (? recte priest) by Lichfield. About 1665 after probable presentation by the dean & chapter of Lichfield he was licensed parochial curate of Farewell. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax tax for Pipe-cum-members constablewick (which contained Farewell) but was not assessed there probably because he was living at Sandford Street, Lichfield where he was assessed on 3 hearths about 1668. Sherly was still in office in 1666. Possibly still in office he died, perhaps aged about 66, about Nov 1688 probably at Lichfield. His will made on 3o Oct 1688 was proved under Lichfield on 13 Dec 1688. His personalty was valued at £10/6/0 and included "A parcell of old Books 8/0". Sherly may not have married.

John Sherratt (? parochial curate of Castle Church & Coppenhall) c1640-1675 H110
Sherratt, born perhaps about 1640, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. In Sep 1664 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield but may never have been ordained priest. By Sep 1664 he was schoolmaster of Church Eaton Grammar School in succession to Edward Southall ?1636-1674 QV. Southall was also, jointly, parochial curate of Castle Church and Coppenhall and it seems probable that Sherratt succeded him in those offices at the same time. Sherratt was also licensed as a preacher by Lichfield at Penkridge in Sep 1664. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Coppenhall-cum-Butterhall constablewick but was not assessed there. Still in office at Church Eaton and probably at Castle Church and Coppenhall he died, aged about 35, and was buried on 10 Apr 1675 at Church Eaton. Sherratt may not have married.

Joseph Shilton (parochial curate of Burton-upon-Trent) c1625-1670 H111
Shilton, born perhaps about 1625, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 6 Apr 1654 he was (apparently) classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by the Derbyshire Wirksworth Classis at Shustoke, Warwicks to serve as presbyterian minister of Shustoke vicarage. In early Jun 1660 he may have continued here as de facto vicar but probably left office before 9 Jan 1661.2 when he was in office as parochial curate of Burton-upon-Trent and had paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. On 12 Jul 1662 he subscribed to the Act of uniformity and was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield on (the next day) 13 Jul 1662. On 16 Oct 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Branston, Burton Extra, Burton-upon-Trent, Horninglow and Stretton constablewicks and as "Minister" was assessed on 3 hearths at Burton Extra constablewick. Still in office at Burton-upon-Trent he died, aged about 45, and was buried here on 13 Nov 1670. Shilton married probably about 1653 to a woman by whom he had 1 son - John Shilton (head schoolmaster of Burton-upon-Trent Grammar School) c1654-....

Mr. Hutchinson, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Willson were Candidates in this County, and frequent Preachers, but not fix'd: And so was Mr. Samuel Fownes Elder Brother to Mr, Thomas Fownes mention'd above. He was a Man of excellent Parts, and a good Scholar and had read much for his Time. He died Young. Dr. (afterwards Bishop) Stillingfleet had a great Respect for him, on the Account of his Parts and Learning. And we may add to them Mr. Shilton, and Mr. Jonathan Grew. Mr. Shilton was not fix'd when the Bartholomew Act took Place, but was design'd for the Parsonage of Sutton Coldfield, when it became vacant, by his Father who was the Patron: But he would not Conform for it. He liv'd afterwards at Tamworth. [Calamy II (1713) p751] ...

-[dau]- Shirley

Shirley received a strict evangelical upbringing, but his kindly disposition prevented him from running to extremes of partisanship. Indeed in 1829 he alienated some of his friends by his outspoken advocacy of Catholic emancipation, as in later years he estranged others by refusing to support extreme measures against the Tractarians. In politics he was a constitutional whig, and both as an incumbent and as an archdeacon he exercised an energetic and effective ministry. [ODNB]

chn: George Gisborne Simcox d 1865 Austin, Texas, USA
-[dau]- Simcox

George Simcox, a trader in metalware from West Bromwich, married a daughter of the Greens and became Lord of the Manor of Harborne in 1805. He was one of the founders of the Birmingham branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, and his monument in the side chapel of St. Peter's Church praises his generosity. Other memorials nearby show that Edward Simcox, one of his sons, was curate of Harborne, and another relative, Thomas Green Simcox, was first incumbent of the parish of Holy Trinity, North Harborne, in what is now Smethwick. Edward, his wife and his daughter all died in 1832-33, leaving a five year old orphan, George Gisborne Simcox. The monument shows that he died at Austin, Texas, in 1865, and one can only presume that his purpose in going there was to earn his living as a cowboy. [INTERNET]

Josiah Simcox (parochial curate of Rowley Regis) c1645-1681
Simcox, born about 1645, was a son of John Simcox of West Bromwich, Staffs "gentleman". He studied at Oxford where on 21 Feb 1661.2 he was a student at New Inn Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. in 1665. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest
On 12 Nov 1669 he was elected a schoolmaster at Stratford-upon-Avon, Warwicks and on 20 May 1670 after presentation by Lionel Cranfield 3rd Earl of Middlesex c1625-1674 was instituted as vicar of Weston-upon-Avon, Warwicks. He probably resigned here before Nov 1681 when he was instituted vicar of Stratford-upon-Avon, Warwicks. Still in office he died, aged about 36, on 27 Dec 1681. His personalty was valued at £297 and included a desk and his books in the study valued at £20. Simcox married on 23 Apr 1670 at Stratford-upon-Avon to Martha Hunt c1650-.... probably dau of Richard Hunt (Mayor of Stratford-upon-Avon, Warwicks) and Abigal (Halford) (no known children).

(his inventory states "in his study, a desk and his bookes, valued at £20.")

Josiah SIMCOX 1644/5-1682: Son of John Simcox, of West Bromwich, Staffordshire. BA New Inn Hall, Oxford 1665. Assistant master at Stratford-upon-Avon, and curate for John Ward, the vicar there, from the late 1660s; he succeeded Ward as vicar in 1681 but died soon afterwards. Books: Simcox's probate inventory lists "a desk and his books", in the study, valued at £20; the total estate value of £297 suggests a well furnished house, with musical instruments, pictures, and fishing tackle as well as the usual furniture and household items. Apart from £5 left to his father, he bequeathed all his goods to his wife Martha. Sources: Jones, J. (ed), Stratford-upon-Avon inventories, vol 2, 1626-99, 2002, 189. [INTERNET - Book Owners Online]

West Bromwich (tenants named) to 1a and John Jesson decd, for £4,700 on 14 Sep 1768, a further £300 on 29 Sep 1768, and on 28 Sep 1776 concluded a further mortgage of other premises for a combined total of £9,000. [Walsall Local History Centre 847/2a & b]

he estate then passed into the hands of trustees, the survivor of whom gave possession c. 1681 to Thomas Harris, guardian of Edward Mountfort's daughter Elizabeth. By 1684 Elizabeth had brought Bescot in marriage to Harris's son Thomas. (fn. 100) After his death she married Jonas Slaney. (fn. 101) He had died by 1727, and in 1728 Elizabeth settled the manor on Jonas Slaney the younger of Dawley (Salop.), reserving £2,000 and a rent-charge to Dorothy, wife of Nicholas Parker of Bloxwich. On Elizabeth's death Dorothy entered the estate, but in 1739 the property was secured to Slaney. (fn. 102) He died in 1762 or early in 1763 leaving as heir his son Jonas, who lived at Bescot at some time before 1768 but by then had moved to Bristol. He had returned to Bescot by 1772 and was vicar of Rushall by 1778. (fn. 103) As a result of financial difficulties he conveyed the estate in 1781 to trustees, after settling 105 a. on his wife Mary. In 1791 they sold the hall and 80 a. to Richard Wilkes, who had been living at the hall since 1788. (fn. 104) Mary Slaney still held her share of the estate in 1796, but by 1825 it had passed to William Spurrier, who still owned it in 1843. It was then a compact farm east of Wednesbury Road. (fn. 105) [VCH]

$Ithiel Smart M.A. (compliant minister of Wombourn & Trysull) c1599-1661
Smart, born about 1599, was a younger son of Robert Smart (vicar of Preston Capes, Northants) c1560-.... and Catherine. (About 1603 his father Robert admitted that he "doth not use the cross in baptism, nor the ring in marriage, nor any of the ceremonies appointed by the Church of England set down in The Book of Common Prayer, ..." and was consequently deprived in 1605.) Smart studied at Cambridge where on 8 Mar 1616.7 he was admitted as a sizar at Emmanuel College and matriculated in 1617. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1620.1 (M.A., 1624). He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 31 Aug 1632 when after presentation by [Sir] John Wollaston of Aldersgate Ward, London [knight] c1584-1658 he was instituted vicar of Wombourn and, jointly, appointed parochial curate of Trysull. Whilst at Wombourn Smart made notes in the parish register recording church affairs. The vicarage house which in 1632 was "ruinated and gone to decay" was repaired; a "wainscot pewe erected for his wife"; the chancel was "lathed and seiled, and put in sufficient repaire". Smart noticed four "curates". Mr Watson who left about 1635; Richard Knott who served 1637 to 1638; and two of his nephews (below) - Nathaniel Smart who served 1638-40 and Ezekiel who succeded his brother. On 28 Feb 1642.3 Smart was, plurally, "appointed" rector of London St Mary Magdalene Old Fish Street. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued as compliant minister in both parishes but under An act against the enjoying of pluralities ... (16 Jan 1642.3) was required to resign one of them. One of his sons was christened at St Mary Magdalene on 5 May 1644 but Smart had resigned here before 24 Jul 1644. In London on 12 Oct 1644 he witnessed the execution in Smithfield of Francis Pitt the subject of a pamphlet - A more exact and perfect relation of the treachery, apprehension, conviction, condemnation, confession, and execution of Francis Pitt, aged 65, who was executed in Smithfield, on Saturday, October 12th, 1644, for endeavouring to betray the garrison at Rushall Hall, in the county of Stafford, to the enemy. published by Ithiel Smart and Edward Archer, two ministers, who were acquainted with him in his life, and present with him at his death ... - written by Smart and Edward Archer M.A. (stipendiary curate-in-charge of Enville) ?1614-1672 QV. Smart's next son was christened at London Hackney St John on 13 Aug 1645. On 1 Jul 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted Smart an augmentation of £50 (or £40) to his annual salary of £30 at Wombourn and on 5 Oct 1647 ordered the sheriff of Staffordshire to assist him to obtain its payment. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Ithiel Smart Minister of Gods Word at Womborne". On 16 May 1652 he resigned at Wombourn and Trysull having been appointed compliant minister of Ashby-de-la-Zouch vicarage, Leics. On 25 Mar 1659 he paid tenths for the previous six months. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar. Still in office he died, aged 62, on 22 Nov 1661 and was buried here in the chancel on 26 Nov 1661. An entry in the parish register reads "Mr. Ithiel Smart Minister of Ashby a worthy and faithful servant of god a famous Devine & a painful Preacher the comfort of gods people in his time departed this life the 22th of November & was interred in the chancell of our Parrish church in Ashby the six and twentieth of November 1661.". His will made on 19 Nov 1661 was proved under PCC on 24 Dec 1661. The value of his personalty is undiscovered but in his will he made bequests exceeeding £800. Smart bequeathed to his son Ithiel "my library of bookes Excepting some few given to my wife and others of my children hereafter menconed". His wife was to have "one Bible in folio - the Booke of Martyrs in Two Volumes - Mr Hildershams workes in Two Volumes - Dyke on the Sacarament - Dyke on the deceifullnesse of the Hearts - Rogers of Faith - Baxters of the Saints, Everlasting Rest; his son Nathaniel "Annotations of divines upon the bookes of the old and the new Testament 1645; his son Samuel "an Exposition on the creed by Mr John Smith"; his daughter Mary "Mr Balle ... published by Mr Ash" and his daughter Catherine "doctor Oshaw's Booke ... containinge the Sume and Substance of Christian Religion". Smart married about 1635 to Dorcas Holbroke (d 1680) daughter of William Holbroke of Westham, Essex clerk by whom he had 4 sons and 5 daughters. Ithiel Smart M.A. (vicar of Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Leics) 1636-1692 was his first son. Nathaniel Smart M.A. (parochial curate of Ipswich St Nicholas, Suffolk) c1590-1633 an older brother was father of (Ithiel's nephews) Nathaniel Smart M.A. (compliant minister of Kimbolton, Hunts) 1618-1659 and Ezekiel Smart M.A. (compliant minister of Rede, Suffolk) 1620-1650 (as above). Smart's family coat of arms is said to have been "Argent on a chevron between three pheons sable a cinquefoil or" with a crest "A hawk's head between two wings argent in his beak a thistle proper".

Coll. in Cambridge, fucceeded him. . 1652. May 16, 1652, Mr. Ithiel Smart resigned up the vicarage of Womborne and Trefle; and removed to Ashby de la Zouch, in Leicestershire. The vicarage of Womborne and Trefle being void by the resignation of Mr. Ithiel Smart, Thomas Willeby, M. A. of Emanuel College, Cambridge, was prefented thereunto by Sir John Wollafton, knt. and alderman of the city of London, the patron of the faid place, May 18th, in the yeare 1652; and entered and tooke poffeflion of the said vicarige the 3d of June, 1652. Mr. Martin Johnfon, M. A. of Emanuel College in Cambridge, came as affiftant to the vicar of Womborne and Trefle, June 27, 1652. This yeare 1652, May 19, harveit was begun at Womborne and Swindon. Ockober 19, 1652, was a thankfgiving day, kept at Trefle upon the fettlement of a miniftry there; and at Womborne, upon the defire of the inhabitants of Trefle; Mr. Richard Baxter, of Kidderminfter, and Mr. Samuel Smith, of Kinver, prayed and preached. [Shaw (1801) p216-7]

(????) His first act was to sack the Parish Clerk, a role which required the holder “to be of honest conversation and sufficient for his reading, writing and also for his competent skill in singing… Ithiel Smart, possibly influenced by his time at Cambridge, replaced the fence around the churchyard at Wombourne, adding a gate to prevent animals entering; he added a rail to the chancel, around the communion table, now called an altar again, and had sentences – usually the Lord’s Prayer, Creed or Ten Commandments – painted on the walls. In 1639 he had the church porch gated, railed and bolted in order that “idle and impotent people might not lodge therein as in former times”. Smart’s last entry into the registers at Womborne was in May 1642, as the English Civil War began. [INTERNET, unsourced]

(1979) Preston Capes ... Robert Smart had powerful support from the Knightley family, patrons of the living, and he remained immune from harassment by the diocesan courts during the 158os. ... On 14 July 1591 he was ordered to observe the Book of Common Prayer in all points, but 17 months later was still refusing to wear the surplice. Again in 1595 and 1597 his disregard for the prescribed services was brought to the attention of the authorities. The following January he was presented again for not wearing the surplice, and for not using the sign of the cross in baptism or the ring at weddings. ... At the very beginning of James' reign [24 Mar 1602.3] Smart was suspended, having admitted that he "doth not use the cross in baptism, nor the ring in marriage, nor any of the ceremonies appointed by the Church of England set down in The Book of Common Prayer, nor the order of The Book of Common Prayer in such manner as is set down by authority"..... Not surprisingly, in 1605 the imposition of the Ecclesiastical Canons proved too much for Smart and, with a number of other puritans in the diocese, he was deprived. This did not terminate his ministry and he remained at Preston Capes with a small group of disciples, ... [W.J. Doubtless brother of Ithiel (1616-7), father of the next and Ezechiel (1635) and Daniel (1650). ... The first-named Rev. Nathaniel Smart, I presume, was the father of the one designated " junior." Later on one of these, and probably the latter, was, in 1655, chosen as the Perpetual Curate of St. Lawrence ; one of them also, and that most likely the elder, was, upon the death in 1639 of the notable Rev. Samuel Ward- whose portrait may now be seen in the Council Chamber at the Town Hall-appointed to succeed him as Town Preacher or Lecturer to the Corporation. (Vide Wodderspoon, pp. 360 and 374.) Concerning the Rev. Nathaniel Smart it is interesting to note that in the register book of St. Stephen's parish for 1626 it is recorded he "was maried unto Abigail Ward, Singlewoman, in St. Helline's prish. p. licentian J nuarie 10th." (Vide " E. A. Notes and Queries," Vol. 2, n.s., page 292.) Abraham Smith (presbyterian minister of Ellastone) c1633-....
Smith, born perhaps about 1633, is of unknown parentage. A man of his name studied at Oxford and on 8 May 1655 was a servitor at All Souls College and matriculated but is not known to have graduated. On 21 Apr 1657, as a “Student in Divinitie”, he applied to be ordained by the Derbyshire Wirksworth Classis and was asked to compose a thesis entitled “Utrum successio ministroru' sit ecclesiae verae essentialis?”. On 20 May 1657 he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by that classis. On 25 Apr 1659 after presentation by Richard Cromwell (Lord Protector) he was approved by the Commission (? for the approbation of public preachers) as presbyterian minister of Ellastone vicarage. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar and was still in office on 9 Sep but had been replaced by Jan 1661.2. On 13 Jul 1662 he was ordained deacon & priest by Lichfield and appointed stipendiary curate of Osmaston, Derbys where he was still in office on 8 Sep. On 31 Jan 1662.3 after presentation by Michael Honywood (dean of Lincoln) he was instituted as rector of Edlaston, Derbys where he was still in office on 14 Mar 1680.1 but had been replaced in office by 2 Aug 1692. No further record has been discovered. Smith married about 1659 to Elizabeth by whom he had 2 sons and 2 daughters.

Gabriel Smith B.A. (presbyterian minister of Talk-on-the-Hill) c1625-1664
Smith, born about 1625, was a son of Gabriel Smith of "Brook House", Audley yeoman c1592-1672 and Margery Kelsall daughter of William Kelsall (vicar of Audley) 1566-1649 QV. He studied at Cambridge where on 29 Jun 1646 he was admitted as a pensioner at Clare College and matriculated in 1647. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1649. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman before his marriage on 7 Jun 1650 when he is described "de Audeley cler." and was likely in office as presbyterian minister of Talk-on-the-Hill dependent parochial chapelry. By 21 Aug 1652 he was in office as presbyterian minister of Audlem vicarage, Cheshire. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar. On 10 Mar 1660.1 he was ordained deacon and priest by St Asaph pro York. Then on 16 Sep 1662 he was instituted by York (? pro Chester) as vicar of Audlem and on 30 Sep inducted by Richard Jackson. Still in office he died, aged about 39, and was buried here on 27 Feb 1663.4. His will was proved under Chester in 1664. Smith married on 7 Jun 1650 at Church Lawton, Cheshire to Elizabeth Sidway of Alsager, Cheshire by whom he had 4 sons and 2 daughters. Smith's father Gabriel was an executor of his son's will and inherited his library (valued at £2) which he bequeathed in his own will of 1672 "unto Abraham Smith my grandchild all that Librarie of bookes that was my sons". The grandson Abraham Smith (b c1653) studied at Cambridge but is not known to have graduated.

Audley (just across the border in Satffordshire), Smith lived for a long time in Barthomley working as a blacksmith and clockmaker before moving to Nantwich, where he lived for the rest of his life. The clock dates from around 1725-30. It's an eight-day clock, about 2m high with a walnut case and an arched brass dial plus a 'halfpenny' moon indication in the arch

John Smith B.A. (?presbyterian minister of Audley) c1615-....
Smith, born about 1615, was a son of William Smith of Audley. He studied at Oxford where on 27 Jun 1634 he was a "commoner" at Magdalen Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 19 Jan 1636.7. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 8 Jul 1646 when (? with a certificate of fitness from the Westminster assembly of divines) the Committee for plundered ministers appointed him ?presbyterian minister of Audley and granted him an augmentation of up to £50 (from the tithes) to his annual salary of £26/13/4. As minister he succeded William Kelsall 1566-1649 QV who the Committee ordered to be sequestered as a delinquent the same day together with his son John Kelsall 1604-1669 QV who was assistant minister. On 12 Dec 1646 the delinquent Randal Egerton of Betley esquire 1619-1681 settled £20 pa on Audley church. Smith was unable to gain access to the vicarage and on 23 Jun 1647 the Staffordshire parliamentary committee were instructed to assist him to enter. Smith then gained entry with the assistance of soldiers and probably of (? his father) William and (? brother) Richard who John Kelsall then prosecuted for assault. Apparently a committed presbyterian, Smith signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "John Smith Minister of Audley". Smith appears to have been replaced in office about Feb 1649.50.

(Another B.A. of this name was ordained priest by Bp Morton on 19 Sep 1629) On 8 Jul 1646 the committee for plundered ministers described him as a godly and orthodox divine and granted him this vicarage. He had a good deal of difficulty in obtaining possession of it, for articles of complaint were brought against him in Nov 1646, but no one appeared in support of them, so on 23 Jun 1647 the parliamentary comm. for Staffs, were instructed to assist him to enter the vicarage and obtain possession of the register books, rentals, etc (Add. MSS. 15670 p302; 15671 p61, 85, 86, 103, 121; BodlMS 324 p82) Meanwhile on 8 Jul 1646 he had been granted the Audley tithes up to £50 pa, which had been sequestered from Col. Ralph Egerton of Betley, delinquent, as this living was only worth about 40 marks [£26/13/4]. (SPDI F1 p90; BodlMS 323 p268) Many different orders were made upon Egerton, and on 1 Jul 1647 Smith complained that Egerton would not comply with this order. (Compounding p1521; Shaw, II p486) Smith signed the testimony in 1648. See Draycott-in-the-Moors. [1915 p20-1]
... also that William Kelsall sen., 'alwaies a verie unconscionable and contentious man', had begun at least 30 actions for tithes: also complaint of W. Smith & son Richard that J. K. prosecuted them for assault when soldiers put in J. Smith. [WALKER REVISED 325]

Smith, born about 1588, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 24 Jul 1606 he was admitted as a sizar at Emmanuel College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1609.10. On 22 Dec 1611 he was ordained deacon and on 7 Jun 1612 ordained priest (both) by York. On 8 Jun 1612 he was licensed as a preacher by York. He was a member of a local classis and, apparently a committed presbyterian, signed the Lancashire testimony of 1648. It is not known how long he served here. About Jun 1660 he may have been appointed de facto rector of Draycott-in-the-Moors. Here about Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. On 1 Jul 1662 after presentation by George Parker of "Park Hall", Weston Coyney in Caverswall esquire c1592-1675 and (his son and heir apparent) William Parker c1621-1703 he was instituted rector of Draycott-in-the-Moors. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £45. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax but was assessed on 3 hearths at Draycott-in-the-Moors constablewick. Smith was still in office on 23 Nov 1676 and likely died, perhaps aged about 89, in 1677. Smith may not have married.

Of a not altogether different type (despite his Toryism and his, fashionable scorn for "trade") was the other grandfather, Richard Smith, rector of Staveley, sometime Fellow and Dean of Trinity College, Cambridge. " He was," we are told, " a splendid man and was also a fine singer — could sing a good song at a Hunt Ball — a great fisherman, full of life and fun, and an excellent parson of the old style." He was chaplain to the Duke of Devonshire, and travelled with him in Belgium, France, and Russia. The children were much at Chatsworth, but Georgiana, we are assured, was not named after the famous Duchess. Richard Smith was dead when Georgiana married Henry Barnes. She was then living with her brother at the Old Brampton Parsonage, near Ashgate. The Parsonage has disappeared, but Lord Gorell notes the fact that there is still to be distinguished on a tree in the grounds of the present Parsonage his mother's maiden name cut by her when she was a child. The grandmother was a Londoner, Charlotte Hyde, a descendant of a brother of the great Lord Clarendon. Of her children, Courtney, as has been said, married Emily Barnes, and Richarda married George Biddell Airy (afterwards the Astronomer-Royal) on his appointment as astronomer at Cambridge. [JOHN GORELL BARNES FIRST LORD GORELL (1848-1913) A MEMOIR BY J. E. G. DE MONTMORENCY]

Samuel Smith (compliant minister of Kinver, Staffs) 1584-1665
Smith, born on 28 Feb 1583.4 and christened on 29 Feb 1583.4 at Dudley St Thomas and Dudley St Edmund, was the (?only) son of William Smith (vicar of Dudley St Edmund, Worcs) e1550-?1613 and Joan (Payton). He was educated at Oxford where on 1 Jul 1603 he was (? a battler) at St Mary Hall and matriculated but is not known to have graduated. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before 20 Jul 1614 when he was in office as parochial curate of Roxwell, Essex and published his first book Davids blessed man ... On 30 Nov 1615 after presentation by Robert Rich [1st Earl of Warwick] 1559-1619 he was instituted vicar of Prittlewell, Essex where a successor was instituted on 12 Apr 1625. Whilst at Prittlewell he wrote several books the last of which was The chief sheppard ... (1625). From 1625 until about 1630/1 no record of Smith has been discovered. (A man of his name was on 15 Sep 1626 after presentation by Jonas Grosvenor of Bushbury esquire c1554-1637 & Richard Lee clerk c1589-a1650 instituted vicar of Bushbury and replaced in office on 17 Sep 1631.). About 1630/1 Smith is said to have been a stipendiary curate at Clyro, Radnors and Clun, Salop and ?parochial curate of Cressage, Salop. He may be the man of his name who on 3 Apr 1632 was appointed a preacher at Smethcott, Salop and throughout the diocese of Lichfield. In ?Oct 1632 he published two books The admirable convert ... (dedicated to Sir Richard Greaves of Moseley, Worcs knight and his wife Ann) and The Ethiopian eunuchs conversion ... (dedicated to Richard Newport [1st Baron Newport of High Ercall] 1587-1651). Richard Baxter wrote that "At that time [about 1632] ... God was pleased much to comfort and settle me by the acquaintance of some Reverend peaceable Divines ... especially old Mr. Samuel Smith, sometime of Prittlewell in Esex, but then of Cressage in Shropshire ..." After civil war commenced in Aug 1642 Smith "did then, or the year following retire to London for shelter, sided with the Presbyterians and became a frequent Preacher among them". In 1647 he was was approved for one of the presbyteries to be set up in Shropshire. It is said that on 18 May 1648 he was appointed compliant minister of Cound rectory but it is unclear that he ever displaced James Cressett who was instituted rector here on three occasions - 19 Dec 1641, 6 Jun 1648 and 8 Jul 1662. However, apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Shropshire testimony of 1648 as "pastor of Cund". Probably soon after 26 Sep 1649 Smith was appointed compliant minister of Kinver parochial chapelry (where he may also have been master of Kinver Grammar School - as were his predecessor - ? and his successor). On 21 May 1652 the Committee for plundered ministers granted him an augmentation of £25 to his annual salary. On 19 Oct 1652 "was a thanksgiving day, kept at Tresle upon the settlement of a ministry there; and at Womborne, upon the desire of the inhabitants of Tresle; Mr. Richard Baxter, of Kidderminster, and Mr. Samuel Smith, of Kinver, prayed and preached". In 1654 as of Kinver he was a member of the Worcestershire Association. By Apr 1655 a successor was in office. Perhaps late in 1654 he was appointed compliant minister of Cressage parochial chapelry. He was an assistant commissioner for Shropshire on the Commission for the ejection of ignorant, scandalous, insufficient or negligent ministers and schoolmasters (formed on 28 Aug 1654). On 6 Oct 1656 the quakers held a meeting at Cressage when "the Servants of Samuel Smith the Parish-Priest, rudely came out, and making a great Noise ... endeavoured to drown the Voice of him that prayed: And being asked, Why they did so ? The Priest's Man answered, He that set us to do it, will bear us out. ... The Priest, who excited these Disorders, did not then appear, but soon after applied to the Justices, and obtained a Warrant to bring before them ...". At Cressage Smith probably resigned about 1660. In 1661 he was living in his birthplace Dudley and paid a clerical subsidy. Smith's last book A looking-glass for saints and sinners was published in 1663. Here Smith died, aged 81, and was buried on 17 Mar 1664.5 in the chancel at Dudley St Thomas. An inscribed monument was placed nearby. His will made on 31 Jan 1664.5 was proved under PCC on 16 Jun 1665. Smith may not have married. In Dudley St Edmund parish register are the "armorial bearings" of Samuel's father William said to be drawn in 1599. At Samuel's christening the register contains an elaborate note which is said to read "Samuell, son of Sir William Smithe Clarke, vicare of Duddly, was born on Friday morninge, at 4 of the clocke, being the xxviij. day of February, the signe of that day was the middle of Aquarius ●; the signe of the monthe ●; the plenet of that day ●; plenet of the same owre ● ; and the morrow day ... was baptized. Several of Smith's books were published in many editions after his death.

(1820) SAMUEL SMITH, A NATIVE of this county, was born at or near Dudley in 1588, and was of his time one of the most popular writers of pious tracts, whose works are still in vogue. He was the son of a clergyman, and studied for some time at St. Mary's Hall, Oxford, but left the University without taking a degree, and became beneficed at Prittlewell in Essex, and afterwards, as Wood says, in his own county; but, according to Calamy, he had the perpetual curacy of Cressedge and Cound in Shropshire. On the breaking out of the Rebellion he came to London, sided with the Presbyterians, and became a frequent and popular preacher. On his return to the country he was appointed an Assistant to the Commissioners for the ejection of those they were pleased to term "scandalous and ignorant ministers and school-masters." At the Restoration he was ejected from Cressedge, but neither Wood nor Calamy have ascertained when he died .- The former says "he was living, an aged man, near Dudley, in 1663." His works are-1. David's blessed Man; or a short Exposition upon the first Psalm; Lond. 8vo. of which the 15th ed. in 12mo. was printed in 1686. 2. The great Assize, or the Day of Jubilee, 12mo. which, before 1684, went through 31 editions, and was often reprinted in the last century. 3. A Fold for Christ's Sheep; printed 32 times. 4. The Christian's Guide; of which there were numerous editions. He published some other tracts and sermons, which also had a very numerous class of readers. [John Chambers Biographical illustrations of Worcestershire ... (1820) p115-6]
(1863) Samuel Smith, the son of a minister, was born at or near Dudley, co. Worcester, in 1588; studied at St. Mary Hall, Oxford; became vicar of Prittlewell, Essex, and afterwards Perpetual Curate of Cressedge and Cound, Shropshire, whence he was ejected for nonconformity in 1662. Wood says he "was living an aged man near Dudley in 1663." He appears to have been one of the most popular writers in divinity in his day, as the forty-seventh edition of his Great Assize was published in

1757, and David's Repentance, first published we believe in 1618, is said by Calamy to have been printed forty times. Of the latter work there was a trick of trade played off upon the public about the year 1765 by a book-seller at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, who published another work with the same title and name as the thirty-first edition. Vide Wood's Athena by Bliss, iii. 656, and Calamy's Nonconformists' Memorial, edit. 1803, ili. 144.] [Notes & Queries 3rd Series (19 Dec 1863) p501]
(?1900) [DNB] SMITH, SAMUEL (1584-1662?), ejected divine, born near Dudley about 1584, was the son of a olergyman. In tho beginning of 1603 he entered St. Mary Hall, Oxford, as a batler, butleft the university without a degree. He was presented to the living of Prittlewell in Essex on 30 Nov. 1615 by Robert, lord Rich [see under RIOH, PENBLOPE, LADY RIOH]. On the outbreak of the civil war Smith retired to London for safaty, and identified himself with the presbyterians. He became famed as a preacher, and in 1648 received from parliament the perpetual curacy of Cound and Cressage in Shropshire, on the death of Richard Wood, the rector, sequestered for delinquency (Hist. MSS. Comm. 7th Rep. i. 26 a). On his settlement in the county he was appointed an assistant to the commis- sion for the ejection of 'scandalous and ignorant ministers and schoolmasters.' In 1654 he was temporarily appointed to preach in Hereford Minster and the adjacent country, in place of Richard Delamain (Cal. State Papers, Dom, 1654, p. 224). On the Restoration he was ejected from his living at Cound. The date of his death is un- certain. Wood says that he was living in 1668, but if he be identical with Samuel Smith of Sandon in Essex, as Calamy be- lieves, he was buried on 2 April 1662 (Obi- tuary of Richard inyth, ed. Ellie, p. 56). Besides many separate sermons, Smith published: 1. David's Repentance, or a plain and familiar exposition of the Fifty- first Paalm,' London, 1618, 12mo, which went through many editions. About 1765 a so-called thirty-first edition was printed at Newcastle-on-Tyne, which bears no resem- blance to the original work. 2. 'Joseph and his Mistress: five Sermons,' London, 1619, 8vo. 3. 'Christ's Last Supper, or the Doctrine of the Sacrament: five Sermons,' London, 1620,8vo. 4. 'The Great Assize; or the E. I. C. Day of Jubilee,' London, 1628 (4thed.); 1642, 12mo; 47th ed. 1757, 12mo. 5. 'The Ethiopian Eunuch's Conversion, the sum of Thirty Sermons,' London, 1632, 8vo. 6. 'David's Blessed Man: a short exposition of the First Psalm,' London, 1635, 8vo; several editions. 7. 'Malice Stript and Whipt,' an attack on the Quakers, which called forth in answer 'Innocency cleared from Lyes, in Reply to " Malice Stript and Whipt,"' by I. B., Lon- don, 1658, 4to, and as a counter rejoinder, Innocents no Saints, or a Pair of Spectacles for a dark-sighted Quaker,' London, 1658, 4to. 8 'A Fold for Christ's Sheep,' 32nd ed. London, 1684, 8vo. Wood says he had seen many editions of Smith's ' Christian's Guide, with Rules and Directions for a Holy Life.' [Wood's Athena Oxon, ed. Baxter wrote, 'at that time [c. 1632, when he was not yet 18] God was pleased much to comfort and settle me by the acquaintance of some Reverend peaceable Divines . . . especially old Mr. Samuel Smith, sometime of Prittlewell in Essex, but then of Cressage in Shropshire' (R.B. i. 9). Samuel Smith (vicar of Penn) e1612-....
Smith, born perhaps about 1612, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before 1637 when he was a stipendiary curate at Sutton Coldfield, Warwicks. By about May 1641 he was in office as vicar of Penn. In Feb 1643.4 he may have refused to sign the Solemn league and covenant and may have resigned or been ejected. A successor was in office on 30 Mar 1644. Smith married perhaps about 1636 to Elizabeth by whom he had 2 sons and 2 daughters. No further record (of him or his family) has been discovered.

On 16 Dec 1646 the committee for plundered ministers reported that Samuel Smith, vicar of Penn, hath left or relinquished the said church. (Bodl MS 324 p177) On 8 Apr 1647 Sarah the wife of Christopher Lee, from whom the vicarage of Penn is sequestered, begs this committee to let her have the full clear fifths of the living for her maintenance. (Bodl MS 324 p425) The writer cannot reconcile these statements, but it seems more probable that Smith was the correct name of the vicar and ~~that he afterwards went to be minister at Kinver~~ QV. Samuel Smith (? parochial Curate of Bloxwich) 1620-1698
Smith, born on 19 Dec 1620 in London, was a son of John Smith of London "gentleman" or George Smith of London grocer. He was educated at London Merchant Taylors School where he was admitted in 1632, served as head monitor, and left in 1638. He studied at Oxford where on 13 Jul 1638 he was a scholar at St John's College (having been elected by his school) and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 28 Apr 1642 (created M.A., 18 Jul 1655). Probably about May 1642 he was ordained deacon. On 14 May 1642 he was appointed by St John's College, Oxford as (? parochial curate of Bloxwich and thus) master of Bloxwich endowed school. In 1643 he had leave of absence and is not known to have returned. During the civil war he took the parliamentary side, accepted the Solemn league and covenant and preached in Essex. For a few years before 1654 (when he married) he was a fellow at St John's College and was created M.A. on 18 Jul 1655. On 24 Dec 1655 he was admitted compliant minister of London St Benet Gracechurch rectory and in Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Later he must have subscribed for on 15 Jun 1676 he was appointed chaplain (or ordinary) of London Newgate prison. By early 1686 he was living in London St Giles Cripplegate. Still in office at Newgate he died "seemingly of a quinsy", aged 78, on 24 Aug 1698 and was buried on 28 Aug at St Giles Cripplegate. His will made on 12 Mar 1697.8 was proved under PCC on 15 Sep 1698. In his will he bequeathed his sons Samuel and George "my whole Study of Books and all my Manuscripts". Smith married first on 2 May 1654 at London to Elizabeth Lawrence dau of Matthew Lawrence (preacher at Ipswich) 1596-c1652 by whom he had 1 son. He married second about 1664 to Susanna by whom he had 3 sons and 1 daughter. Lawrence Smith D.C.L. (rector of South Warnborough, Hants) 1656-1728 was his 1st son, Samuel Smith B.D. (rector of Crick, Northants) 1665-1719 was his 2nd son and George Smith M.A. (vicar of Higham, Kent) ?1678-?1752 was his 4th son. Smith was the author of The character of a weaned christian ... (1675) and of The ordinary of Newgate's account (1676-1698). The account was a serial publication regarding the confessions, behaviour and last speeches of the condemned in Newgate Prison.

[INTERNET] The Ordinary of Newgate's Account was a sister publication of the Old Bailey's Proceedings, regularly published from 1676 to 1772 and containing biographies and last dying speeches of the prisoners executed at Tyburn during that period. The Accounts were written by the chaplain (or "Ordinary") of Newgate Prison, recounting the statements made by the condemned during confession. Over 400 editions were published, containing biographies of some 2,500 executed criminals. The Ordinary of Newgate was the Newgate Prison chaplain. He was always a clergyman of the Established Church and was appointed by the Court of Aldermen of the City of London. The Court often issued orders to better define the Ordinary's duties, due to his neglect or absence. The Ordinary read prayers, preached and instructed the prisoners, but his most important duty was to attend upon those condemned to die: he made special arrangements to give them the sacrament, delivered to them and those who paid for seats the condemned sermon in the prison chapel, rode with them to Tyburn, and led the condemned and the crowd in the singing of hymns on the hanging site.... List of Ordinaries from 1676 to 1799 ... Hereunder is a list of the Ordinaries who regularly published the Accounts during the 17th and 18th centuries. Samuel Smith, Ordinary from 15 June 1676 until 24 August 1698. He is the first Ordinary to publish regular accounts of confessions, behaviour and last speeches of the condemned in Newgate Prison. His son officiated between Smith's death and the appointment of his successor. John Allen, Ordinary from 10 October 1698 until 30 May 1699.

William Smith (?presbyterian minister of Farewell) e1617-....
Smith, born perhaps about 1617, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 10 Nov 1647 when he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Farewell and the Committee for plundered ministers granted him an augmentation of £46 to his annual salary of £5/6/8. In Oct 1652 the augmentation was increased to £50. In 1659 he is mentioned as the "late incumbent". No further record has been discovered.

Joseph Sonde B.A. (compliant minister of Swynnerton) ?1598-1672 G38

Sonde, (? christened on 10 Dec 1598 at Worfield), was probably a son of Richard Sonde of "The Sonde" in Worfield, Salop husbandman c1568-1636 and Frances. He studied at Cambridge where on 12 Feb 1618.9 he was admitted as a sizar at Peterhouse and matriculated that year. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1622.3. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 10 May 1633 when after presentation by Herbert Jenks of Newhall, Salop esquire he was instituted vicar of Eaton under Heywood, Salop. Here he had resigned before 27 Oct 1643 when a successor John Jenks was instituted. On 30 Sep 1644 he was appointed as an army chaplain by the Staffordshire parliamentary committee who ordered that "Mr. Sound shalbe Chaplayne to the Governors Regiment and performe duty dayly upon the guard and for his service therein he shall have £37 per annum the said summe beinge rent due for the Prebend of Gnosall which Walter Chetwynd Esq. payeth ...". By 1647 he was compliant minister of Shifnal vicarage, Salop when as "Mr Joseph Sound of Shuffnall" he was one of the "Ministers fit to bee of the Third Classis [of Shropshire]". Whilst here he was "plundered by Royalists". Thomas Pickin c1613-?1653 had been minister at Swynnerton since 3 Sep 1645 but on 24 Jul 1647 the Committee for plundered ministers investigated - and apparently dismissed - a claim by Sonde that he had been appointed here as compliant minister or "settled into this rectory". Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Joseph Sounde Minister of Gods Word". He is the only signatory not to state his residence and may then not have been in office. About Mar 1648.9 he was appointed by Newcastle corporation compliant minister of Newcastle independent parochial chapelry. On 28 Aug 1649 their record reads " It is agreed that the rent of £20 yearely payable to the Towne for tole corne by Stephen Hales and also the Towne rent shall from Michaelmas next be disposed of towards payment of the yearely some agreed uppon to be payd to Mr Soond, the minister, the rest to be paid by such of the tith hay and small tythes and what is wanting in that to be collected by way of benevolence amongst the Inhabitants of this Burroughe: untill an augmentation be procured." Later the Trustees (? for maintenance) granted him an augmentation of £64 (£50 and £14) to his annual salary of £14 which was confirmed by the Committee for the universities and paid to him from 6 Jan 1649.50 till 1654. Later in 1657 and 1658 Sonde was a defendant in chancery proceedings taken by the Newcastle authorities regarding money matters. On 24 Apr 1654 after presentation by Oliver Cromwell (Lord Protector) he was admitted compliant minister of Swynnerton rectory (in succession to Pickin, above). Whilst here he frequently certified the fitness of candidates for the ministry. On 28 Aug 1654 he was "as of Newcastle"appointed an Assistant Commissioner for the ejection of scandalous ministers in Staffordshire. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector of Swynnerton. At the Stafford Assizes of 17 Aug 1660 (?1661) he was indicted for refusing to read the "book containing the proclamation". It is unclear which book this was but he appears to have denied the charge and was bound in £20 on 21 Jul 1662. At Swynnerton he did not pay the £1/5/0 subsidy in Jan 1661.2 and on 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. In 1665 he was living at Newcastle where he was assessed on 6 hearths. Sonde died, aged about 74, probably at Newcastle, but was buried on 6 Feb 1671.2 at Church Lawton, Cheshire. He married perhaps about 1650 to Susanna (d 1677) (no known children). In 1673 Susanna's house at Newcastle was licensed as a presbyterian meeting-place. In her will written on 25 Jul 1677 she bequeathed "Mr Thomas Leadbeater Mr Raphe Hall and Mr Samuel Campion ministers twenty shillings apiece". They were Thomas Leadbeater (presbyterian minister of Hinckley, Leics) 1628-1679; Ralph Hall (presbyterian minister of Newcastle) c1605-.... QV and Samuel Campion (minister of Hodnet, Salop c1612-1678. In 1702 Calamy records of Sonde that he was "An Ancient Divine, of great Learning, Moderation, Judgment, and Calmness of Spirit, and of a Godly upright Life." Sonde was involved in disputes at Swynnerton in 1647, at Newcastle in 1657/8 and at Stafford in 1660/1 and may have had a contentious nature. Richard Sonde c1568-1636 (probably Joseph's father) mentions several of his children in his will but not Joseph perhaps on account of a family disagreement. Joseph was the brother of George Sonde of "The Sonde" in Worfield, Salop husbandman ?1605-1684 and if not Richard's son was likely a close kinsman.

CURATES DURING THE COMMONWEALTH On 2nd July 1647 the Corporation chose Mr Zechariah Crofton to be the minister of the borough & it was agreed to pay him 60 yearly quarterly besides allowing him the use of a house rent free taken from Mr Fernihough He did not stay long for he was at Dilhorne early in 1649 and when he was in London in 1653 he was certified by Joseph Sond the minister and Richard Orme the schoolmaster of Newcastle to be well known for his integrity to the parliament He was subsequently imprisoned in the Tower for maintaining that the Solemn League and Covenant was still binding on the English nation and he died in 1672 On 28th August 1649 when Mr Joseph Sond was appointed the borough minister it is interesting to note how his stipend was raised The sum of 20 yearly from the toll corn and the town rent also the tithe hay and the small tithes and whatever was wanting was to be collected by way of benevolence among the inhabitants of the borough until an augmentation could be procured Joseph Sond had been at Swynnerton in 1647 but had no cure in 1648 There is a long note in the records about Mr Sond in June 1654 He had been up in London petitioning to become the parson at Swynnerton & the Corporation of Newcastle wanted to know if he were going to stay or not In the same year Mr Sond went to Swynnerton On 14th November 1654 Mr Ralph Hall became the Newcastle minister When Randall Silletoe was elected to serve the office of clerk within the borough and also to be Register he was appointed by the Corporation and Mr Hall This minister left Newcastle soon after the following record appeared in the borough minutes 20 July 1659 That it is propounded to this Companie that they should declare their minds whether Mr Hall might be fit to do God and this place service by reason of his actings It is agreed that he is not fit by reason he hath made himself incapable of doing good in this place either to God or the Town There is no mention in the records of the appointment of George Long as the next curate but he paid subsidy of 10s in January 1661 and was ejected in 1662 THE LATER MINISTERS On 23 October 1662 Mr Rippon was offered the appointment but he would not accept nor would Mr Porter in April 1663 so Mr Thomas Oulton was appointed in 1663 His name occurs as the minister of Newcastle right on to 1692 and yet for a short period Mr Sherratt served the cure In 1685 the church clerk was to be allowed a gown at the town's charge at Mr Sherratt's discretion Also in June 1687 it was ordered that a sum of 15 should be paid to Mr Sherratt if within a fortnight be quitted his claim as minister to the town & satisfied Mr Orme for supplying the cure in his absence It is significant that when Edward Orme who had been the borough schoolmaster from 1654 to 1668 died his burial entry is thus recorded in the parish church register Mr Edward Orme curate buried February 28th 1705 I think he was an assistant to the Rev Egerton Harding for after Edward Orme's death the rector of Stoke recommended Mr Totty as the curate [Newcastle Printed Parish Register Part I (1931) p iv]

Edward Southall (parochial curate of Weston-upon-Trent) 1636-1674 H114
Southall, christened on 2 Feb 1635.6 at Albrighton, was second son of John Southall of "Beamish Hall", Albrighton, Salop "gentleman" 1604-... and Dorothy (Deane alias Wood). He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was schoolmaster of Church Eaton Grammar School when he subscribed to the Act of uniformity (as a schoolmaster) on 12 Aug 1662. In Dec 1662 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield and was then in office, jointly, as parochial curate of Castle Church and Coppenhall. (By Sep 1664 he had been succeded at Church Eaton, Castle Church and Coppenhall by John Sherratt c1640-1675 QV). In Dec 1663 he was ordained priest and licensed as a preacher (both) by Lichfield. On 21 Dec 1663 he was appointed a stipendiary curate at Longford, Salop and was still in office on 21 Jul 1665. Perhaps in autumn 1665 after probable presentation by Walter Fowler of St Thomas (by Stafford) esquire 1620-1684 he was licensed parochial curate of Weston-upon-Trent. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Weston-upon-Trent constablewick and was not assessed there. About 25 Mar 1666 he signed the parish register as "vicar". He resigned at Weston-upon-Trent before 8 Jun 1670 when after presentation by Thomas Talbot of Longford, Salop gentleman c1649-.... he was instituted rector of Longford, Salop. Still in office he died, aged 38, and was buried there on 22 May 1674. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 17 Sep 1674. His personalty was valued at £19/19/2 and included " his books 16/6". Southall married about 1671 to Elizabeth by whom he had 1 son. John Southall (parochial curate of Patshull) 1634-1677 QV was his older brother. Thomas Southall B.A. (presbyterian minister of Codsall) 1608-.... and William Southall (vicar of Pattingham) 1611-1677 QV were his uncles. Edward Southall was succeded at Longford by his uncle William.

He was only educated to literate grade. In Sep 1663 he was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield. On 28 Sep 1663 after presentation by (the lord of the manor) Sir Richard Astley of Patshull 1st Baronet c1625-1688 he is said to have been instituted "vicar of Patshull". Probably on that date he was licensed parochial curate of Patshull. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Patshull constablewick and was not assessed there. Still in office he died, aged 43, and was buried - styled vicar of Patshill - on 19 Mar 1676.7 at Albrighton. Southall may not have married. Edward Southall (parochial curate of Weston-

He studied at Oxford where on 23 May 1628 he matriculated from Pembroke College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 4 Feb 1631.2. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 18 Sep 1645 when he was appointed by the Committee for plundered ministers ?presbyterian minister of Shorne, Kent. Whilst at Shorne he supplied information regarding royalist garrisons in Staffordshire for an affidavit made in favour of (the royalist) Sir Walter Wrottesley of Wrottesley in Tettenhall, Staffs 1st Baronet 1606-1659. On 19 Oct 1647 he was ordered to show why he did not serve the cure at Thorne. By 1650 he was probably in office as ?presbyterian minister of Codsall independent parochial chapelry with a salary of £5 pa and was in office in 1651.2. No further record has been discovered. William Southall (vicar of Pattingham) 1611-1677 was a younger brother. (28 Nov 1645) In an affidavit made in favour of Sir Walter Wrottesley [Sir Walter Wrottesley of Wrottesley in Tettenhall, Staffs 1st Baronet 1606-1659] by Thomas Southall, minister of Shorne, near Gravesend, at the time when the former compounded for his estates, Southall stated that the Royalists had garrisons at Chillington, Brewood Church, Lapley Hall, Lichfield, Rushall Hall, at Wolverhampton, sometimes at the Church and Crosse, and sometimes at Leaveson's Hall, Dudley Castle, Patesley (Patshull) Hall, Linsill Manor and Tong Castle. (1915) 6 Southall. Probably son of William Southall of Albrighton, Salop, and brother of the vicar of Pattingham. If so, B.A. 1632 Pembroke College, Oxford perhaps had been granted the vicarage of Shorne, Kent, in 1645 by the committee for plundered ministers (Foster). On 27 Jul 1646 the same committee granted to an unnamed minister here £50 out of the impropriate rectory of Tettenhall, sequestered from Richard Creswell, delinquent, as his salary was but £20 pa. On 21 Nov 1646 this order was cancelled and £40 pa ordered to be paid from the tithes of Wheaton Aston and Lapley, sequestered from Thomas Peters papist and delinquent. On 27 Mar 1648 this order was again altered to £50 pa out of Tettenhall rectory as before, as the parishioners complained that the Wheaton Aston tithes were being paid to the Lapley minister. (SPDI F 1 p257; F 2 p240; BodlMS 323 p268, 243, and 325, p220). Apparently this last order was cancelled 3 Feb 1648.9. William Southall (vicar of Pattingham) 1611-1677 H116
Southall, christened on 8 Sep 1611 at Albrighton, was 3rd son of William Southall of "Beamish Hall", Albrighton, Salop "gentleman" 1566-.... and Joan Chapman dau of John Chapman of Donington, Salop clerk. He studied at Oxford where on 25 Nov 1631 he was a student at Pembroke College and matriculated but is not known to have graduated. He was presumably ordained deacon and on 22 Feb 1635 ordained priest by Lichfield. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. He may have been in office as compliant minister of Pattingham vicarage on 26 Nov 1646 when the Committee for plundered ministers granted (the minister here) an augmentation of £50 to his annual salary of £20. He was certainly in office in 1647. About 1647 he was in office as compliant minister of Pattingham vicarage. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto vicar and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 21 Aug 1662. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Pattingham constablewick and was assessed on 3 hearths. On 6 Jul 1674 after presentation by Thomas Talbot of Longford, Salop gentleman c1649-.... he was, plurally, instituted rector of Longford, Salop and inducted the next day. Still in office at Pattingham and Longford he died, aged 66, and was buried on 8 May 1677 at Pattingham. Southall married first on 23 Nov 1639 at Kinver to Eleanor Dickens (d 1657) by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. He married second on 6 Jan 1659.60 at Pattingham to Alice Fowke (no known children). Southall, born perhaps about 1628, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade.

He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 10 May 1658 when after presentation by Oliver Cromwell (Lord Protector) he was appointed presbyterian minister of Bednall independent parochial chapelry. On 4 Mar 1658.9 he was ?approved by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister of Baswich independent parochial chapelry and was in office in Nov 1659. It is likely that in Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto parochial curate but on 24 Aug 1662 did not subscribe to The act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Southall may not have married. No further record has been discovered. [NB: William Southall (vicar of Pattingham) 1611-1677 was a contemporary clergyman.]

John Southwell, dissenting minister of the Presbyterian denomination, but never the pastor of any congregation, and who kept a boarding-school. At the age of 17, on his father's being presented, by the company of Merchant Tailors, to the grammar-school of Wolverhampton, in 1739, he engaged as usher in the school of the late Rev. Dr. Newcome, of Hackney. In 1749, through the interest of Chancellor Hardwicke, he was chosen master of the grammar-school of Stafford, the duties of which office he performed, with ability and conscientious punctuality, for 33 years, resigning it in 1782. He kept a boarding-school for many years. In 1762 he married Anne, the third and youngest daughter of the late Mr. Isaac Allen, of Stafford, who, after 35 years of uninterrupted happiness, may repeat over his tomb, with the strictest truth, the words of Helen weeping over the body of Hector, "Yet was it ne'er my fate from thee to find A deed ungentle, or a word unkind." Homer, II. st. 767, improved by Pape, XXIV. 969. He was strictly attentive to the morals and health of those who were entrusted to his care, many of whom, of high rank, were, in future life, felicitous to pay attention to him; but, though he entertained great respect for the nobility and gentry, he rather shunned the society of persons of superior rank, fearful lest such intercourse might break, in upon his peaceful and happy independence. He was a correct and elegant scholar, and an admirer of the antients, and the English poets of the Italian school; but the authors he was fondest of, during the latter half of his life, were the moralists and divines of our own country. Jortin was his greatest favourite. He approved of religious establishments; but, though offered preferment in the Church of England, of which he became a communicant, he, like his father, declined accepting a cure of souls. He was an uniform supporter of the measures of Government during the administrations of Walpole, Pelham (the honestest minister, he said, we ever had), Lord North, and Mr. Pitt, and always paid taxes with the utmost chearfulness; but he lamented the war with Spain into which the first of those ministers was driven by the London merchants, and that with our late American colonies. He was ever alive to the general interests of Humanity, and was most assiduous inspector of the Stafford infirmary. In the latter part of his life he systematically cultivated chearfulness as a duty; and was peculiarly indulgent to youth. He was polite, benevolent, tenderhearted, affectionate, most strictly just, forgiving of injuries, patient under bodily sufferings, pious, resigned; and, in his last illness, he seemed solely solicitous to soften the sufferings of those who were witnesses to his departure. His remains, which, even after his death, were characteristic of the sweetness and serenity of his mind, were deposited in the South aile of St Mary's church, by the side of those of "William Malpas, gen. chiefe schoolm'r of this borough, who departed this life 6, March, an. 1669," and who was great uncle to his widow. His father married Mary Nibbs, by whom he had also a daughter, who married the late Mr. Marshall, banker, in Wolverhampton, and died, of a dropsy, in 1783, most sincerely regretted by all who knew her. His grandfather, the Rev. John Southwell, educated under Mr. Woodhouse, at the dissenting-academy at Sheriff-Hales, in Shropshire, was successively chaplain to Philip Foley, esq. of Prestwood, assistant to Mr. Woodhouse, master of an academy at Kidderminster, which he removed to Dudley, and thence to Newbury, Berks; and died of a consumption about the year 1694, aged about 32. His paternal greatgrandfather, of Wombourn, co. Stafford, farmer, served in the parliament-army, and had two brothers, who were ejected ministers; one of whom, Mr. Richard Southwell, is mentioned, in Calamy, abridged by Palmer, II. 390, as minister of Baswick chapel, near Stafford. Ambrose Sparry M.A. (presbyterian minister of Wolverhampton) 1613-1679
Sparry, born in Stourbridge (in Old Swinford) and christened on 28 Feb 1612.3 at Old Swinford, was a son of John Sparry of Old Swinford, Worcs. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1631 he was a pensioner at Clare College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1633.4 (M.A., 1637). Although not known to have been ordained Sparry is said to have been a schoolmaster at Stourbridge for a period before 1648. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 20 Jul 1648 when - described as "A godly and orthodox divine" - he was appointed by the C*ommittee for plundered ministers* presbyterian minister of Wolverhampton ?vicarage with a salary of £100. On 16 Jun 1652 Richard Clayton ?1595-1669 QV was appointed compliant assistant minister of Wolverhampton. On 30 Sep 1653 Sparry was appointed parish register. In April 1654 the two ministers Sparry and Clayton state that of the large revenues formerly belonging to the church there was not an annual income of £30 remaining. They "humbly represent, that the state of this miserable Towne is so much the more sad in regard it swarmes with Papists (and thence is by many stiled little Rome) ..." On 10 May 1654 the Trustees for maintenance reported that Sparry needed assistance "because the parish was very large and contained several chapelries for the maintenance of which no provision had been made up to this time". Sparry frequently certified the fitness of candidates for the ministry. He likely resigned before 6 Nov 1657 when he was admitted presbyterian minister of Martley rectory, Worcs and compounded in May 1658. In Jun 1660 he likely continued in office as de facto rector but a successor was instituted on 17 Oct 1660. In November 1661 a complicated scheme was developed - later known as Baxter's Plot - which intended to implicate minsters and gentlemen in plots against the Crown and government. In Worcestershire several letters were pretended to be found in a hedge addressed to Captain Andrew Yarranton [engineer and agriculturist 1619-1684 ODNB] . One letter was from Richard Baxter "intimating that he had provided a considerable Body of Men, well arm'd, which should be in readiness against the time appointed" and another was from Sparry "intimating, that he had order'd him £500 which was lodg'd in a Friends hand". These letters and others were later shown to be forgeries. However Sir John Pakington sent Sparry, Yarranton, Henry Oasland (presbyterian minister of Bewdley, Worcs) 1625-1703 and many others to prison. Sparry had difficulty obtaining his release. In later years Sparry was again a schoolmaster at Stourbridge. Sparry died aged 66 and was buried on 27 Dec 1679 at Old Swinford. His will made on 19 Dec 1679 was proved under Worcester on 7 Jul 1680. Sparry married on 17 Feb 1652.3 at Penkridge to Jane (d 1672) (widow of ----- Wilson) by whom he had 3 sons and ?2 daughters. His oldest son was Ambrose Sparry M.A.

(canon of Hereford) 1655-1710. His sister Elizabeth was the wife of John Nott M.A. (presbyterian minister of Sheriff Hales) 1625-1702 QV. Calamy records in 1702 that Sparry was "a Sober Learned Minister that had never own'd the Parliaments Cause or Wars, and was in his Judgment for Moderate Episcopacy" and "A sober, peaceable, moderate, humble, godly, judicious Man. His great Prudence, Moderation and Learning, and the chief of Stourbridge being his Friends, caus'd the Chancellor to connive at his keeping School there again, after his Ejectment ..."

(17 Feb 1652.3, Penkridge) Mr Ambrose Sparry, minister of Wolverhampton & Jane Wilsen, widdow of Stafford)
(30 Sep 1653) The second volume of our register commences September 30th, 1653, with the following entry: "Whereas Ambrose Sparry Clearke is publiquely elected and chosen to be the parrishe Register for the p'ishe of Wolverhampton, to Register all Marriages solemnized, as also all Births and Burialls; and hath taken his oath to doe the same accordinge to the late Act in that case sett forth and p'vided. In Testimonie whereof I have hereunto put my hand, GEO. BRYNDLEY." [Oliver (1836) p131]
In April 1654 the two ministers Sparry & Cleyton (in petitioning for a continuance of their income out of the estates, no longer sequestered, of the lessee of the church lands) state that of the large revenues formerly belonging to the church there was not an annual income of £30 remaining. They "humbly represent, that the state of this miserable Towne is so much the more sad in regard it swarmes with Papists (and thence is by many stiled little Rome) there being besides many of inferior ranke, above 20 families of Recusants of the ranke of the Gentry by whom many are drawne to Popery; and some of them were so turbulent the last Summer and guiltie of such high Ryots that could not be suppressed by the Justices at their monthly meeting or a smaller partie of souldiers without further assistance from a whole Troop of horse." {fn25} The churchwardens presented a similar report in 1656. {fn26} [1915 p327]
1655.6: 83. Petition of the well-affected inhabitants of Wolverhampton, co. Stafford, to the Protector. Theirs is a market town, and the largest in the county, and was'heretofore collegiate, and had a dean and 7 prebends ; the parish has 4,000 communicants and 3 chapels, one 5 miles from the town. On the dissolution of the Dean and Chapter, the Committee for Plundered Ministers granted 100l. a year to the minister from Col. Levison's sequestration, and 50l. to the assistant, who also had 26l. formerly belonging to the sexton; Levison being dead, the sequestration is taken off, the estate coming to his heir and widow, and there is no maintenance for the ministers. The town swarms with Papists; 20 gentry families being recusants draw many to Popery, and last summer they made such high riots that a whole troop of horse was required to settle them. The only church property left in the county is tithes, fee farm rents, and some cottages, &c., total value 1447. 28. 6d., less by 31l. 17s. 6d. than formerly allowed. Beg a grant thereof to their minister, Ambrose Sparry, and his assistant, Rich. Cleyton, who have been very useful to them. Signed by John Granger and Thos. Gibbons, church wardens, and 11 others. With reference thereon to Council, 10 May 1654. [1 page; also I. 92, No. 157.] Annexing, (1702) Many Worthy Ministers, and sober Gentlemen and others, were imprison'd in Divers Counties throughout the Land, under pretence of Plotting, in the latter part of this Year. In November [1661], one Mr. Ambrose Sparry (a Sober Learned Minister that had never own'd the Parliaments Cause or Wars, and was in his Judgment for Moderate Episcopacy) had a wicked Neighbour whom he reprov'd, for Adultery, who bearing him a Grudge, tho't he had now a time to be reveng'd. He (or his Confederates for him) fram'd a Letter, as from a Nameless Person, directed to Mr. Sparry, That he and Captain Yarrington should be ready with Money and Arms at the time appointed, and that they should acquaint Mr. Osland and Mr. Baxter with it. This Letter he pretended a Man left behind him under a Hedge, who sat down and pull'd out many Letters, and put all up again except this, and went away. He carry'd the Letter to Sir John Packington (who was one that hotly follow'd such Work) who sent Mr. Sparry, Mr. Osland, and Capt. Yarrington to Prison. Mr. Osland was suppos'd therefore to have bin bro't in, because he had offended Sir Ralph Clare, in being against his Election as Burgess in Parliament for the Town of Bewdley, where he liv'd. Many upon this Occasion, especially Mr. Sparry, lay long in Prison: And when the Forgery and Injury was detected, they had much difficulty in obtaining a Release. Tho' Mr. Baxter was nam'd there, yet he was then in London, and had bin so for some time, by which he escap'd; And yet where Men were taken up and Imprison'd in distant Counties, it was said to be for Baxter's Plot. [Calamy (1702) p177-80] (1702) Martly: Mr. Ambrose Sparry, who before he fix'd in this Place was Schoolmaster of Stourbridge. A sober, peaceable, moderate, humble, godly, judicious Man. His great Prudence, Moderation and Learning, and the chief of Stourbridge being his Friends, caus'd the Chancellor to connive at his keeping School there again, after his Ejectment: Tho' he was a while maliciously laid in Goal. [Calamy (1702) p343]

(1713) Martly; Mr. AMBROSE SPARRY. His Imprifonment was in 1661, for that that was commonly call'd Baxter's Plot. A Letter was framed, as from a namelefs Perfon, and directed to Mr. Sparry, defiring that he and Captain Yarrington would bc ready with Money and Arms at the Time appointed ; and that he fhoutd acquaint Mr. Oafland, and Mr. Baxter with it. This Letter was faid to be left un-der a Hedge, and was carried to Sir Fohn Packington, (from whom it was fuppos'd firft to have pro- ceeded) who thereupon fent Mr. Sparry, and feveral others to Prifon. And though he was a very fober learned Man, who had never own'd the Parliament Caufe in the War, and was in his Judgment for moderate Epifcopacy, yet he was long confin'd, and even when the Forgery and Injury was detected, could not obtain a Releafe without great Difficulty. [Calamy (1713.2) p770] [adds nothing]
(1776) In the latter part of this year many worthy minifters, and fober gentlemen and others, were imprifoned in divers counties throughout the land, under a pretence of plotting. In November, one Mr. Ambrefe Sparry (a fober learned minifter, .who had never owned the Parliament's caufe, and was for moderate epifcopacy) had a wicked neighbour whom be reproved for adultery, who bearing him a grudge, thought be had now a time to be revenged. He (or his confederaten for him) framed a letter, as from a namelefs perfon, directed to Mr. Sparry, " that he and Capt. Yarrington fhould be ready " with money and arms at the time appointed, and that they " would acquaint Mr. Ofland and Mr. Baxter with it." This letter he pretended a man left behind him under a hedge, who- fat down and pulled out many letters, and put all up again except this, and went away. He carried the letter to Sir Toh Padingten (who was zealous in fuch work) who fent Mr. Dparry, Mr. Ofand, and Capt. Yarrington * to prifon. Many upon this occafion, efpecially Mr. Sparry, lay long in prifon : and when the forgery and injury was detected, they had much dificulty in obtaining a relcafe. Tho' Mr. Baxter was named there, he was then in London, and had been fo for fome time, by which he efcaped; and yet where men were taken up and imprifoned in diftant counties, it was faid to be for Baxte's plot. .... MARTLEY, [R.] Mr. Ambrofe Sparry. Before he fixed here he was fchool-mafter at Stourbridge, as he alfo was after his ejectment, the Chancellor conniving at him, as the chief perfons in the place were his friends, he being a fober, pru- dent, moderate, humble, learned, judicious, and godly man. He was imprifoned for what was called Baxter's plot, of which fee an account, Vol. I. p. 30. [Calamy (1776)] [adds nothing]

He influenced the spiritual career of John Reynolds, junior, while a school-boy at Stourbridge, who afterwards wrote (His Life, ed. 1735 p12, 20) "Mr Ambrose Sparry 's Ministry was sweet to my Soul's Taste." Devereux Spencer M.A. (rector of Cheadle) ?1629-1673 H117
Spencer, (? christened on 16 Jan 1628.9 at Wanlip), was probably 1st son of Nicholas Spencer of Wanlip, Leics yeoman and Judith (Fox). He studied at Cambridge where on 22 Apr 1646 he was admitted as a sizar at Trinity College and matriculated and in 1649 was a scholar. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. 1649.50 (M.A., 1653). In 1650 he was a elected a fellow of Trinity College. He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by about 10 Jun 1657 when after presentation by Thomas Disney esquire he was appointed presbyterian minister of Lowther, Westmorland. He probably resigned there before 11 Feb 1658.9 when after presentation by Trinity College, Cambridge he was approved by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister of Cheadle rectory. On 3 Feb 1659.60 he was ordained (? deacon and) priest by Exeter [Ralph Brownrigg 1592-1659] pro Lichfield. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto rector and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1. On 24 Jun 1662 he was instituted rector by Lichfield. In Oct 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £50. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Cheadle constablewick and was assessed on 5 hearths there. On 7 Aug 1668 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Gaia Minor and later installed. Still in both offices he died, aged about 44, on 23 May 1673 and was buried on 26 May at Cheadle. His will made on 11 Jan 1671.2 was proved under PCC on 24 Nov 1673. Spencer married about 1661 to Jane Ashton (b 1633) 5th dau of Edward Ashton of High Shuttleworth, Lancs esquire c1583-1650 and Dorothy Dukenfield dau of Robert Dukenfield by whom he had 3 sons and 2 daughters. William Spencer D.D. (rector of Thurnscoe, Yorks West Riding) 1629-1714 was probably his younger brother whilst Devereux Spencer M.A. (vicar of Cardington, Beds) 1665-1701 was his older son. His wife's oldest sister Catherine was the wife of William Langley ?1596-1657 one of his predecessors at Cheadle.

Robert Spencer (vicar of Bradley) c1606-1670 D118
Spencer, born perhaps about 1606, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. On 18 Dec 1630 when he was schoolmaster of Eccleshall parish school (and possibly a stipendiary curate here) he was ordained deacon by Lichfield. He was also (? re-ordained deacon) and ordained priest by Lichfield on 2 Mar 1634.5. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. By 1647 he was compliant minister of Bradley vicarage. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto vicar and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 26 Sep 1662 (33 days late). In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Alstone & Reule, Barton & Apeton, Billington, Bradley and Wollaston & Shredicote constablewicks and was certified not chargeable at Bradley constablewick. Still in office he died, perhaps aged about 64, and was buried here on 12 Apr 1670. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 25 Jul 1670. Spencer married perhaps about 1640 to Alice (who survived him) (no known children). [NB: It is just possible that two men are conflated in this account.]

"DR. JOHN SPRAY, musician, was born at Basford. Possessing an excellent voice he succeeded in obtaining election as a chorister in Lichfield Cathedral, and afterwards as a member of the choir of the Cathedral of St. Patrick, at Dublin; he achieved great success, and the degree of Doctor of Music was conferred upon him. He died in 1827, aged 59, when according to Brown's "Worthies of Notts." the Dublin papers deplored the loss of "one of the most distinguished members of the musical profession in this country—at once the ornament of our cathedral, and the animating spirit of social song in our higher classes of musical society," and the monument in St Patrick's describes him as having been the first tenor in the empire." "John Spray obtained in 1795 the posts of vicar Choral at the cathedrals of Christ Church and St Patrick, Dublin, and became the contemporary of Sir John Stevenson. In his day he was accounted the finest tenor singer in the British Empire. He received the degree of Doctor in Music, honoris causa from the University of Dublin. He died in 1827, and was buried in St Patrick's."

William Squire M.A. (rector of Rolleston) ?1633-1677 [ODNB] H120
Squire, (? christened on 6 Jan 1632.3 at York St Michael le Belfrey), was probably a son of Thomas Squire (proctor of York). He studied at Cambridge where in 1647 he was admitted as a student at Trinity Hall. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1650. In 1652/3 his B.A. was incorporated at Oxford where he was admitted as a batteler at Brasenose College. At Oxford he was conferred M.A. on 25 Apr 1653 and was subsequently (perhaps about 1655) elected a fellow of University College and appointed chaplain of All Souls College. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 1661 when after probable presentation by Sir Edward Mosley of Rolleston 2nd baronet 1638-1665 he was instituted rector of Rolleston. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £2/10/0. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 28 Aug 1662 (four days late) and was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield on 30 Sep 1663. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £90. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Anslow and Rolleston constablewicks and was assessed on 6 hearths at Rolleston. On 19 Jul 1675 he was collated by Gilbert Sheldon (archbishop of Canterbury) 1598-1677 prebendary of Lichfield Hansacre (and installed 23 Jul). Still in both offices he died, aged about 44, in Sep 1677 and was buried on 4 Sep 1677 in the chancel at Rolleston "under a black marble-stone, which had been laid over the grave of one of his predecessors". His administration was granted under Lichfield on 8 Oct 1677. His personalty was valued at about £700 and included "In his studdy Bookes £120/0/0". Squire married on 3 Jun 1662 at Yoxall to Mary Coke (b c1637) dau of Francis Coke (rector of Yoxall) 1598-1682 QV by whom he had 1 son and 5 daughters. Squire was the author of The unreasonableness of the romanists, requiring our communion with the present romish church ... (167o) and Some more considerations proving the unreasonableness of the romanists in requiring us to return to the communion of the present romish-church (1674).

John Staresmore M.A. (compliant minister of Ingestre) c1590-?1656
Staresmore, born about 1590, was a son of -----Staresmore of Leics gentleman. He studied at Oxford where on 20 Jan 1608.9 he was a student at Lincoln College and matriculated. On 8 Mar 1611.2 (apparently whilst still a student) he was ordained deacon by Oxford at Nuneham Courtenay, Oxon. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 30 Jun 1612 (M.A., 27 Apr 1615). He was presumably ordained priest before 19 May 1618 when he was instituted vicar of Coventry Holy Trinity, Warwicks. Here he probably resigned before 1626 when he was instituted rector of Great Warley, Essex which office he resigned on 31 Mar 1636. For a period between 1648 and 1651.2 Staresmore was compliant minister of Ingestre. On 10 May 1656 when he wrote his will he was living at Lichfield and here he likely died, aged about 66, later that year. His will made on 10 May 1656 was proved under PCC on 3 Dec 1658. Staresmore married perhaps about 1620 to a woman by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. William Staresmore (rector of Frolesworth) 1551-.... might be a kinsman.

Richard Stedman B.D. (presbyterian minister of Cheadle) 1622-1698
Stedman, christened on 17 Mar 1621.2 at Stanford-upon-Teme, was 2nd son of Thomas Stedman of Stanford-upon-Teme, Worcs (? rector of Stanford-upon-Teme) and Ann (Geery). He studied at Oxford where on 10 Dec 1641 he was a commoner at All Souls College and matriculated. Later he studied at Cambridge where on 16 Jun 1645 he was admitted as a sizar at Trinity College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1647.8 (M.A., 1650) (B.D., 1660). In 1649 he was elected a fellow at Trinity and in his will styled himself "Senior Fellow of Trinity Colledge". On 10 Jul 1655 his M.A. was incorporated at Oxford. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1657 when he was admitted as presbyterian minister of Cheadle. Here a successor was admitted on 11 Feb 1658.9. In 1659/60 he was a junior bursar at Cambridge and from 1681 to 1684 a senior bursar. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 1682 when, after probable presentation by Trinity College, he was instituted rector of Cheadle. Still in office he died, aged 76, and was buried here on 2 May 1698. His will made on 29 Sep 1697 was proved under PCC on 13 Jul 1698. Stedman probably never married.

John Stevenson M.A. (parochial curate of Burslem) c1601-1673 H121
Stevenson, born about 1601, is of unknown parentage. (A man of his name was christened on 20 Sep 1601 at Burslem as son of William.) He studied at Cambridge where in Jul 1620 he was a pensioner at Christ's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1623.4 (M.A., 1627). On 23 Sep 1627 he was ordained deacon and on 21 Dec 1628 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield. By 1639 he was parochial curate of Horton and from 5 Feb 1643.4 may have continued as compliant minister. He probably resigned from Horton before 5 Oct 1645 when he was appointed compliant minister of Burslem parochial chapelry. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto parochial curate and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 26 Sep 1662 (33 days late). In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Hulton constablewick (which lay in Burslem parish) but was assessed on 2 hearths at Chell (in Wolstanton parish) in Tunstall constablewick. Still in office he died, aged about 72, and was buried at Burslem on 2 Jan 1672.3. The parish register records him as "Johannes Stevenson S Stae Theologiae Comienator". His will - in which he is styled "of Great Chell in Wolstanton clerk" - was proved under Lichfield on 28 Jan 1672.3. Stevenson may not have married.

Clifton Stone M.A. (presbyterian minister of Baswich) c1620-1695 1649-1650
Stone, born about 1620, is of unknown parentage. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 13 Aug 1649 when he was in office as presbyterian minister of Baswich. His predecessor had left office about 3 Apr 1648. At Baswich he received two augmentations (previously paid to his predecessor) of £20 and £18 to his annual salary of £10. He left Baswich in 1650 (after Mar 25). Probably after 1650 Stone studied at Oxford where he was a student at New Inn Hall. No record of his graduation as B.A. has been discovered but at Oxford he was awarded an M.A. on 21 May 1653. By Jul 1654 he was in office as presbyterian minister of Hopesay rectory, Salop where he was displaced by (the former rector) Richard Awnsham c1595-1675 in 1660. In early 1656 Stone (then at Hopesay) and the Greene family of Bransford, Worcs were parties to transactions involving property (valued at £160 or £355) at or near Horderley by Clunbury, Salop. Stone was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 20 May 1661 when after presentation pro hac vice by the bishop of Oxford he was instituted vicar of Stanton Harcourt, Oxon where he paid a clerical subsidy in Aug 1662. On 3 Sep 1662 after presentation by the Crown he was instituted vicar of (nearby) North Leigh, Oxon. By 19 Jun 1666 he was in office as vicar of Deddington, Oxon. On 20 Feb 1666.7 he was instituted vicar of Marston St Lawrence, Northants. A note in Deddington parish register reads "Clifton Stone our Minister of this p'ish went to Live at Marson - March the 26th 1667". Still in office at Marston Stone died, aged about 75, on 19 Apr 1695 and was buried there. He died intestate. His administration was granted under Northampton on 19 Jul 1695 to his daughter-in-law Frances Stone. Clifton married about 1650 to Damaris (d a1695) by whom he had 2 sons. Frances Stone's husband Azariah Stone M.A. c1656-1693 was Clifton's younger son and assisted his father as stipendiary curate at Marston.

On 13 Aug 1649 the Staffordshire parliamentary committee reported that Stone was attempting to get the impropriate rectory (sic) and tithes here, although Fowler's sequestration had been discharged and he was willing to continue the £20 augmentation. (Compounding p1894) On 19 Sep1649 the committee for plundered ministers ordered the aforenamed sums of £20 and £18 to be paid to Stone. (BodlMS 326 p294) Payment of the £18 is recorded up to 25 Mar 1650. (Shaw II p543; LMS 979 p353; cf BodlMS 327 p478) [1915 p26]

Oxon .: W.S.A.S. 25.) [Matthews (1934) p465]
Clifton Stone, collated in 1661, had been ejected from Hopesay church (Salop.) after the Restoration and resigned before 1664. (fn. 13) fn13 Calamy Revised, ed. A. G. Matthews, p. 465; Oldfield, 'Clerus Oxf. Dioc.'
(2014) In 1677 Clifton Stone, formerly of New Inn Hall, Oxford, came to Marston and was vicar of Marston St Lawrence and Warkworth for nearly thirty years until his death on 19 April 1695. He was buried there together with his wife Damaris and his son Asariah who predeceased him, dying in 1693. His only other child, another son, had died years before when he was only 18, buried at his college. Oriel. Asariah was curate to his father and lived in the parish with his wife Frances Thornton (from Preston Capes), who bore him six children all christened at Marston. Clifton Stone died intestate: his next of kin were his grandchildren. On the[sic] July 1695 John, aged over 10, Anne, aged 9, and Martha, aged 7, appeared personally and nominated Frances Stone their mother as guardian during minority. A John Dod, Clerk (probably the John Dod MB, who died on 25 August 1699 aged 31; on his memorial slab in the church referred to as the son of John Dod. rector of Marsh Gibbon; maybe a relative of the Puritan John Dod who wrote a famous guide to child rearing) was appointed guardian to Robert, aged 5, and Damaris, aged 4. Presumably Alice had predeceased her grandfather. Strangely the Letters of Administration granted the same day to Frances during her children's minority describe her as mother and guardian of all the five children. The sureties were Robert Thornton of Preston Capes, Gent., and Honor Thornton of Preston Capes, Spinster. Clifton Stone acted as a wtness to the will of T. Gervase of Marston St Lawrence on 17 January 1669/70. [Banbury Historical Society 19:7 (2014) p244-5]

John Stonywell (Abbot of Pershore, Worcs) e1490-1553
d 1553; i Longdon
(D.D., Gloucester College, Oxford)
(Prior, Tynemouth)
(founded the chantry of Holy Trinity at Longdon, Staffs) 1520
(Abbot, Pershore, Worcs)
(Bishop Suffragan as "Episcopus Poletensis" of Pulati in Albania)

Stonywell was so called from a Stone in the Well. It was, temp. Edw. I. the residence of Robert del Stoniwelle, in which family it continued till the last century. John Stonywell, a Benedictine monk, and a man of learning, was born here, and became abbot of the monastery of Pershore, in which he had been educated; and at length a suffragan bishop, by the title of Episcopus Poletensis. He died in 1553, and was buried in a chapel adjoining to the church of Longdon, which he had built. [ERDESWICK]

Founded in 1520 by John Stonywell, then prior of the cell of Tynemouth, afterwards titular bishop of Pulati in Albania and abbot of Pershore, co. Worc., and after its dissolution pensionary of that monastery till his death in 1553. In a letter written in 1546 he states that by his instruction £300 had been invested in lands in Longdon, Lichfield, Ediall, Wood-houses, Barr, and Huntingdon

[Cannock], the rents of which were to pay the salary of a priest, who was to say mass and other service for his soul. He further states that Morres in order "to make himself a perpetuity" had bound the lands to payment of first fruits as a chantry, whereupon he had had him ejected from the service. According to the Chantry Certificates the priest had to sing mass every Sunday, Holyday and three other days weekly, also dirge and commendations once a week in the Holy Trinity chapel within the church. [1915]

Caleb Stopford (presbyterian minister of Stafford St Chad) 1638-....
Stopford, christened on 24 Jun 1638 at Ashton-under-Lyne, was a son of William Stopford of Audenshaw in Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancs yeoman c1589-1657 and Jane (Wild). He studied at Oxford where on 25 Jul 1655 he was a "commoner" at Brasenose College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 4 Nov 1658. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 24 Apr 1660 when he was in office as presbyterian minister of Stafford St Chad independent parochial chaplery. In Jun 1660 he likely continued in office as de facto parochial curate. A successor was probably appointed on 23 Sep 1661. Stopford was (presumably) ordained deacon and on 17 Aug 1661 ordained priest by Sodor and Man. He may then have served briefly at Bury, Lancs. On 16 Nov 1662 he was appointed parochial curate of Gorton, Lancs and licensed to preach in the diocese of Chester. Here he was succeded in office by 2 Apr 1665. In 1668 he was living at Sandal, Yorks WR when he petitioned the king (probably unsuccessfully) for the vacant vicarage of Dewsbury in the same county. Stopford married on 16 Jun 1658 at Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancs to Jane Walker by whom he had (perhaps) 1 son and 2 daughters. Caleb’s next older brother - Joshua Stopford (rector of York All Saints) 1635-1675 [ODNB] - matriculated from Brasenose College on the same day as Caleb. He was also a presbyterian minister and later ordained anglican.

(1915) Caleb was born at Ashton in 1638, and graduate B.A. at Oxford in 1658. Although he preached before the Classis it is probable that he was not ordained before the Restoration, and then his ordination would be episcopal. He was curate or minister at Bury in 1661 and at Gorton in 1662. He was of Sandal, near Wakefield, in 1668, when he petitioned the king for the vacant living of Dewsbury. We know nothing of his later career, and it is probable that he died shortly afterwards. His children are mentioned in the family wills. [Francis Nicholson and Ernest Axon "Rev. (21 May 1657) William Stoppard (later Stoppord) of Reditch in Manchester Lancs yeoman ... to be buried Ashton ... Jane now wife (executor) ... William (eldest son, son of Jane) ... Raphe (son, executor) ... John (son) and Jane (dau) ... two sonnes Joshua and Caleb ...
His son William Stopford, described as of Audenshaw, when his many children were baptised, followed his fathers example by ending his days at Reddish. He and his grandson John were buried 29th May 1657, at Ashton, and as the parish register tells us, "both in a grave". His widow lived in Reddish for several years but died at Audenshaw. William Stopford, of Audenshaw and Reddish, had at least five sons - William, Ralph, John, Joshua, and Caleb. The eldest son, William, was a yeoman of Audenshaw, and his descendants lived at Hooley Hill, where, until about a hundred years ago, they leased lands under the Earls of Stamford and Warrington, and also carried on business as feltmakers or hat manufacturers. One of William's descendants was Adam Stopford, of Hooley Hill, whose daughter Mary, wife of Matthew Nicholson, of Manchester, was grandmother of one of the present writers and of Mr Albert Nicholson, one of the late Presidents of the Lancashire and Cheshire Antiquarian Society. The next son was Ralph Stopford, of Audenshaw, yeoman and flaxman. His will shows him to have been well to do for that period, he having lands in Audenshaw, a tenement in Althill, and over £900 in personalty. He desired to be buried in church of Ashton under Lyne, as near to his ancestors as possible. The youngest son was John Stopford, of Reddish Hall, yeoman. He died in 1666 and Oliver Heywood relates a pretty story of how he died. He was engaged to be married to a young woman who died suddenly. "After the funeral he came home, told his mother he thought his heart was dead, she laid her hand on it, felt it not move, and within a day or two he dyed, and was buryed that day sennight that his sweetheart was". The two other sons, Joshua and Caleb, were clergymen. Caleb was born at Ashton in 1638, and graduate B.A. at Oxford in 1658. Although he preached before the Classis it is probable that he was not ordained before the Restoration, and then his ordination would be episcopal. He was curate or minister at Bury in 1661 and at Gorton in 1662. He was of Sandal, near Wakefield, in 1668, when he petitioned the king for the vacant living of Dewsbury. We know nothing of his later career, and it is probable that he died shortly afterwards. His children are mentioned in the family wills. Of the five brothers the most important was Joshua. Joshua Stopford, born, no doubt, at Audenshaw, was baptised at Ashton-under-Lyne on 7th June, 1635. Where he received his early education is not known, but not improbably he, like his fellow parishioner and almost contemporary, Jeremiah Marsden, was at the Manchester Grammar School, the nearest first class school. In 1654, at the age of eighteen, he was, as son of a plebeian, admitted to Brasenose College, Oxford, and was elected a Nowell scholar 25th November, 1654. He did not matriculate until 25th July, 1655, and in the following year removed to Magdalen College, of which he had been elected one of the clerks. On 23rd February 1657-58 he graduated B.A. A few months later he was in Manchester pressing his candidature for the morning lectureship in the Collegiate Church. Before Stopford had appeared on the scene Newcome had wished to secure the appointment for a Mr Baxter, not the afterwards celebrated Richard Baxter, but the less important Nathaniel who was later to be ejected from the living of St Michael's-on-Wyre. (Warslow) The chapels [Warslow & Elkstone] were then [1766] served by the vicar of Alstonefield's curate, Luke Story, who visited the area frequently 'for a very small subscription', recorded in 1784 as £1 6s. 8d. [VCH]

(Master, Hanley Parish School, Staffs)
- (as literate, licensed) 14 May 1698

Ralph Strettell (?presbyterian minister of Shareshill) e1622-p1689
Strettell, born perhaps about, 1622 is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 14 Apr 1652 when he was appointed ?presbyterian minister of Shareshill ?independent parochial chapelry. On 18 Aug 1652 the Committee for plundered ministers granted him an augmentation (of probably £50 to his annual salary (then) £50) which however may never have been paid. On 26 Apr 1654 the Commissioners (? for the approbation of public preachers) approved his appointment. In 1658 "Ralph Strettell, clerk" was involved in a court case regarding money in Shropshire. Strettell presumably resigned at Shareshill before 2 Aug 1658 when he was appointed ?presbyterian minister of London St John Zachary rectory. During 1659 he was in a dispute with the Goldsmith's company (who had an interest in the rectory) regarding his sequestered predecessor John Heardman. In Jun 1660 Strettell may have continued in office as de facto rector and by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) may have been displaced by Heardman who was collated rector on 3 Sep 1662. By 1669 he had moved to London and then living at Bethnal Green he was involved in Chancery proceedings. From London between 6 Jan 1671.2 and 27 Mar 1675 he wrote several letters to the presbyterian parliamentarian Sir Edward Harley of Brampton Bryan, Herefs knight 1624-1700 [ODNB] making frequent mention of Richard Baxter 1615-1691 [ODNB]. In 1683 he was in prison for debt and received a gift of £3. About Jul 1689 Strettell moved to Horsmonden, Kent and wrote to Harley on 20 Oct: "In July last by a very strang & I hope as good a providence of God a stranger from a parish call'd Horsmonden in Kent, 40 miles from London, came to Town for a minister to preach to a private Congregation in the saide parish for one moneth; but it pleased God to Continue me there Maidstone & Crambrooke Ever since, I hope not in vaine. ... The Patron an honest presbitarion hath promised me his presentation in Case he were out, ... I do pray yor advise & assistance for the Patron & I accomplishing our end ..." Stephen Bate the rector of Horsmonden died, still in office, in 1724. Strettell married perhaps about 1652 to a woman by whom he had 1 son and 2 daughters. [One Ralph Strethill of Winterley was buried on 26 Nov 1690 at Barthomley, Cheshire.]

Mr. Strettell, minister of St. John Zacharie in the place of John Heardman, petitions the sequestrators with reference to the £8 allowed to Heardman out of the income of the benefice, and the petition is forwarded to the [Goldsmiths] Company and debated, Mr. Strettell and his counsel being also heard touching the matters alledged in the same. The Company, however, decide to continue paying their tithes to the sequestrators. 1659, 18th November. Mr. Strettell conies and demands the tithes for the Hall for three quarters now past, being 45s. a quarter, who is told by the Wardens that the money has been already paid, and that there is a receipt for it by the sequestrators for the parish (authorised by the Commissioners who sequestrated Mr. Heardman, the late minister), whereupon Mr. Strettell shows an order of the Committee for plundered ministers, which is read, after which Mr. Strettell desires the Wardens that he may receive the future tithes as they shall fall due, but the Wardens tell him that the matter must be considered by the full court. Subsequently, at a court held on the 19th December, Mr. Strettell is informed that what the Company have to pay for the tithes on the Hall, they are resolved to keep in their own hands until the controversy which is depending between him and Mr. Heardman shall be settled. (1915) 14 Apr 1652 oc. 1656 Ralph Strettell 6 - 6 Strettell, Strettle. Entered on this cure on 14 Apr 1652, and an order was issued by the committee for plundered ministers that he and the parishioners should pay all arrears of salary due to his predecessor (SPDI F2 pt ii p462; Compounding, p2485). On 18 Aug 1652 the aforesaid committee ordered that his salary should be made up to £100 pa from the tithes of Hilton and Featherstone, late belonging to Wolverhampton cathedral, and sequestered from Sir Edward Littleton & Thomas Leveson. On 25 Oct 1653 Strettle asks for payment and on 25 Jun 1655 the trustees confirm this augmentation order, which had been disregarded (SPDI F2 pt ii p562, and LMS 970 p38). On 27 Feb 1655.6 he once more complains and says he is deprived of all means because Leveson's tithes have been restored to him and the residue £60 has been granted by the committee for plundered ministers to others (Compounding p2485). Strettle was approved by the commissioners on 25 Apr 1654 (LMS 968 p7) [SHC 1915 p229-30]

St. Paul's: Walker, ii. 168: Cal. 33, 35) C. of Shareshill, Staffs., in April 1652 (S.P. 23. 22. 1477). Living at Bethnal Green in 1669, when involved in Chancery proceedings (C. 7. 487. 57). At Middlesex Sessions, 2 Nov. 1682, as of St. Clement Danes, fined £20 for preaching at Old Playhouse 8 Oct. (Middx. Co. Records, iv. 180). Baxter accounting for £50 from the Earl of Bedford for distribution to poor ministers, c1683, records £3 given to Strettell, then imprisoned for debt (Woburn Abbey MSS.). In Welbeck Abbey MSS. there are 8 letters of his to Sir Edward Harley, 8 Jan. 1671-2 to 27 March 1675, written from London, giving news of Baxter, with whom he was intimate, and of other Nonconformists. In another letter to Harley, 20 Nov. 1689, writes that he is preaching in Kent, at Horsmonden, Maidstone, and Cranbrook, "your late Act of pariamt giving me incoraugmt thereunto haveing Ever kept myself off ye Rocke of dispensing powers". The rector of Horsmonden had as yet refused to take the oath of allegiance to William and Mary, and the patron, 'an honest presbiterian', had promised, if the living became vacant, to present Strettell, who asks by what date the oath must be taken and desires Harley's advice and assistance. Son Edward, died c. 1685. [Calamy Revised (1934) p466]

$Henry Stubbs M.A. (rector of Blore Ray) c1589-?1651
Stubbs, born about 1589, was 2nd son of Sampson Stubbs of Butterton "gentleman" c1560-1651. He studied at Oxford where on 24 Mar 1609.10 he was a "commoner" at Broadgates Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 19 Jun 1614 (M.A., 21 Jun 1616). On 19 Jun 1614 he was ordained deacon and on 4 Jun 1615 ordained priest (both) by Oxford. On 25 Jun or 2 Jul 1619 after presentation by (the lord of the manor) William Cavendish [1st Duke of Newcastle-upon-Tyne] 1593-1676 by right of his wife Elizabeth Bassett daughter and heir of William Bassett of Blore Ray c1540-1601 he was instituted rector of Blore Ray. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. On 5 Aug 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted him two augmentations of £14 and £13 to his annual salary. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Henry Stubbe Rector of Bloore". Still in office Stubbs died, aged about 62, probably in 1651 with burial requested in the chancel at Blore Ray. His will made on 3 Apr 1647 was proved under PCC on 14 Feb 1650.1. Stubbs married first about 1620 to Mary by whom he had 1 son. He married second about 1622 to Elizabeth by whom he had 1 son and 3 daughters. Josiah Stubbs (rector of Kingsley) 1627-1682 QV was his son by his 2nd wife.

(Tutbury) Not far from the above-mentioned monument of the Rev. Mr. Hutchinson, another marble slab records the departure of a kindred spirit in the following words "Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life." Rev, ii. 10. "Near this place are deposited the remains of the Rev. Jonathan Stubbs, M. A., some time curate of Uttoxeter in this county, and previously of the parish of St. Alkmund in Derby. A man of sober, active, and solid piety, of laborious and unwearied diligence in the public and private duties of his office. A true minister of the gospel; day by day instructing his flock by sound doctrine and by holy example; living not unto himself, but unto the Lord, who died for him. In humble and exclusive reliance on the merits of that Redeemer, he died November the 27th, 1810, in the thirtyeighth year of his age, in consequence of the fracture of a limb, occasioned by an overturn of an open carriage within a short distance of this town." 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.'" [Mosley TUTBURY]

Josiah Stubbs M.A. (rector of Kingsley) 1627-1682 H122

Stubbs, christened on 13 May 1627 at Blore Ray, was a son of Henry Stubbs (rector of Blore Ray) c1589-?1651 and (his 2nd wife) Elizabeth. He studied at Cambridge where on 12 Apr 1647 he was admitted as a sizar at Trinity College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A in 1650.1 (M.A., 1654). He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by about 1651 when he was appointed presbyterian minister of Blore Ray rectory in succession to his father. On 21 Apr 1652 he was granted two augmentations (previously paid to his predecessor) of £14 and £13 to his annual salary. He probably resigned here before Sep 1657 when he was inducted presbyterian minister of Kingsley rectory and paid first fruits on 13 May 1658. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de jure rector. On 25 Jun 1660 he was ordained (? deacon and) priest by Thomas Fuller (bishop of Ardfert and Aghadoe) 1593–1667 pro Lichfield. By An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) he was confirmed in office. On 4 Jan 1661.2 after presentation by Charles Stuart 5th Duke of Richmond 1639-1672 (? by right of his wife Elizabeth by right of her late husband Charles Cavendish (of Blore Ray esquire) c1626-1659 by grant from his father William Cavendish 1st Duke of Newcastle-upon-Tyne 1593-1676) he was instituted as rector and (again) paid first fruits. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1/10/0. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 28 Jul 1662. On 21 Oct 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Alton constablewick (which included Kingsley) and was probably assessed on 4 hearths at Kingsley. Still in office he died, aged 55, and was buried here on 22 Jul 1682. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 6 Sep 1682. His personalty was valued at £306/6/4 and included "In the Study for severall books £102/7/0". Stubbs married about 1657 to Mary by whom he had 1 son. Henry Stubbs (stipendiary curate of Cheadle) 1658-1686 was his son.

Nathaniel Sturges (presbyterian minister of Marchington) e1619-1684
Sturges, born perhaps about 1619, is of uknown parentage. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by Mar 1652.3 when he appears to have been acting presbyterian minister of Marchington parochial chapelry. On 2 Jun 1654 following a settlement order made by the Committee for plundered ministers he was approved by the Commission for the approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister here. He frequently certified the fitness of candidates for the ministry. From Jun 1654 to about 1660 he received an augmentation of £44 pa to his annual salary. He may have resigned before Jun 1660. On 10 Mar 1661 he was ordained deacon by Lincoln (? pro Lichfield) and on 13 Mar 1661 ordained priest by Lincoln pro Lichfield. Apparently shortly after he was instituted rector of Sudbury, Derbys and whilst here subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 12 Aug 1662. In Oct 1663 he was licensed as a preacher. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £70 pa. Still in office he died, perhaps aged about 65, and was buried here on 8 May 1684. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 1 Jul 1684. His personalty was valued at £110/10/4 and included "His Books £9/10/0". Sturges married (? on 13 Oct 1649 at Austrey, Warwicks) to Catherine (? Cross dau of Robert Cross and Catherine) by whom he had 1 son and 2 daughters. Samuel Sturges M.A. (prebendary of Lichfield Bobenhull) c1657-1736 was his son.

►John Stylband e1488-....
(Perpetual Curate, West Bromwich All Saints, Staffs)
- (in office) 1528-9

In 1526 Sandwell's possessions were granted by the Crown to Cardinal Wolsey and by him to Cardinal College, Oxford. Wolsey, however, seems to have retained some control over West Bromwich church. In 1528 Thomas Cromwell, then Wolsey's servant, ordered William Wyrley, the farmer of the West Bromwich tithes, to eject the curate, John Stylband, and to replace him by 'Sir William, the prior's monk that was'. Stylband refused to go, and there was a scene of some disorder in the church with the two priests competing to say mass. In 1529 Stylband brought an action against Wyrley and the rival priest. [VCH]

Henry Swain de Pulteney e1299-....

George Swan (parochial curate of Wychnor, Staffs) e1640-....
Swan, born (perhaps) about 1640, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. On 26 Aug 1662 he was appointed as a schoolmaster at Elford . In Dec 1662 he was ordained deacon, in Dec 1663 licenced as a preacher and in Feb 1664 ordained priest (all) by Lichfield. On 4 Aug 1665 after probable presentation by the rector of Tatenhill then Thomas Masters 1626-1696 QV he was in office as parochial curate of Wychnor. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Wychnor constablewick but was not assessed there. Here he probably resigned at some time before 17 Nov 1676 when after probable presentation by the rector of Clifton Campville he was in office as parochial curate of Harlaston. By 1680 he was (perhaps) after probable presentation by the prebendary of Lichfield Alrewas (jointly) in office as parochial curate of Edingale. In 1688 - perhaps still in office at Wychnor and Edingale and schoolmaster at Elford - Swan may have died or resigned. Swan may not have married.

Ralph Swift (vicar of Penn, Staffs) e1598-?1641 1628-?1641
Swift, born perhaps about 1598, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. (A man of his name, born about 1598 in Yorkshire, studied at Oxford where on 15 May 1618 he was "a commoner" at University College but is not known to have graduated.) Swift was presumably ordained deacon before 2 Apr 1624 when he was appointed succentor of Lichfield Cathedral (and thus vicar choral pro Lichfield Bishops Itchington). On 6 Jan 1624.5 he was ordained priest by Lichfield at Eccleshall. On 26 Apr 1628 he was collated by the bishop of Lichfield then Thomas Morton 1564-1659 vicar of Penn. In 1639 he was still in office at Penn and probably at Lichfield. Swift likely died, perhaps aged about 43, in early 1641. A successor was appointed at Lichfield on 20 Mar 1640.1 and at Penn a succesor was probably in office in May 1641.

Richard Swinfen B.A. (presbyterian minister of Mavesyn Ridware) 1630-1691 G40
Swinfen, christened on 21 Oct 1630 at Lichfield St Mary, was 6th and youngest son of Richard Swinfen of Swinfen in Weeford gentleman 1596-1659 and Joan Curitall alias Harman dau of George Curitall alias Harman of Weeford gentleman. He was educated at Tamworth, Sutton Coldfield, Warwicks and London Charterhouse. He studied at Cambridge where on 23 Jun 1650 he was admitted pensioner at Pembroke College and matriculated that year. The master of the college William Moses 1622-1688 was his tutor. He shared a chamber with Thomas Doolittle nonconformist minister c1632-1707. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1653.4 (? M.A.). He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 4 Jan 1655.6 when he was appointed presbyterian minister of Sandiacre parochial chapelry, Derbys. On 18 Mar 1655.6 he was classically ordained as a presbyterian minister by the Derbyshire Wirksworth Classis at Wirksworth. His thesis was entitled "Utrum Paulina contradicat Jacobo in articulo justificationis?". On 13 Nov 1657 after presentation by John Agard of Foston in Scropton, Derbys gentleman c1583-c1657 he was admitted as presbyterian minister of Mavesyn Ridware rectory in succession to John Price c1619-.... Calamy records in 1727 that he "was preferr'd to Mavison Ridwar of about £100 per Annum Value: Which Living it is said he at first refus'd to accept till he was inform'd that the legal Incumbent was sequestred not so much for his Affection to the Church and King as for very great Immoralities". On arrival at Mavesyn Ridware Swinfen paid above £200 for the repair of the parsonage and its barn. Here in a lawsuit of about 1659 William Shaw c1617-1672, said to have been unsuccesfully presented by John Agard in 1648, claimed to be the rightful minister. Although Shaw's claim was not upheld at law he seems to have caused Swinfen to coercively resign about Jun 1660 (Shaw was instituted rector of Mavesyn Ridware on 7 Sep 1660.) On leaving Mavesyn Ridware Swinfen rented a farm at Pipe Ridware. On 24 Apr 1664 it was reported "Swinfin and Mott, two ejected ministers, ride about frequently, day and night". In his will made on 6 Apr 1665 Samuel Hall (presbyterian minister of Barlaston) c1635-1665 requested that he "be carried to my place of buriall by [four] worthy friends" which included "Mr Swynfen". Under The five mile act (31 Oct 1665), which prohibited nonconformist clergy from entering within five miles of parliamentary corporations such as Lichfield (to which Pipe Ridware was close), Swinfen was forced to move again. He now went to Barton-under-Needwood where he lived for about 20 years. Whilst there he preached "in the neighbouring Counties of Staffordshire, Derbyshire, Leicestershire and Warwickshire" [but] "constantly went himself and took all his Family with him to the Parish Church where he liv'd". In 1669 he was (presumably) a teacher at a conventicle held at his house in Barton-under-Needwood which is said to have been attended by 30 or 40 people. About Jun 1672 he was licensed as a presbyterian teacher at his own house at Barton-under-Needwood and on 22 Jul 1672 at the house of William Palmer of Fisherwick in Lichfield St Michael. In his will written on 3 Jul 1677 Thomas Minors of Lichfield mercer bequeathed £10 to "Mr Richard Swynfen now of Barton under Needwood". In 1678 Swinfen preached the funeral sermon for the minister Thomas Ford c1633-1678 on [St John 5:35] "he was a burning and a shining Light". About Jun 1685 Swinfen was one of a number of Staffordshire gentlemen imprisoned at Chester Castle suspected of supporting the Duke of Monmouth's rebellion against James II. On his release he and his wife lived with a married daughter. They then moved to Burton-upon-Trent to live with their youngest son who had recently set up business as a mercer. The Common Fund survey of dissenting ministers taken about 1690 has under Staffordshire the entry "Ministers that have a Competent Supply - Mr Richd Swinfyn - [ejected Minister] Of Maves on[sic] Ridwar - able to goe abroad every Lords day 4. 5. or 6 miles for 9/0 or 7/0 pr day and horse hire paid out of it". Swinfen died "seiz'd with a Dropsy", aged 61, in 1691 at Burton-upon-Trent. He married on 6 Aug 1657 at Hints to Elizabeth Clarke dau of John

Clarke of Moor Hall, Warwicks gentleman by whom he had (perhaps) 3 sons and 3 daughters. Shortly after leaving Mavesyn Ridware Swinfen visited London where Edward Hyde 1st Earl of Clarendon 1609-1674 (then Chancellor of the Exchequer) offered to present him to a valuable living if he conformed. Swinfen discussed the offer with his former tutor William Moses who persuaded him not to conform. On their parting company Moses said "As Caesar said to the mariners, so say I to thee, dear Swynfen, Ne timeas; Christum portas & Fortunas Christi". Swinfen is said to have had three principal reasons for his nonconformity: "1. That he had taken the Solemn League and Covenant and he could not safely swear that there lay no Obligation upon him from it. 2. That he had been classically ordain'd and therefore could not submit to any Re-ordination whatever because he thought in the Nature of the Thing it implied an Acknowledgment of the Invalidity of his former Orders. 3. And lastly he could not give his unfeigned Assent and Consent to all and every Thing contained and prescrib'd in and by the Book of Common Prayer."

(1713) Mareston-Riddware: Mr Richard Swynfen. He was Born at Swynfen in the Parish of Weeford in this County ~~Oct. 31, 1630~~; being a younger Brother of a very good Family. Educated at Cambridge, where he was Chamber-Fellow with Mr Thomas Doolittel. Presented to this Parsonage of about £120 per Annum in 1657 by Mr Agard of Foston [John Agard of Foston in Scropton, Derbys gentleman c1583-c1657] who had at that time the right of bestowing it. Upon his first coming to the Place he laid out between Two and Three Hundred Pounds in repairing the Parsonage-House and building the Barn which had been burnt down in the time of the former Incumbent. He had not enjoy'd it above a Year or two before Mr Shaw pretended to have a right to it by virtue of the King's Seal: Whereupon a Suit of Law commenc'd by which it appear'd that Mr Shaw was in the wrong and that Mr Swynfen's Title was good. But before the Controversie was fully ended he saw that he must either be forc'd to leave it when the Act took place in 62, or Conform, which he could not do without Violence to his Conscience and therefore he voluntarily left it before the Act was in force. He was well belov'd by his Parishioners and Auditors who were greatly troubled at his leaving them. He took a Farm at Ripe-Ridware[sic] the next Parish endeavouring that way to maintain his Wife and Children: But the Oxford Act quickly drove him from it to his great Loss. From thence he remov'd to Barton-Underwood and there continu'd about Twenty Years; during which time he did not neglect the great Work to which he was call'd but rode about the Country from place to place, Preaching as he had opportunity. He was one that did good to all as far as it lay in his Power and behav'd himself so that he had a good Character even from the worst of Men. He was a constant Reprover of Bold and Prophane Sinners and could not bear to hear the Name of GOD dishonour'd or vainly us'd. In most Company that he came into he would be discoursing of spiritual and heavenly Things. When he was necessitated to be absent from his Family on a Lord's Day he charg'd his Children to go to Church if they had not the opportunity of going to a Meeting; and he himself us'd to do so when he was not otherwise engag'd. He kept up a Week day Lecture in Barton in troublesome Times and was disturb'd but escap'd being Fin'd. When the Duke of Monmouth landed in the West he was taken out of Bed and carried Prisoner from his own House to Chester Castle where a great many valuable Persons, Church-men and Dissenters were closely confin'd. For some few Years before his Death he liv'd at Burton upon Trent where he was troubled with a Dropsical Humour which soon carry'd him off. He Dy'd there in 1692 in the 62d Year of his Age. A neighbouring Clergy-man of the Church of England that had a kindness for him came to visit him in his Sickness a little before his Death; and in their Discourse Mr Swynfen told him that he was very well satisfy'd that he had not Conform'd and thank'd GOD for it. He was a Man of great Integrity, Zeal and Faith and hearty for GOD; and in the worst of Times and Tryals kept up his Heart waiting for and firmly expecting the Salvation of GOD. [Calamy (1713) p629-31]

(1727) Ibid. Mavison Ridwar: Mr RICHARD SWYNFEN, M. A. Having receiv'd from a worthy Gentleman an handsome Character of him I shall here insert it as I receiv'd it. He was younger Son of ~~John~~ Swynfen Esq in this County and Brother to that truly great and excellent Person the Ornament of his Country and very ancient Family the late John Swynfen of Swynfen Esq. He was born in the Year 1630 and sent first to Tamworth then to Sutton Coldfield in Warwickshire and afterwards to the Charter-house in London for his Grammar Learning. From which last School he was sent to Cambridge about the Year 1646 and admitted a Member of Pembroke-Hall in that University under the Tuition of Mr Moses then Fellow of that House. After six or seven Years Stay there in which Time he took the Degrees of Batchelor and Master of Arts he was ordain'd by a Classis of Presbyters in Derbyshire and presently after call'd to a small Donative viz Sandiacre near Nottingham. After two Years Stay at this Place he was preferr'd to Mavison Ridwar of about £100 per Annum Value: Which Living it is said he at first refus'd to accept till he was inform'd that the legal Incumbent was sequestred not so much for his Affection to the Church and King as for very great Immoralities. ~~After two Years Enjoyment of this Rectory~~ he married Elizabeth the Daughter of John Clark of Moor-hall Esq in the County of Warwick and had three Children by her at the Time of the Restoration in the Year 1660, at which Time the Act for Restoring the old Sequestred Ministers took Place; by which Mr Swynfen became dispossess'd and the former Incumbent restor'd. In a little Time after this he made a Journey to London partly to see his old Tutor and some other Friends and partly to discourse with the Learned Men of that Time upon the Subjects of Conformity and Nonconformity: And having Occasion to wait upon the Lord Chancellor Clarendon who profess'd the highest Esteem for his elder Brother he made him the Offer of the best Preferment he had in his Gift if he would conform; which he acquainting his Tutor Moses with was earnestly disuaded from it by him: And in discoursing that Point over with him at several Times Mr Swynfen has often mention'd the Expression he made use of at their last parting, - viz. "as Cæsar to the Mariners so say I to thee dear Swynfen, Ne timeas; Christum portas, & Fortunas Christi;" [Fear not you carry Christ and his interest] - which seem'd to make a deeper Impression on him than any Thing else on the contrary Side. Upon his Return into the Country he appear'd more confirm'd in his Design not to conform than he was before; and though he was not without frequent Offers from the Court and from several of his own Relations and other Friends of very good Preferment yet he would never hearken to it afterwards. The Reasons of his Nonconformity he often mention'd to be these: 1. That he had taken the Solemn League and Covenant and he could not safely swear that there lay no Obligation upon him from it. 2. That he had been classically ordain'd and therefore could not submit to any Re-ordination whatever because he thought in the Nature of the Thing it implied an Acknowledgment of the Invalidity of his former Orders. 3. And lastly he could not give his unfeigned Assent and Consent to all and every Thing contained and prescrib'd in and by the Book of Common Prayer. He us'd to mention some other Particulars which he thought justly exceptionable as particularly the Ceremonies: But has often said that rather than break off Communion with an Establish'd Church he could have submitted to these especially in a private Capacity: And therefore having never any settled particular Congregation of his own, but only what occasionally offer'd in the neighbouring Counties of Staffordshire, Derbyshire, Leicestershire and Warwickshire he was often disengag'd from Preaching and at all such Times constantly went himself and took all his Family with him to the Parish Church where he liv'd, which was Burton under Neewood in Staffordshire; a Place which he fled to upon a Prosecution he met with on the Five Mile Act at which Village he liv'd the greatest Part of his Time in very good Esteem with all Sorts of People being truly an inoffensive Man ready to do good to all and was never known to be ingag'd in any one personal Difference in his Life. Indeed in the Year 1685 he (with other of the Gentlemen of Staffordshire who were reputed either Whigs or Dissenters) was seiz'd and carried to Chester Castle upon the Duke of Monmouth's Invasion where he was kept close Prisoner till such Time as that Affair ended in the fatal Catastrophe of that unfortunate Prince; but after this nothing of Moment befell him on Account of his Nonconformity but he remov'd together with his Wife first to a Daughter's whom he had married and afterwards to his youngest Son's who was just then set up a Mercer in the Town of Burton upon Trent at whose House he continu'd till the Year 1691 and then was seiz'd with a Dropsy of which he died in the sixty-first Year of his Age. He had long before buried two of the three Children he had before the Restoration but left three others behind him which he had since and of whose religious Education he took as much Care as it was well possible for him to do. He never omitted a Day (I had almost said Hour) in which he did not give them some pious Advice; and often charg'd them not to dare to meet him in an unregenerate Estate at the Day of Judgment: And told them that he himself should be one of the first Evidences against them if they did. [Calamy (1727) p779-82]

(1778) MARSTON [R. £100] Mr. Richard Swynfen, M.A. Of Pemb. Hall, Camb. Younger son of ~~John~~ Swynfen, Esq; and brother to the truly great and excellent John Swynfen, of Swynfen, Esq; There he was born in 1630, and sent-first to Tamworth, then to Sutton-Coldfield in Warwickshire and afterwards to the Charter-house in London, for his grammar learning. He went to Cambridge about 1646, where he continued 6 or 7 years under the tuition of Mr. William Moses, and was chamber-fellow with Mr. T. Doolittle. He was ordained by a classis of Presbyters in Derbyshire, and soon after called to Sandiacre a small donative near Nottingham. After two years stay there, viz. in 1657, he was preferred to Marston; which living he at first refused to accept, till he was informed that the legal incumbent was not sequestered so much for his affection to the church and king, as for very great immoralities. He here married Eliz. daughter of John Clark, Esq; of Moor-Hall in Warwickshire. After he had laid out £200 or £300 in repairs, Mr. Shaw pretended a right to the living; upon which a law-suit commenced, and it appeared that Mr. Swinfen's title was good: but before the controversy was fully ended, he was dispossessed by the act for restoring sequestered ministers at the Restoration. Soon after this he went to London, partly to discourse with the learned men of that time, upon the subject of Conformity. Having occasion to wait upon Lord Chancellor Clarendon, who professed the highest esteem for his elder brother, he made him the offer of the best preferment he had in his gift, if he would conform. He acquainted his tutor Mr. Moses with it, who earnestly dissuaded him from it. Mr. Swynfen often mentioned the expression he used at their last parting, viz, "As Caesar said to the mariners, so say I to thee, dear Swynfen, Ne timeas; Christum portas & Fortunas Christi:" which made a deeper impression on him than any thing else on the contrary side.— Upon his return into the country, tho' he had frequent offers from the court, and from several relations and other friends, of very good preferment, he would hearken to none of them; but, in order to maintain his family, took a farm at Ripe-Ridware, in the next parish. From thence he was soon driven, by the Oxford act, to his great loss; upon which he removed to Burton under Needwood, where he lived about 2 years, riding about from place to place, preaching as he had opportunity. The reasons of his Nonconformity he often said were, his having taken the solemn league and covenant; that he could not submit to re-ordination, nor give his unfeigned assent and consent, &c. He used to mention some other things which he thought exceptionable, particularly the ceremonies; but often said, that rather than break off communion with an established church, he could submit to these, especially in a private capacity; and therefore, having never any settled particular congregation of his own, but only what occasionally offered in the neighbouring counties, he was often disengaged from preaching, and at all such times constantly went with his whole family to the parish church at Burton where he held a weekly lecture. He was sometimes disturbed, but escaped being fined. In 1685, he (with other reputed Whigs or Dissenters) was seized and carried to Chester Castle, upon the Duke of Monmouth's invasion, being taken out of his bed, and was kept close prisoner till that affair ended. After this, nothing of moment befel him on account of his Nonconformity. He spent his last days with his youngest son, a mercer in Burton upon Trent, where he was seized with a dropsy, of which he died in 1691, in the 61st year of his age; He was one that did good to all as far as it lay in his power, and behaved himself so that he had a good character from the worst of men. He was never known to be engaged in one personal difference in his life. He was a constant reprover of prophane sinners, and in most companies would discourse of spiritual and heavenly things. He was a man of great integrity, zeal, and faith; in the worst of times keeping up his heart, and firmly expecting the salvation of God. In the education of his children, he took as much care as it was well possible for him to do, never omitting a day, scarcely an hour, in which he did not give them some pious advice; often charged them not to dare to meet him in an unregenerate state at the day of judgment; and told them that he himself should be one of the first evidences againft them if they did. A little before his death a neighbouring clergyman, who had a kindness for him, came to visit him; when Mr. Swinfen, among other discourse, told him, that he was very well satisfied he had not conformed, and thanked God for it. ►Isaac Sympson M.A. (vicar of Alrewas, Staffs) c1641-1684
Sympson was born about 1641 son of Humphrey Sympson of Macclesfield, Cheshire yeoman c1608-1676 (? and Mary Edge) . He was educated at Macclesfield under Mr Croasdale. He studied at Dublin where on 27 May 1658 he was admitted a sizar at Trinity College. At Dublin he graduated B.A. about 1661 (M.A., St John's College, Cambridge, 1664). On 20 Feb 1661.2 he was ordained deacon and on 25 Feb 1661.2 ordained priest (both) by Lincoln. On 19 Jun 1662 he was appointed vicar of Tideswell, Derbys where on 24 Oct 1662 he was also appointed a schoolmaster at the local grammar school. He resigned at Tideswell before 5 Feb 1662.3 when after presentation by the prebendary of Lichfield Alrewas (his future father-in-law) Richard Harrison c1611-1676 (then also rector of Blithfield) he was instituted vicar of Alrewas. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Alrewas constablewick but was not assessed there. He was (plurally) instituted rector of Coppenhall, Cheshire on 24 May 1669. He resigned at Alrewas and Coppenhall before 29 Jan 1676.7 when he was appointed vicar of Lichfield St Mary (in succession to his father-in-law). It is unclear whether he was inducted at Lichfield for in less than a month, on 25 Feb 1676.7, after presentation by Sharington Talbot of Salwarpe, Worcs esquire 1599-1677 he was instituted as rector at Lacock, Wilts. In office at Lacock he died, aged about 43, and was buried there on 19 Aug 1684. His administration was recorded in the Archdeaconry of Wiltshire on 29 Aug 1684. His personalty was valued at £74/5/0. Sympson married on 1 Jan 1665.6 at Blithfield to Sarah c1642-.... eldest dau of Richard Harrison (Chancellor of Lichfield and prebendary of Lichfield Alrewas) c1611-1676 QV by whom he had at least 3 sons and 3 daughters. The marriage ceremony was conducted by his older brother John Sympson (vicar of Dronfield, Derbys) c1640-1669. In 1696 Sympson's widow and three of their children were living at Lichfield in the household of her mother Elizabeth Harrison.

Francis Tallents M.A. (presbyterian joint minister of Lichfield St Mary) 1619-1708
Tallents, born in Nov 1619 at Pilsley, was a son of Philip Tallents of Pilsley in North Wingfield, Derbys c1589-a1634. On his father's death he was placed in the guardianship of his uncle Francis Tallents (vicar of Tibshelf, Derbys). He was educated at Mansfield Free School, Notts and Newark Free School, Notts. He studied at Cambridge where on 14 May 1636 he was admitted as a sizar at Peterhouse and matriculated in 1637 but later migrated to Magdalene College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1640.1 (M.A., 1645). In 1642 he travelled to France as tutor to the sons of the earl of Suffolk and on his return became a fellow, senior fellow, president and tutor of Magdalene. On 29 Nov 1648 he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by the 3rd London Classis at London St Mary Woolnoth "to the work of the ministry in the University of Cambridge, as Fellow of Magdalen College". Perhaps later in 1648 he was appointed presbyterian joint minister of Lichfield St Mary vicarage by the Committee for plundered ministers (together with Richard Clayton ?1595-1669 QV). Here he received an augmentation of £150 to his annual salary. On 24 Jun 1649 he received a quarterly payment of £37.50. He may have left office shortly afterwards. On 6 Oct 1649 he was empowered by Cambridge university to "preach in all parts of England or Ireland, without licence from the Ordinaries". In 1650 he was minister of Chesterton vicarage, Cambs. In Nov 1652 after a request from the parishioners he was appointed presbyterian minister of Shrewsbury St Mary parochial chapelry. Here he sometimes received an augmentation of £50 to his annual salary of £150. He was also appointed Shrewsbury town's public preacher with a salary of £130. He was an assistant commissioner for Shropshire on the Commission for the ejection of ignorant, scandalous, insufficient or negligent ministers and schoolmasters (formed on 28 Aug 1654). In 1656 Tallents was moderator in a dispute regarding infant baptism between Thomas Porter c1599-1657 (minister of Whitchurch, Salop) and one Haggar an anabaptist. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. He continued to attend services at St Mary as a layman. In 1662/3 he was twice imprisoned in Shrewsbury castle for illegal preaching. On 16 Feb 1663.4 he was said to be living in Little Britain, London and collecting money for ejected Shropshire ministers, on 20 Dec 1664 preaching at Three Pigeons, Cannon Street and in 1669 preaching at Wirksworth, Derbys in the house of John Gell of Hopton. From Feb 1670.1 to Jul 1673 he toured Europe as tutor to two young gentlemen returning in 1673 having kept an exact journal of the trip. That year he returned to Shrewsbury and together with John Bryan held presbyterian meetings at the house of the widow of Colonel Hunt a member of parliament. About 1683 meetings in Shrewsbury were suppressed and he was forced to leave. However in Jun 1685 his third wife died suddenly on a visit to Shrewsbury and whilst attending her funeral he was arrested - suspected of supporting the Duke of Monmouth's rebellion against James II - and imprisoned at Chester castle. After release he lived in London for a short while. Following the Declaration of indulgence (for liberty of worship) (4 Apr 1687) he returned to Shrewsbury and was a minister (with John Bryan) at a meeting-house which opened in High Street on 25 Oct 1691. In 1693 Tallents successfully prosecuted a libeller at Shrewsbury assizes who had stated "Tallents is a Jesuit, and he has read mass at St Omer's" - a similar rumour had been in circulation for some 15 years. Tallents died, aged 89, on 11 Apr 1708 and was buried on 15 Apr at Shrewsbury St Mary (beside his first wife) He proposed that an inscribed monument would read ... "Reliquiae D. Francisci Tallents, Olim Col. Magd. Cant. Sen. Socij, Postea Concionatoris Publici in hac Ecclesia ab Ann. 1652. ad Aug. 24, 1662. Qui post varios Labores, expectans misericordiam Domini nostri Jesu Christi in vitam æternam tandem decessit, Anno Aetatis suae 89. Mense die." His will made on 15 Jul 1706 was proved under Lichfield on 30 Apr 1708. Tallents married first on 9 Jun 1653 at West Felton, Salop to Ann Lomax (d 1658) dau of Gervase Lomax; (niece of Samuel Hildersham (minister of West Felton, Shropshire) c1592-1674 and granddaughter of Arthur Hildersham minister) by whom he had 2 sons. He married second on 27 Nov 1661 to Martha Clive (d 1663) dau of Thomas Clive of Walford, Shropshire (no known children). He married third by licence dated 13 Dec 1673 to (a widow) Mary Greenhill of Harrow on the Hill, Middx c1633-1685) (no known children). He married fourth about 1668 to Elizabeth (d 1702) (no known children). Philip Tallents M.A. (vicar of Moulton, Lincs) c1631-1705 was a younger brother. For most of his adult life Tallents maintained interests in religion and science, corresponded with fellow academics and wrote several manuscripts. In 1684 he published A view of universal history ..., in 1705 A short history of schism ... and in 1706 another book on that topic. Calamy writes in 1702 that Tallents was "a good Scholar: A godly, blameless Divine, most eminent for extraordinary Prudence and Moderation, and Peaceableness towards all."

(29 Nov 1648) [London] Third Classis. Francis Tallents. ordained 29th November 1678 [Shaw (1900) II p405] ... He was solemnly ordained to the ministry at London, Nov. 29, 1648, in the parish church of St. Mary Wolnoth, by the third classical presbytery in the province of London, being called (so the letters of his ordination run) to the work of the ministry in the University of Cambridge, as Fellow of Magdalen College there; he is therefore solemnly set apart to the office of a preaching presbyter, and work of the ministry, with fasting, prayer, and imposition of hands. (1649) The University of Cambridge being authorized by Queen Elizabeth to choose every year twelve Doctors or Graduates, who should have power to preach in all parts of England or Ireland, without licence from the Ordinaries, Mr. Tallents was chosen one of them, and was so empowered by an instrument under the University seal, bearing date Oct. 6, 1649. [Henry (1885) p1054]
(1656) In the year 1656, there was a public dispute in the parish church of Ellesmere in Shropshire, between Mr. Porter (that eminent divine) minister of Whitchurch, and one Mr. Haggar, an anabaptist, concerning infant baptism, occasioned by a sermon Mr. Porter had preached on that subject at the lecture of Ellesmere: in which dispute, Mr. Tallents was pitched upon to be moderator. An account of that dispute was then printed, in which it appears, that as Mr. Porter abundantly confirmed the doctrine he had preached to the satisfaction of all indifferent persons, and plainly made out the right which the infant seed of believers have to baptism, and so did his part as a disputant, so Mr. Tallents did his as moderator, beginning and ending with prayer, and directing the progress of the dispute (which continued five hours) with prudence and candour, that is, like himself.

(1713) [548] Mr. Francis Tallents. M. A. He was born at Pelfley near Chefterfield in Derbyfhire in November 1619. He [549] was bred up at the publick Schools at Mansfield, and Newark; and at Sixteen Years of Age went to Cambridge. He was first of Peter Houfe, and afterwards of Magdalen College. About 1642 he travel d abroad as Tutor to the Sons of the Earl of Suffolk. He has often. faid that what he faw abroad of the Popifh Religion, and what Conference he had with its Advocates, added much to his Conviction of the Falfhood and Wickednefs of it, and confirmn'd him in the Proteftant Religion. Upon his return, he was chofen Fellow of Magdalen College: And was afterwards Senior Fellow, and Prefident or Vice Mafter of the College. He was a noted Tutor there; and among others, Sir Robert Sawyer, and Dr. Burton were his Pupils. He was folemnly ordain'd to the Miniftry at London, Nov. 29. 1648, by the third Claffical Presbytery in the Province of London. In 1652 he left the Univerfity, and went to Shrewsbury, where he became Minifter of St. Mary's; and his Labours were well accepted and ufeful. In 1656, he was Moderator, at a publick Difpute in the Church of Ellesmere in Shrepfhire, between Mr. Porter of Whitchurch, and Mr. Hagger an Anabaptist, about Infant Baptism; and he began and ended with Prayer, and directed the Progreis of the Dispute with great Prudence and Candour. Ar the Restoration in 1660, he with the rest of his Brethren was not a little pleas'd; and he made fome Advances towards a Compliance in Ecclefiastical Matters: But when he saw how Things were fix'd in 62, he could not come into the Church; but was neceffitated to quit his Place which was his Livelyhood and (which was more grievous to him and many others) his Work and Ufefulnefs which were bis Life. He oblery'd that before the Wars, the Puritani generally made a Shift to Conform and come into the Church, notwithftanding the hard Ufage they fore- faw they were likely to meet with : But to prevent this afterwards, the new Barriers or Fortifications were erected by the Act of Uniformity to keep them out: One was the Declaration that it is unlawful upon any Pre- tence whatfoever to take up Arms againft the King: And this Fort they that Erected it, about 26 Years after were oblig'd to quit as not Ten able. For when they had broke through it, by joining with thofe that took up Arms againft King Fam's, and fetting the Prince [550] of Orange upon the Throne, they filently took away that Declaration, both out of the Uniformity Act. and that of Corporations by an Act in the firft of King. William and Queen Mary; trufting to the other as fuf- cient to anfwer their Intention; which was the Declaration of an unfeigned Affent and Confent to all, and every thing contain'd in the Book entituled a Bockof Common Prayer &c. which Declaration ftill remains to many tender Confciences fuch an Objection againft Conformity, as they cannot get over. Mr.Tallents as long as he liv'd, observ'd Barthelomew-Day every Year, as a Day of Humiliation and Fasting, «Day to bring to Remembrance : And yet he was a Man of great Moderation. He lov'd good People of every Denominarion, and took all Occafions to wirnefs againft Bigotry on all fides. For the moft Part, he attended the publick Miniftry, and the Liturgy, a great while, Morning and Afternoon; and fell not into any conftant ftated Work for fome Years. In 1670 he travell'd into France a Tutor to two Young Gentlemen, Mr. Befcawen and Mr. Hampden, and fpent about two Years and an half abroad. The Former of the two, dy'd at Strasburgh, of the Small- Pox, to his great Grief. In 1673. he came back to Shretsbury, and join'd with Mr. Bryan in Preaching to a Congregation of Diffenters in thaty Town. In 1684. he publifh'd his Cronological Tables, under the Title of a View of Univerfal Hiftery. They are the Fruit of many Years Labour and Pains, and are the Exacteft of the Kindt hat are Extant. This was indeed one ofthe great- eft Performances of the Age, and will make his Name famous to Pofterity. In 1685, when Monmouth was in the Weft, he was fent Prifoner to Chefter Caftle; but upon his Defeat, he was releas'd, retir'd to London, and liv'd privately. Upon the Liberty given the Diffenters in 87 he returned to Shrewsbury, and continu'd his Minifterial Service there, in conjunction with Mr. Bryan. In King Williems time, Overtures being made towards a Comprehenfion, fome Gentlemen that great- ly valu'd his Judgment, fent for him to Lendon to dif- courfe with him concerning it; particularly concern- ing the Reordaining of fuch as were Ordain'd by Pres- byters. Upon mature Deliberation he declar'd he could not for his Part fubmir to it; and he drew up his Reafons at large, which are to be found among his Paper [551] Papers. He was much for Occafional Conformity, a a Token of the Charity we have for thofe whom w cannot ftatedly joyn with, long before fuch a Noif was made about it, with reference to Offices. In 1691 he entred into his new Place of Worfhip, built for tha Purpofe, and preach'd his firft Sermon there, or Tfaiab Ivii. 15. He caus'd it to be written on the Wall of the Meeting-place, that it was built not for a Facli on or Party; but for promsting Repentance and Faith, in communion with all that love cur Lord Fefus Chrift, in Sin cerity: And he added that Scripture with which the Frenel Churches ufually begin their Publick Worfhip : Ou Help ftands in the Name of the Lord, wbo made Heaven and Earth. * He dy'd on Lord's Day Evening April 1t. 1708 : In the 89th Year of his Age. He was bury'd on April 15, in St. Mary's Church. A Paper was found after his Death, appointing what Epitaph fhould be infcrib'd on his Grave-ftone, and expreffing the Year of his Life then Current; intimating, that he did not expect to outlive that Year. He alfo publijbed Hiftory of Schifm, for the premiting of Chriftian Moderation Communion of Saints, Sv°. 1705. Mr. Baxter's Character of him is, That he was a good Scholar, a godly blameless Divine; most eminent for extraordinary Prudence and Moderation, and Peaceableness towards all. And Mr. Henry adds, that he was the juft and righteous Man defcrib'd by Salomon, Prov. x. 31, 32. Whofe Mouth bringeth forth Wifdom. and whefe Lips knew what was acceptable, or appofite. He was once malicioufly calumniated as a Popifh Prieft; which fell out thus: Being at London in 1686, it fo bappen'd. i'd, that a Desk he had left at Shvewsbary was [552] open'd by miftake, in which, among other things, was a piece of an old white Damask Bed fcollop'd, and a plain pair of Slippers, and a Book, in which were enterr'd the Names of his Pupils in Magdalen-College. A malicious Fellow reported, that he faw in a Desk of Mr. Tallents's, fuch Veftments as Priefts fay Mafs in, full of Croffes and Images, and I know not what; and a Book, in which were the Names of fuch as were ad- mitted into the Order of Jefuits. When Mr. Tallents return'd and found this bafe Slander fpread to his Pre- judice, he had the Fellow before the Major, produc'd the Things that were found in the Desk, and fo con- victed him of Falfhood and Malice : But becaufe he was a poor Man, gave him no other Trouble but that of a Check from the Mayor. And yet there were thofe that would do all that they could to fupport the Slander; and one at length happen'd to fay, in the Company of divers, again and again, Tallents is a Ge- fuit, and be hath read Mafs at St. Omers, and I will prove it. There being full Evidence of it, Mr. Tallents was advis'd to bring an Action againft him, which he did : And it was try'd at Shrewsbury Affizes, in 1693 : and the Man was caft; but he being poor, the Jury brought in but 50 Shillings Damages, Having obtain'd a fight of the Paper mention'd above, drawn up by Mr. Tallents in 1689, when he was con- fulted about a Comprehenfion, I fhall here annex an Abridgment of it. (1727) SHREWSBURY: St Mary's: Mr. FRANCIS TALLENTS, M. A. At the End of the Account of him, pag. 555, let it be added : He alfo publifh'd fome few Confiderations upon Mr. S. G's large Anfwer to a fhort Hiftory of Schifm, and efpecially upon the new and bold Af-fertion, that there can be no Church or Salvation, in an ordinary Way, without a canonical Bifhop. What he here offers, may perhaps have been the Occafion of the Carriage of Mr. Dawes, who read the Burial Office over this good Man's Grave: He would not prefume to read over him in fure and certain Hope, but only in Hope. But ftill he well deferv'd Mr. Henry's Character, that he was very much a Gentleman, a Scholar, and a Chriftian, a great Admirer of Chrift and free Grace, and a Man of eminent Prudence and Heavenly-mindednefs. [Calamy 1727 (2) p722]

George Taylor M.A. (rector of Kingsley) 1578-1657
Taylor, christened on 30 Mar 1577.8 at Lichfield St Mary, was 2nd son of John Taylor of Lichfield c1544-.... He studied at Cambridge where about 1593 he was a pensioner at Queens' college and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1596.7 (M.A., 1600). In 1599 he was elected a fellow and served until 1608. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 15 Jan (or 27 Feb) 1606.7 when he was instituted rector of Kingsley. On 1 Aug 1608 he received a faculty office dispensation for plurality and on 8 Aug was, plurally, instituted rector of Darley north mediety, Derbys. Taylor appears to have remained living at Kingsley so as required may have appointed a stipendiary curate-in-charge at Darley. Here his successor was instituted on 26 Nov 1639. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued at Kingsley as compliant minister. On 20 Feb 1656.7 he signed a deed by which a new parish register (John Davenport) was appointed for Kingsley. About a fortnight later he died, aged 79, and was buried here on 12 Mar 1656.7. Taylor married about 1609 to Mary by whom he had 6 sons and 4 daughters. On 29 Sep 1645 George's younger brother John Taylor 1584-1645, sometime Bristol mayor and M.P. and a royalist Colonel, was killed at the siege of Bristol. George was his brother's heir and on 17 Oct 1646 was a party to a declaration of trust regarding John's property in Bristol, Somerset and Gloucestershire which was to pass to George's 1st son John - a merchant.

Henry Taylor (parochial curate of Barlaston) c1591-....
Taylor, born about 1591, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1609 he was a pensioner at St John's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. 1611.2 (M.A.) 1615. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before 24 Oct 1624 when (styled reader and preacher) he was probably appointed as parochial curate of Gayton and in 1627/8 was (? also) parochial curate of Stowe. By 1632 probably after presention by Sir Richard Leveson of Lilleshall, Salop K.B. c1598-1661 Taylor had been licensed as parochial curate of Barlaston. Leveson paid Taylor a salary of £10 pa. From 5 Feb 1643.4 Taylor continued here as compliant minister. On 27 Jun 1644 the Staffordshire parliamentary committee "understanding that the now minister Mr. Henry Tayler being a paynefull preacher and a deserving man" ordered that his salary be increased to £60. The augmentation was to be funded from the tithes sequestered from Leveson. On 25 May 1653 Taylor "begs for possession of the glebe lands, etc, in addition to the tithes of the rectory which had been settled on the minister in part payment of Leveson's fine." No further record has been discovered. On 19 Sep 1656 his successor Samuel Hall c1663-1665 was nominated as presbyterian minister. [This entry may confuse men of the same name.]

$John Taylor [? B.A.] (?compliant minister of Checkley) c1586-1659
Taylor, probably born about 1586 in Oxfordshire, is of unknown parentage. [? He studied at Oxford where on 5 Mar 1601.2 he was a "commoner" at University College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 9 Jun 1605.] Taylor was likely ordained deacon and priest. [? By 13 Dec 1643 Taylor was in office as ?compliant minister of Stafford garrison. On 15 Jan 1643.4 he was one of three men ordered by the Staffordshire parliamentary committee to "take exact view of the prisoners and returne unto the Committee the names and conditions of all that are wounded lame or very sick" and one of four men ordered to "call before them all suspected to be Malignants or that have no sufficient calling to stay in Towne, and do examine them and offer them the Protestation and Covenant, and use all other fitt meanes to discover theyr affections And that they forthwith see those that may be justly suspected to be put out of the Garison." On 2 Feb 1643.4 he was to have "a carpet of figured satten for his owne use". By 8 Mar 1644.5 his wife was living with him in Stafford and on 17 Apr 1645 the Committeee ordered that "in regard of his paynes in the ministery to us of the Committee and his practice in physick to the Souldiery [he] shall be allowed the summe of £100 per annum to be payed him quarterly by the Treasurer out of the Sequestration monies."] By 20 Nov 1645, after presentation by Richard Whitehall of Whitchurch, Salop "gentleman" c1590-.... (as ?guardian of his nephew John Whitehall of "Park Hall", Leigh esquire c1624-1684) he was in office as compliant minister of Checkley rectory and paid first fruits. Apparently a committed presbyterian, Taylor signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "John Taylor Minister of Gods Word at Checkley". On 28 Aug 1654 he was appointed an Assistant Commissioner for the ejection of scandalous ministers in Staffordshire. Still in office Taylor, died perhaps aged about 73, on 10 Sep 1659 and was buried in the chancel at Checkley on 14 Sep. An inscribed monument read(s) "Here lyeth the Body of John Taylor Minister of Checkley who died

Sept. 10. 1659". His will made on 7 Apr 1659 was proved under PCC on 7 Oct 1659. Taylor married about 1616 to Dorothy (d 1667) by whom he had 4 sons and 5 daughters. Nathaniel Taylor M.A. (rector of Checkley) c1637-1703 was probably his youngest son. [NB: When Taylor supplied information regarding the life of John Ball B.A. (parochial curate of Whitmore) 1585-1640 (who was born in Cassington, Oxon in 1585 and studied at Oxford from 1600 to 1604) he was described as "his Countrey-man, and of his most ancient acquaintance".]

John Taylor (parochial curate of Bilston and Tipton) 1620-1673 H125
Taylor, christened on 13 Aug 1620 at Blymhill, was a son of William Taylor of Blymhill c1590-.... and Alice. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman before Feb 1646 when he is said to have been in office as minister of Dudley vicarage, Worcs. In Jun 1660 he likely continued in office as de facto vicar. At Dudley he may have resigned before 24 Aug 1662 perhaps to avoid subscribing to the Act of uniformity. However he lived at Dudley for the rest of his life. He was presumably ordained deacon by 20 Jan 1662.3 when after probable presentation by the prebendary of Lichfield Pipa Minor then Henry Greswold c1628-1700 he was licensed parochial curate of Tipton. On 14 Apr 1663 he was also appointed reader of Tipton. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Tipton constablewick but was not assessed there. Taylor is said to have allowed his predecessor at Tipton - Richard Hinks c1622-.... (a congregationalist) - to live in the "parsonage house" and Hinks was assessed on 4 hearths that year. As a parochial chapelry Tipton would not have had a parsonage (as such) so that the house involved was probably the one mentioned in Taylor's will. Hinks had also been parochial curate of Bilston and Taylor appears to have also, jointly, succeded him here for in 1665 he also certified the hearth tax for Bilston constablewick but was not assessed there. At Bilston he was replaced in office before Aug 1668. In May 1673 still in office at Tipton Taylor committed suicide by hanging at his brother's house in Blymhill. He died, aged 53, and was buried at Blymhill on 24 May. His will made on 22 Nov 1671 (codicil, 13 Dec 1671) was proved under PCC on 10 Nov 1673. His personalty (? and realty) was said to be valued at £3,000. Taylor married first on 5 or 8 Jan 1658.9 at Dudley to Martha Wilmer daughter of Thomas Wilmer of Dudley, Worcs c1593-.... and Martha Dudley alias Tomlinson (b 1629) illeg. daughter of Edward Dudley 5th Baron Dudley 1567-1643 by whom he had 3 sons. He married second on 24 Sep 1666 at Dudley to Mary Payton daughter of Thomas Payton by whom he had 2 sons. In a codicil, dated 13 Dec 1671, to his will Taylor bequeathed a rentcharge of £1/5/0 (on "Cockshutt peece" in Sedgley) "for the advantage of learning in the newly erected Schole at Blimhill". In May 1673 Philip Henry (presbyterian minister) 1631-1696 made the following entry in his diary:

> (1673) May. In 1648, after the Civil War, when St. Edmund's Church had been demolished, the parish of St. Edmund and the parish of St. Thomas came together and St. Thomas's Church became the parish church. The church was in need of repair, and so people from both parishes ensured that the work was carried out. From then-on they all went to services at St. Thomas's. The vicar at the time was Mr. John Taylor who moved into the vicarage in February 1646 [INTERNET]

Nathaniel Taylor M.A. (rector of Checkley) c1637-1703 H126
Taylor, born about 1637, was probably youngest son of John Taylor (later presbyterian minister of Checkley) e1590-1659 and Dorothy. He studied at Cambridge where at Michaelmas 1654 he was a pensioner at St Catharine's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. 1657 (M.A., 1662). He was presumably ordained deacon and priest by Jan 1661.2 when he was in office as rector of Checkley and paid a clerical subsidy of £2. However it was only on 24 Jul 1662 after presentation by (his brother-in-law) John Whitehall of "Park Hall", Leigh esquire c1624-1684 that he was instituted. On 2 Aug 1662 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £70. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Madeley Holme constablewick (which lay in Checkley parish) and was assessed on 7 hearths at Tean constablewick (which included Checkley township). On 29 Aug 1695 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Pipa Parva (and installed 8 Nov). Still in both offices he died, aged about 66, and was buried on 2 Jan 1702.3 at Checkley. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 8 Feb 1702.3. Taylor married on 15 Nov 1658 at Checkley to Ann Whitehall (d 1679) third dau of James Whitehall (rector of Checkley) 1579-1645 by whom he had 2 daughters. His older daughter Elizabeth was the wife of John Sherratt (rector of Draycott-in-the-Moors) c1652-1721.

Thomas Tetlow (parochial curate of Calton) e1603-?1658 ?1633-?1658
Tetlow, born perhaps about 1603, was likely a son of John Tetlow (parochial curate of Calton) c1557-?1633. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) by 1633 when (after possible presentation by a group of local freeholders) he probably succeded John Tetlow in office as parochial curate of Calton. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister, was in office in 1651.2 and likely still in office when he probably died, aged perhaps about 53, shortly before 9 Aug 1658. Tetlow married about 1602 to Elizabeth by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter.

John Thacker B.A. (compliant minister of Gratwich) c1614-1669
Thacker, born about 1614, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Michaelmas 1631 he was a sizar at Magdalene College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1634.5. He was (presumably) ordained deacon and on 20 Sep 1635 ordained priest by Lichfield. From 1635 t0 1637 he was a stipendiary curate at Caverswall. On 22 Mar 1639 he was a stipendiary curate at Heage and also a schoolmaster at Duffield - both Derbyshire parishes about 5 miles apart. From 1646 he was compliant minister of Bolsterstone parochial chapelry, Yorks West Riding. By 1651.2 he was compliant minister of Gratwich parochial chapelry. In Jun 1660 he may have continued in office as de facto parochial curate but on 9 May 1661 married at Chellaston, Derbys where on 11 Aug 1662 he was a stipendiary curate and subscribed to the Act of uniformity. On 26 Aug 1663 after presentation by Philip Stanhope 2nd Earl of Chesterfield 1633-1713 he was instituted rector of Somersal Herbert, Derbys. Still in office he died, aged about 55, and was buried here on 19 Mar 1668.9. Thacker probably married on 7 May 1642 at Chellaston to Dorothy Goodwin (no known children) and ?second on 9 May 1661 at Chellaston to Ann Fitzherbert (no known children). Whilst in office at Somersal Herbert John Thacker funded repair of the parsonage and chancel and transcribed the early parish register book. His handwriting has been described as "most beautiful in ornamental characters but very legible and as regular as if printed off copper plate".

(7 May 1642, Chellaston) John Thacker & Dorothie Godwin
(9 May 1661, Chellaston) John Thacker, clerk, & Anna Fitzherbert

(1873) On the inside of the cover is the following inscription "Register of all weddings Christenings & Buriings which have been within the Parrish of Sommersall Herbert in the County of Derby since the 17th day of February in the yeere of our Lord God 1537 Transcribed Anno Domini 1663 by me John Thacker rector eodem tempore truly and perfectly according as I could read or find out the words in the old Register booke" Below this inscription is added in the same hand but at a later date the following observation "Quodcunque potest legi vel intelligi transcribitur Si quis plura quærit scrutari licet" From this it appears that Mr Thacker preserved the old Register booke for future reference if required but there is now no trace of it to be found Below the last inscription was some writing which has been almost entirely erased and then comes a notice of the transcriber's death "Johannes Thacker rector sepultus fuit Decimo nono Die Martii 1669" ... Mr Thacker's writing is most beautiful in ornamental characters but very legible and as regular as if printed off copper plate ... On the inside of the cover of the Register occurs the following note Disbursmt and Charges of me John Thacker minist of Somesall Herbert in repairing the Ruins and Dilapidations of the Parsonidge House and Chancell in the Yeere 1664 In the Yeere 1665 In the Yeere 1666 In the Yeeres 1667 1668 ... John Thomase (parochial curate of Arley, Staffs) e1600-1660
Thomase, born perhaps about 1600, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was (presumably) ordained deacon (? and priest) before about Jun 1629 when after presentation probably by the lord of the manor of Arley then Meriel Lyttelton c1565-1630 (widow of John Lyttelton of Frankley, Worcs esquire c1562-1601) he was licenced parochial curate of Arley. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. About 1657 he was assisted by "Mr Spilsbury" - probably John Spilsbury (presbyterian minister of Chetton, Salop) c1630-1699. Probably due to ill health he resigned before 28 Oct 1658 when his successor John Orford ?1639-.... QV was nominated by the Trustees for maintenance as presbyterian minister. He died, perhaps aged about 60, on 2 Mar 1659.60 and was buried at Arley on 4 Mar. Thomase married perhaps about 1630 to Mary (probably) by whom he had 5 sons and 2 daughters.

Revd Pelham-Thornman[sic] was the son of Revd Thomas Pelham-Thornman, who was vicar of Harlaston from 1904 to 1928. His brother, Frederick, was also a clergyman. Their father went on missions for two years at a time and his son, Frederick, would cover his post for him. At times, there would be father and son working at Harlaston and Edingale and at others, there would be the two brothers. Thomas junior had worked as a vicar in Western Australia - at Kookynie and Kanowna - before coming to Edingale. His wife was Australian and they had six sons. He continued his connections with Australia as he took six months leave of absence in October 1933 to visit that country. He left Edingale in May 1936 and returned with his family to Western Australia to work in Katanning. [INTERNET]

Thornton, born about 1619, was a son of Henry Thornton of Cropston in Thurcaston, Leics "gentleman"c1574-.... He studied at Oxford where on 24 Nov 1637 he was a student at Lincoln College and matriculated. He graduated B.A. on 7 Dec 1641. He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by about 1651.2 when he was appointed presbyterian minister of Ingestre rectory. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto rector. On 12 Jul 1662 he subscribed to the Act of uniformity and was ordained (? deacon and) priest by Lichfield on (the next day) 13 Jul 1662. On 16 Jul 1662 after presentation by Walter Chetwynd of Ingestre esquire 1598-1669 he was instituted rector. On 2 Dec 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £24. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Ingestre constablewick but was assessed on 2 hearths. Still in office he died, aged about 63, about May 1682. His nuncupative will made on 15 Apr 1682 was proved under Lichfield on 16 May 1682. His personalty was valued at £146/4/10 and included "his wareing apparrell Books and monies found by him £10". Thornton may not have married.

(Pattingham) In 1838 Adn Hodson reported to Bp Butler that 'the wretched incumbent was brought home drunk in a cart last Saturday night - is frequently seen lying in the roads in a state of intoxication - lives like a pig, in a poor house, with a pauper as his companion, in one room of a large vicarage house which is sadly out of repairs ... The parish registers have not been filled up for the last two or three years, and are lying about in all directions. ... Your lordship will judge how the duties are performed by a drunkard of sixty-seven.' Quoted Robinson, 1980, xxvi

Henry Tompson (parochial curate of Marston) e1611-1666 H128
Tompson, born perhaps about 1611, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He may be the man of this name who was presumably ordained deacon and on 8 Sep 1636 ordained priest by Lichfield. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. Between 1647 and 1653 he was ?compliant minister of Fradswell parochial chapelry and received an augmentation of £24 to his annual salary of £8. In 1659 he was styled "former minister". In early Jun 1660 he may not have been in an office. By 26 Sep 1662 after probable presentation by the rector of Stafford St Mary then Daniel Bayley c1599-1676 QV he was in office as parochial curate of Marston and then said to be "ill". In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Marston constablewick and was assessed on 1 hearth. Still in office he died, perhaps aged about 55, about Mar 1666 with burial requested in the churchyard at Sandon. His will made on 14 Feb 1665.6 was proved under Lichfield on 31 May 1666. His personalty was valued at £37/13/4 and included "For bookes £5". Tompson married on 1 Jul 1647 at Fradswell to Grace Priest (no known children).

Robert Tompson (parochial curate of Calton & Cauldon) c1612-1668 H129
Tompson, born about 1612, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon and on 4 Jun 1637 ordained priest by Lichfield. At some time after 11 Apr 1642 he was appointed parochial curate or compliant minister of Waterfall independent parochial chapelry where he was in office in Jan 1651.2. Here he probably resigned before 9 Aug 1658 when (after possible presentation by a group of local freeholders) he was in office as compliant minister of Calton. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto parochial curate and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. He had subscribed to the Act of uniformity before 1 Sep 1662. By 1 Aug 1665 he was also, jointly, in office as parochial curate of Cauldon. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Cauldon constablewick but was not assessed at Calton or Cauldon. Still in both offices he died, aged about 56, and was buried on 10 May 1668 at Waterfall. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 24 Nov 1668. A note in his inventory reads "We vewed his books & we adiudge they may be worth about £10". Tompson married about 1649 to Susanna (d 1672) by whom he had 2 sons.

William Tompson (?presbyterian minister of Dilhorne) e1617-....
Tompson, born perhaps about 1617, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1647 when he was appointed by parliament as ?presbyterian minister of Weston-upon-Trent independent parochial chapelry and on 28 Oct signed the parish register. On 11 Feb 1646.7 the Committee for plundered ministers granted him augmentations of £30 and £17 to his annual salary of £6/8/8. Probably on 24 Jun 1650 he was appointed presbyterian minister of Dilhorne vicarage. Here he received an augmentation of £4/13/4 (later £19) to his salary of £40. About Mar 1657.8 he was succeded in office. Tompson married about 1647 to Helen by whom he had 1 son and 4 daughters.

In Jun 1650 he became vicar of Dilhorne (q.v). On 11 Feb 1646.7 the committee for plundered ministers found that the vicarage here was worth only £6/8/8 pa, so it granted to the minister the tithes not exceeding £30 pa from this impropriate rectory, also the tithes not exceeding £17 pa of Anderton meadow, both being sequestered from George Walker, farmer thereof under Walter Fowler, both papists and delinquents (S. Orders for the payment of this augmentation were issued by the trustees on 4 Feb 1651.2 and 3 Mar 1651.2. On 17 Feb 1653.4 the trustees made him a further grant of £14/6/8, which was to be paid by Mr James Hunt, receiver. (Sion MS p497; LMS 975 p351; 978 p625; 976 p331). Toogood, born about 1633, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Oxford where on 8 Jun 1649 he was a student at St John's College and may have been appointed sexton of the college. On 27 Feb 1650.1 he was a servitor and then matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 7 Mar 1653.4. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman (? about 1656) when, probably after appointment by St John's College, he was in office as presbyterian minister of Bloxwich independent ~~parochial curacy~~ and thus master of Bloxwich endowed school. In Jun 1660 he may have continued in office as de facto parochial curate and was in office in Jan 1661.2 when he paid a clerical subsidy of 5/0. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to The act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. No further record has been discovered.

It was designed by Henry Wilson in the style of the Arts and Crafts movement. Building started in 1895 and the church was consecrated in 1898. John Torbock (vicar of Wednesbury) 1641-1707
Torbock, born on 21 Mar 1640.1 at London St Michael Crooked Lane and christend at London St John the Evangelist Friday Street, was second son of Thomas Torbock of London merchant-taylor e1598-.... He was educated at London Merchant Taylors School where he was admitted in 1648 and left in 1658. He studied at Oxford where on 2 Jul 1658 he was a (Merchant Taylors) scholar at St John's College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. in 1662 (M.A., 1666). After graduation Torbock became a fellow of St John's but in 1663 was granted leave at the request of John Hacket (bishop of Lichfield). He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 16 Jun 1663 when after presentation by the Crown he was instituted vicar of Wednesbury and on 29 Jun appointed as a schoolmaster there. He likely resigned both offices before 23 Nov 1664 when a successor was instituted vicar. On 16 Jun 1666 he resigned his fellowship. In 1670 he was instituted rector of Ludgershall, Wilts. Still in office he died, aged 66, and was buried there on 17 Apr 1707. Torbock married perhaps about 1666 to Hester (d 1701) by whom he had 2 sons and 1 daughter. John Torbock B.A. (vicar of Ellingham, Hants) 1671-1738 was his first son. [NB: John Torbock M.A. (vicar of Hanney, Berks) c1639-.... was a contemporary clergyman.]

John Toye (parochial curate of Bobbington) e1608-.... H131
Toye, born perhaps about 1608 (? in Staffordshire), was probably a son of William Toye of Enville yeoman c1574-1650. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He is not known to have been ordained as a deacon or priest but was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by about Mar 1645.6 when he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Bobbington. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto parochial curate and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 31 Oct 1662. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Bobbington constablewick but was not assessed there. He may have been living with (? his brother) Humphrey Toye who was assessed on 1 hearth at the adjacent parish of Enville. Toye may not have married. No further record (of him or his family) has been discovered. [NB: John Toy M.A. (vicar of Stoke Prior, Worcs) c1611-1663 was a contemporary clergyman.]

Andrew Tristram (presbyterian minister of Clent) 1628-1682
Tristram, christened on 18 Nov 1628 at Belbroughton, was a son of Thomas Tristram (rector of Belbroughton, Worcs) 1580-1640 and (his 2nd wife) Ann (Blicke). He studied at Cambridge where on 19 Oct 1646 he was admitted sizar at Emmanuel College and in 1647 matriculated but is not known to have graduated. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 14 Jan

1649.50 when he was presented by the Commissioners of the great seal as presbyterian minister of Clent vicarage. On 14 Jun 1650 the C*ommittee for plundered ministers* granted him an augmentation of £50 to his annual salary of £40. Between 1653 and 1656 he was a member of the Worcestershire Association. On 20 Jun 1654 he was also appointed register of Clent. He presumably resigned at Clent before 10 Sep 1656 when he was appointed presbyterian minister of Bridgnorth St Leonard rectory. About Sep 1660 he continued here as de facto rector but on 24 Aug 1662 did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. At Bridgnorth a weekly presbyterian conventicle was established in his house. In Nov 1663 at the time of the Bridgnorth Fair the bailiffs "desired him to forbear [preaching], and he did so". On 5 Nov 1667 he was created an extra-licentiate of the College of Physicians and is said to have subsequently practised as a physician. On 5 Sep 1672 he was licensed as a presbyterian teacher at his own house at Bridgnorth. Tristram died, aged 54, on 20 Apr 1682 and was buried on 26 Apr in the chancel at Bridgnorth St Leonard where a monument was erected. His will made on 22 Feb 1681.2 was proved under PCC on 10 Feb 1682.3. Tristram married on 17 Dec 1650 at Clent to Alice Cox dau of William Cox (of Clent) 1584-.... by whom he had 4 sons and 6 daughters. Benjamin Tristram (vicar of Fillongley, Warwicks) c1673-1713 was his youngest son. Tristram wrote in his will [to my] "sonne Benjamin my best desk and my best bible and large Concordance and in case hee shall by Gods blessing bee fitt and educated in the profession of Divinitie Law or Phisicke then and not otherwise I give him all th rest of my bookes". In 1654 Tristram made this entry in Clent parish register:

> Upon ye Martyrdrome of King Charles ye first, who was beheaded Jan. 30th, 1648. "Greate. just & good, could I but sate |my teares wth thy too rigid fate. | I'de weepe the worle to such a strain | tht it should deluge once againe " O ridicula caput to p'fer birth before Baptism. Bes. ye Church of England comands ye Baptisms of Infants to be Register' d; thou in oppo'on to it, wilt Register their Births: O brave reforma'on. 1654 O tempora! O moris.

The first independent Congregational church in Bridgnorth of which we have a record was founded in 1662 when Rev. Andrew Tristram MA resigned the living of St Leonard's Church "for conscience sake" as a result of the Corporation Act of 1661 and the Act Of Uniformity of 1662 following the restoration of King Charles II. [INTERNET]
Andreas Tristram, pastor Ecclesiae de Clent (since 1844 Worcs., but then Staffs.): in 1656 removed to St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, Salop; ejected; lic. as Presb. 1672; d. 1682: C.R. [WA1653 WA1654 WA1655 WA1656 RB] [Nuttall (1950)]
(1915) 7 Tristram. Perhaps matriculated 1647 at Cambridge (Venn). Some uncertainty as to the length of his vicariate. Occurs Jan 1649, resigned 1657 (Amphett). In a list of the members of the Worcestershire Association he occurs twice, first as "pastor of the church at Clent," second as "minister of Bridgnorth." (Shaw, II p455) Either there were two ministers of this name, or he held both these cures c1653-7 or more probably the first description refers to cMay 1653, the second to Nov 1655 (see next note). Became minister of Bridgnorth, whence ejected 1662, though still living there in 1673. (Calamy under Bridgnorth and Foster under Benj Tristram). As minister of Clent he was granted on 14 Jun 1650 by the committee for plundered ministers an augmentation of £50 pa from the impropriate rectory of Clent, sequestered from Mr Chambers papist or recusant and delinquent, as his maintenance was but £40. On 29 Nov 1650 this order was discharged and in place thereof £50 pa was granted to him from the impropriate rectory of Rowley Regis, sequestered from Sir Miles Hubbert. All arrears of these grants ordered to be paid him on 19 Nov 1651. (BodlMS 327 p480, 486; 328 p364) Tristram is not mentioned by Auden. [SHC 1915 p66]

(1934) TRISTRAM, ANDREW. Curate of St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, Salop. 1662.Adm. 10 Sept. 1656. Successor licensed 1662. (L. 968. 52: Bodl. Blakeway MS. 14. 34b: Cal. 565.) Emmanuel, Camb., adm. 1646, as of Worcestershire: mc. 1647. V. of Clent, Staffs., presented under Great Seal 14 Jan. 1649-50 (Add. MS. 36792. 4). Member of Worcestershire Association 1655. A letter from Bridgnorth, 4 Nov. 1663, stated that the Presbyterians had a weekly conventicle at Tristram's, that there was a great resort thither on account of the fair: as he was preaching the bailiffs desired him to forbear, and he did so (C.S.P.D.). Extra-licentiate of College of Physicians 5 Nov. 1667 (Munk, i, 355). Licensed (P.) at his house, Bridgnorth, 5 Sept. 1672. Died 20 April 1682, buried in chancel of St. Leonard's, m.i. Will, as of Bridgnorth, 22 Feb. 1681-2: P.C.C. 10 Feb. 1682-3. Copyhold at Clent. Wife Alice (d. 1707): son Benjamin (took Anglican orders, see Al. Oxon.): £100 each to 5 daughters, Abigail, Rebecca, Elizabeth, Mary, and Tabitha. [Calamy Revised (1934) p493]
In 1689 a licence was issued for Andrew Tristram's house to be used for meetings; it was renewed in 1694 and again in 1695. In 1709 a licence was issued for the building of a Presbyterian Chapel. When freedom of worship was granted the members built a chapel on Stoneway Steps. Andrew Tristram never did see this chapel for he died in ~~1706, three years before it was built.~~ This deed is dated 2nd August 1709, and described the purchase as: 'All that messuage cottage or tennements, with all the gardens there unto adjoining and belonging, on the North side of Stoneway the which John Wilson hath lately purchased from Mr.Thomas Woolastone, and Annie, his wife together with the new building there upon erected' [INTERNET]

*__Lemuel Tuke (compliant minister of Tipton St John, Staffs) e1587-1670__
Tuke, born perhaps about 1587 probably in Essex, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. In 1617 he married and may then have been at work as a weaver. On 8 Jun 1623 he was ordained deacon and on 21 Dec 1623 ordained priest (both) by Peterborough at Peterborough. In Oct 1628 after presentation by Arthur Capell of "Rayne Hall", Rayne, Essex later 1st Baron Capell 1604-1649 he was instituted vicar of Greasley, Notts. In 1633 he refused to pay a subsidy of 6/8. At Easter 1635 he was ordered to read the Book of sports the next Sunday but was then absent. From about this time until 15 Aug 1637 whether Tuke was at home or away the cure was served by two stipendiary curates-in-charge: his brother Ephraim Tuke c1594-1636 and another clergyman. In 1636 at a York visitation it was said that "the Communion Table is not railed about ... [Tuke] doth read all prayers without answer given .. [and refused] to Christen a Child half a year old" and on 12 Sep 1637 at Nottingham he was suspended because he came to court "in a white Cap and without a Canonical Coat". All these charges came before the Chancery Court on 22 Sep when Tuke stated that he read service according to the Book of common prayer; made responses himself because the clerk and congregation did not answer, but had never forbidden, them; had sometimes omitted the Litany; had sometimes omitted to wear a surplice, especially during the last month when he had officiated himself; and that his priest's cloak had scorched while drying. Tuke submitted himself to correction and was to conform and certify on 1 Dec. He was absent that day and again on 13 Apr 1638. The court's response is not of record. On 27 Aug 1638 at a church court Tuke was accused of "administring the Communion to strangers sitting, for not wearing the surplisse and for not using the signe of the Crosse in Baptisme". Initially the judge decreed that he should be suspended but after further consultation with Tuke the case was dismissed. For a six month period in early 1639 Tuke claimed not to have been paid and is said to have refused to serve as minister. During this time there was a dispute about the church fence which caused Tuke to take legal action in August. At Nottingham in Dec 1639 Tuke and his churchwardens were presented after communion was given to a man sitting. If Tuke was still in office in Feb 1643.4 he probably refused to sign the Solemn league and covenant and was removed. In 1641 Tuke was apparently living in Bocking, Essex where on 13 Oct one of his daughters was buried. Probably that year he is said to have caused controversy by preaching and speaking things derogatory to the Book of common prayer. He was indicted and appeared at the Essex quarter sessions at Easter 1642. About Jun 1642 he was appointed a lecturer at Rayne, Essex where Edward Symons M.A. c1604-1649 was rector. Rayne was the home of Arthur Capell (above) who had earlier presented Tuke at Greasley. Walker wrote in 1714 that Symons said of Tuke that he is "in brief, by Education a Weaver, of no University, yet one that hath a Charge of Souls in Nottinghamshire, from which, ever since the Parliament began, he hath been a constant Non-Resident: For his Parish then framed a Bill against him to the House of Commons, Articling him to be Negligent and Insufficient in his Place, to be guilty of Barrettry and Battery, to be Famed of Drunkenness, Whoredom, and divers other such (as they are now accounted in some) small Offences; upon which he fled the Country into our Parts: And being more suitable to the Temper of my People, than I am, they made choice of him; among whom he Blasphemeth God's holy Word, Preacheth Sedition and Rebellion, telleth in the Pulpit many foolish Lyes and ridiculous Tales, bawleth against the Reverend and Learned Ministers of the Country, and Raileth upon the Worshipful Gentry, and so many ways he Poisoneth the Souls of them that are Committed to my Cure, which is my greatest Grief of all ..." In 1643 or later Tuke was compliant minister of Steeple, Essex when the Committee for plundered ministers ordered five persons before them for "abusing Lemuel Tuke, in his officiating the cure." In Aug 1648 after selection by the inhabitants he was appointed compliant minister of Tipton independent parochial chapelry where he was still in office about Jan 1651.2 but probably left office later in 1652. On 16 Jul 1658 he was said to be compliant minister of Sutton-in-Ashfield parochial chapelry, Notts (about 6 miles north of Greasley) when the Commission for approbation of public preachers granted him an augmentation of £20 to his annual salary. A few days later they granted the augmentation to "such godly and able preachers of the Gospel as shallbe from time to time seem firmly settled Minister there". On 25 Mar 1659 Tuke apparently paid tenths for the previous six months. On 1 Nov 1659 Ann Mason of Sutton (d 1669) made a will in which she bequeathed £2 to Tuke and £1 to "Jacobus Haynes to preach my Funeral Sermond". If Tuke was in office at Sutton on 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Calamy writes in 1713 "Sutton, in Ashfield. Mr. Tuke. An ancient blind Man: Congregational in his Judgment." In Oct 1663 two men from Selston were presented for going to conventicles at Sutton held by "Old Mr Tuke". Apparently still living at Sutton Tuke died, aged about 83, and was buried there on 9 Jun 1670. Tuke married on 28 Jan 1616.7 to Winifred Upney by whom he had 3 sons and 3 daughters. Ephraim Tuke c1594-1636 (above) sometime stipendiary curate at Saundby, Notts was a ?younger brother.

(1732) Mr. Edward Symmons, Parson of Rayne in Essex, in the Months of June and July, 1642. Preached against the sin of Rebellion and Disobedience, ... one Lemuel Tuke is appointed Lecturer in Master Simmons his Church, a man by education a Weaver, and that had not so much as saluted either University, yet while men slept he intruded into a Cure of Souls in Nottinghamshire, from which ever since the the Parliament began he hath been a Nonresident: for not long after the sitting of this Parliament, his Parishoners framed a Bill against him to the Lower House, Articling against him, not only as negligent, but insufficient in his calling: Nay they accuse him of no less than Barretry and Battery, Drunkenness and Whordom, and some such other sins, which in the judgment of all honest men, make a man truly and properly scandalous: yet this man thus Articled against to the House of Commons as Scandalous, is thought worthy to be substituted as a Coadjutor in Mr. Simmons his Cure ... Thirdly, having preached that it was unlawful to take up Arms against the King, and contrary to the Doctrine of the Scriptures to contribute to a War against him, in opposition to Lemuel Tuke, who laboured to poison his People with Sedition and Rebellion, affirming openly, that in some Cases it was lawful not only to Resist, but (which I tremble to relate) to kill the King; instancing in the example of Athaliah, 2 King. 11. yet the said Tuke is

(The additional charge doubtless resulted from information laid by the father of the child. The articles and replies show Tuke had been absent in London and there had been a misunderstanding about the Baptism.) 22 Sept. (Chancery A.B.), sworn. In his answers stated that for two years previously up to 15 Aug. his place had been supplied by 2 curates, one of them his brother (now dead), both when he was at home and away. (2021) (1639) Likewise, in 1639, the puritan Lemuel Tuke, vicar of Greasley, was reported, along with his churchwardens who did not present it, to have given communion to a man while he sat. In this latter case, the man who ratted on Tuke and the Greasley churchwardens hailed from Arnold. ... A fencing issue had developed at Greasley probably due to vicar Lemuel Tuke's alleged refusal to perform his duties for several months early in 1639. [Tuke claimed that he had received "nothing" for his services for half a year.] That is, the general patterns of church life and upkeep had probably been temporarily allowed to decline. Given the hostile tone of the churchwardens' bill from January explaining these circumstances, it is also possible that Tuke's August bill describing the fencing problem was intended as revenge; it was not the first, nor would it be the last, acrimonious dispute between Tuke and his churchwardens. (3 Aug 1619) Ephraim Tuke, literate, to receive orders from any bishop within the kingdom of England [Paver's Marriage licences[sic]]
TUKE Ephraim. Easter Visitation 1635 (PB 341) 'our clerk', Weds. and Fris. Non-graduate. C Sandby in 1632 (but not lic. until 2 Nov.)-1635. C. Greasley 1635; buried there, 'schoolmaster', 20 April, 1636. Brother of next. [The Puritans and the Church Courts in the Diocese of York, 1560-1642]
(2021) ... the puritan Ephraim Tuke, curate of Saundby, in 1627 reported that one John Nodder "violently struck me and threatened to knock out my brains" and did so again two weeks later. Apparently, Nodder was upset with Tuke for having brought charges against him, though Tuke claims he had forgiven the same by the time of the incidents. In the same year, Tuke presented a man for calling him a "villaine and Rascaldly knave" and another for disobeying his commands to deliver a letter to the court by instead throwing it into a "dike in Heaton Lane" to which he bade Tuke go and search for it. In 1634, Tuke presented a former churchwarden for delivering false information about the church bells, claiming they had only one good bell, and for calling Tuke a "base lying fellow" in front of members of the congregation. Tuke's most extensive run-in came in 1635, when he reported that William Nailor had slandered him and threatened that if he had Tuke out of doors he "would so bang my cote as I was neuer bangd in my life." At this point, allegedly, another man entered the house and took Nailor's side, saying to Tuke, "what the diuell wilt thou doo thou base rogue thou shitten rascally knaue thou pilld preist." ...
(1635) Even the puritan curate of Saundby, Ephraim Tuke, appealed to the official of the archdeaconry. In a presentment drawn up by Tuke in 1635 against a man and his brother in law for allegedly calling Tuke a "base rascally priest lowsye slaue," Tuke describes replying that he would "have the Official deal with them." To this, the men allegedly replied, "'the deuills turd in the officialls teeth and a plague of god goe with you both." ... . Gamaliel Tunstall B.A. (presbyterian minister of Shenstone) ?1629-1668

Tunstall, (? christened on 1 Nov 1629 at Repton), was probably a son of of James Dunstall of Repton, Derbys c1599-.... He studied at Oxford where in Apr 1649 he was admitted as a servitor at Oriel College but may not have matriculated. He then studied at Cambridge where on 20 Jun 1651 he was admitted as a sizar at Peterhouse. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1653. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 20 Jul 1655 when he was approved by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister of Shenstone vicarage. On 6 Apr 1659 he signed the parish register book as “vicar and register”. About Nov 1660, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), William Grace M.A. ?1609-1699 QV was displaced from Rearsby, Leics but then restored as vicar of Shenstone thus displacing Tunstall - if still in office – for Calamy records in 1713 that " [Tunstall] was not a Non conformist but Ejected for a scandalous Life." Tunstall may have been ordained deacon (? and priest) before 1662 when he was appointed head schooomaster of Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Leics and on 26 Sep 1664 also appointed a lecturer at Ashby by Lincoln. Still in both offices Tunstall, died, aged about 39, and was buried on 14 Jan 1667.8 at Lockington, Leics. The burial entry reads “Gamaliel Tonstal[sic] Clerk who was drowned when he was the Schoolmaster at Ashby de la Zouch”. Tunstall may not have married.

$Christopher Turner M.A. (rector of Grindon) c1611-1675 H132
Turner, born about 1611, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where about Oct 1626 he was a pensioner at Jesus College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1629.30 (M.A., 1633). He was ordained deacon and on 13 Mar 1635.6 ordained priest by Lichfield. In 1636 he was appointed a stipendiary curate at Cheadle where he was still in office in 1639. On 25 Apr 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers appointed him compliant minister of Grindon rectory (following consultations with parishioners ordered by them in Feb 1645.6). Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Christopher Turnor de Grindon". In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto rector and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £2 and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 12 Aug 1662. In 1665 the rectory was valued at up to £60. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Grindon constablewick (which included Blore Ray parish) and was assessed on 3 hearths at Grindon township. Turner appears to have presented and appointed himself, jointly, as parochial curate of Onecote where he was in office in 1665. Still in office at Grindon (and perhaps at Onecote) he died, aged about 64, in Aug 1675. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 21 Aug 1675. His personalty was valued at £150/2/8 and included (some books) "Part of a plundred Library £5". Turner married perhaps about 1650 to a woman by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. Philip Turner B.D. (vicar of Stow-cum-Quy, Cambs) c1651-1685 was his only son. Turner qua rector of Grindon was patron of the parochial chapelry of Onecote (served by himself).

"The Rev. Daniel Turner M.A. died the 11th Oct 1789 and ws buried the 14th aged 80 yrs. He was curate of Meerbrook, Quarnford and Rushton upwards of fifty yrs" [Rushton PR]

(Rushton) The perpetual curate appointed in 1750, Daniel Turner, was also curate at Meerbrook, in Leekfrith, and at Flash in Quarnford, in Alstonefield. He lived at Meerbrook, where he died in 1789. [VCH]

It was appropriate now for Joseph [Gent] to marry, which he did in 1757, just two years later. His wife was Mary Turner, twenty years old, five years younger than himself, and the eldest child of the local clergyman, the Rev. Daniel Turner and his wife Elizabeth, née Potts, also a local girl--her parents farmed at Fairburrows, a farm between Leek and Rushton. They had married on 14th November, 1736. A year later the Potts'[sic, for Turner's] daughter Mary was born, on 10th November, 1737, and baptised at Rushton, very near to Meerbrook, and a parish also cared for by the Turners. [INTERNET]

William Turton B.A. (presbyterian minister of Rowley Regis) 1636-1716 G42
Turton, christened on 1 Jan 1635.6 at Oxford St Martin, was 1st son of William Turton of Oxford ironmonger c1598-1643 and (his 1st wife) Judith. He studied at Oxford where on 26 May 1653 he was a servitor at Brasenose College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 15 Jan 1656.7 (? M.A.). He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 26 Feb 1657.8 when he was admitted as presbyterian minister of Rowley Regis dependent parochial chapelry. About 1658/9 he received an augmentation of £10 to his annual salary. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto parochial curate. He was presented on 17 Jul 1662 for baptising children at Halesowen and churching women there in private houses without leave of the rector. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. In 1669 he was one of seven teachers of conventicles at the houses of William Bayley, William Keeling and William Penson in Darlaston which attracted 100-200 worshippers, and, one of three teachers of conventicles at the houses of Henry Hopkins and John Tunck in Wednesbury which attracted 200-300 worshippers. As of Rowley Regis about Apr 1672 he applied to be licensed as a presbyterian teacher at the houses of William Keeling of Darlaston and John Wade of Stafford and was so licensed on 1 May. On 13 May he was also licensed at the house of Joseph Wade of Stafford. In 1688 he was preaching at Nantwich, Cheshire. By 1689 he had moved to Birmingham where his house was certified as a meeting place. On 6 Jul 1689 a chapel at Birmingham (later known as Birmingham Old Meeting House) was licensed in the names of William Turton, Thomas Baldwin (presbyterian minister of Clent) c1627-.... QV and William Fincher (presbyterian minister of Wednesbury) c1630-1691 QV. Turton was appointed the first pastor and held office until his death. The Common Fund survey of dissenting ministers taken about 1690 has under Staffordshire the entry "Ministers that have a Competent Supply - Mr Wm Turton - [ejected Minister] Of Rowley - but the entry is scored out. Another entry has "Mr Turton ... Att Birmingham of another Congregation well provided for". Between 1706 and 1711 he also preached at Oldbury, Worcs for which he received £4 from the Common Fund. Turton may have retired from active duties about 1712. Later on 17 Jul 1715 Birmingham Old Meeting House was wrecked by a Jacobite mob. Turton died, aged 80, and was buried on 27 April 1716 at Birmingham St Martin. His will made on 12 May 1714 was proved under PCC on 10 Jul 1716. Turton married on 12 Jul 1659 at West Bromwich to Margery Grove (b ?1734) dau of (? Thomas Grove of Rowley Regis gentleman 1607-....) and Margery by whom he had 5 sons and 2 daughters. Samuel Turton (presbyterian minister of Kenilworth Rosemary Hill, Warwicks) c1677-1727 was his youngest son. Turton's father William was 1st son of John Turton of Rowley Regis yeoman c1570-a1635 who bequeathed his oldest son William property in Oldbury and "five pounds to bee imploied or bestowed to the use or maintenance of a teacher to teach Gods word in the Chappel of Oldburie" (where William jnr later preached). John had a 2nd son John Turton of "The Brades", Rowley Regis yeoman 1610-1690 whose house was licensed for presbyterian worship on 5 Sep 1672. In his will John jnr is said to have mentioned "my kinsman" William Turton clerk.

Returns, 1669, report him as one of the preachers “to 2 or 300” persons at two houses in Wednesbury, Staff.; also to “1 or 200” persons at various houses in Darlaston, Staff.; ~~also to “above 300” persons at various houses in Walsall, Staff~~. Licensed, 1[?] May 1672, as “‘ Pr. Teacher in Wm Keeling’s howse,”’ Darlaston ; also, 13 May 1672, as “ Pr. Teacher in the howse of Joseph Wade in Stafford.” In 1688 he was preaching at Nantwich, but soon became Minister in Birmingham, first as colleague to William Fincher [q.v.], later as sole Minister in the Old Meeting-house, built in 1689. In 1702 Daniel Greenwood [q.v.] became his colleague. On 17 July 1715 the Old Meeting-house was wrecked by a Jacobite mob. Turton retired from active duty at Birmingham (perhaps in 1712); he preached also at Oldbury (now in Staff.) for which he received from the Fund £4 a year (1706-11). £6 a year was paid for Turton at Oldbury, 1712-22, but this Turton must have been his son, Samuel, Minister at Kenilworth, 1700-1728. The Turvill and Craft families who held a knight's fee as tenants of the Earl of Warwick in 1235 were represented in 1313 by Robert Turvill, William Charneles, and the heirs of Hugh de Herdeberewe, holding as sub-tenants of John de Hastings, the latter two parties being descended from the de Crafts through female lines. The manor thus became divided into two parts; in 1330 Robert de Turvill leased a moiety of the manor, except for certain lands, to his brother Master Philip de Turvill for his life. Oliver de Turvill and William Charneles are mentioned as tenants in 1346–7, and in 1361 Robert de Lymeseie, presumably representing the Turvills, and Joan de Charneles were tenants, the immediate overlord in this case being John de Moubray of Axholme, who may have been a guardian during the minority of John, Earl of Pembroke. The descent of the Turvill moiety then becomes obscure. [VCH (Bedworth)]

Mr. Twigg's name will be long remembered in connection with S. James' Church, Wednesbury, as a very zealous, hard working, and successful Parish Priest, where he lived and ministered in an atmosphere neither pleasant nor healthy, for 26 years. He was curate under Mr. Cole, the first incumbent, for three years, and then his successor, being instituted on 15th December, 1856. His parishioners were mostly of the artisan class, by whom he was regarded with affectionate respect, and over whom he had great influence for good. He was instrumental in recovering to the Church many who had wandered from her fold. S. James' Church was one of the few in this part of the Diocese in which Daily Prayer was said, and the Fasts and Festivals of the Church duly observed, so long as 40 years ago. He died on the 15th of May, 1879, aged 53. His burial, of which an interesting description was given in the local papers, was a very remarkable scene, and attended by a vast concourse of people, whose behaviour testified to their keen sense of the loss which they had sustained in the removal of one whom they had found to be so faithful a Parish Priest, and so kind and sympathising a friend. (Rolleston) ... "Not slothful in business, Fervent in spirit, Serving the Lord" [BURSTON 5]
Contributed by Arnold Burston.
CANON L. F. TYRWHITT
The large Union Flag in the Sanctuary of St. Mary's Church in Rolleston on Dove was used as an altar cloth while he was on active service in the First World War by Rev. Leonard Francis Tyrwhitt, M.A., M.V.O (1906), O.B.E. (1919), who was Chaplain to Queen Victoria (1899), rector of Rolleston (1907 - 21), Chaplain-in-ordinary to King Edward VII and George V (1901 - 21) and Chaplain to the Forces (1914 - 21, during which time he was wounded). He was Canon of Windsor (1910 - 21), where he was installed on 31st. May 1910, and where he lived at No. 8, Canon's Cloister. There is a small heraldic window in what is now the Chapter Office, showing his coat of arms and the words "Leonard Francis Tyrwhitt, 1910". Not surprisingly, his epitaph reads: "Not slothful in business, Fervent in spirit, Serving the Lord."
Military Career
While he was Chaplain to the Forces, he was paid 10 shillings a day. He was entitled to "free rations while in the field" and when considered necessary "the use of a Government horse and forage". At the end of his service he was entitled to a gratuity of 60 days' pay (£30, a not inconsiderable sum).
Below is the first part of his long letter to his parishioners printed in the January 1916 issue of the Parish Magazine.
My dear Friends,
The life here has been so strenuous during the last month, that I have had no time for correspondence, and alas! I have before me a huge pile of unanswered letters and Christmas Greetings. But I feel that I must at-any-rate, make time to send you a greeting! Since we came here at the end of November, the troops have been extremely active, and when we return to the firing line - almost immediately - I am certain this Division will be in rare fighting form and ready for anything. I have shared in the activities as much as possible, so that "my youth has been renewed" like the Eagle's! Each morning I run with the troopsat 7.15 a.m., selecting each day one or other Company of one of my Battalions. It only lasts for half-an-hour, but is a capital and to the day's work. The mornings are getting lighter which makes things more agreeable. On my return to Rolleston (if I survive the war) we must institute an early morning Parade for the Churchwardens and Sidesmen, and Organist, for a short run round Tutbury and Hatton, only it will have to be 4 a.m., so as to be back in time for milking the cows! We have also had some Battalion and Brigade route marches of varying and ever-increasing distances. Just before Xmas the whole Division moved from here, and though I must not say exactly what our purpose was, it will suffice to say that we were continually on the march, and slept in different billets each night. Long halts crouching beneath hedges on the road side in drenching torrents of rain (which was rendered all the more penetrating and inquisitive by the gale behind it), waiting for despatches, and wondering what it was all about - these and other incidents passed the days along. The country through which we passed must be beautiful in Summer and fine weather, and it is very delightful to see hills and downs once more after the Flat Plains of Flanders! I discarded the use of my horse almost entirely, and tramped for hours with the men through inches of mud. We never did more than 25 miles in one day. It has done my Bootmaker a real good turn, as I have knocked two pairs of boots entirely to pieces.
NEW YEAR

The MULES
amused me immensely, some of them, from Egypt and Malta. One particularly vicious mule, capable of every crime and at the shortest notice, and with the now familiar "mailed fist" expression about its face (especially at *dinner*time) has of course been nicknamed
"KAISER BILL"
and right Royally it played the part - ready to bite the hand that fed it - or shewed it any hospitality!
JENNIE
was quite another type - lacking all sense of proportion, she persists in lying down and disengaging from her back the pack of ammunition and other trifles at our first halt in the early morning. Either she had had a bad night or else was work-shy, and lacked the didigence and other good
FEMININE CHARACTERISTICS of her sex! Occasionally other mules (evidently musically inclined) would join in the "Tipperary" chorus, in loud megaphone, asinine tones. It would have needed our Rolleston organist in his most patient and persuasive mood to have restored harmony! But why dwell further on these details? Mules will be mules, even in War time! One night, when the shades of night had fallen, and the moon threw the shadows of a Village Church and clustering farms and houses into bold relief, and whilst we stood easy in a village street, as the various billets were being arranged for, a man came up to me, and asked me to take his name as a Confirmation candidate for the next opportunity, and told me of all his home affairs, which is quite characteristic out here of the strange mingling of things sacred and secular! Another evening, when we'd been on the march since 8 a.m. and had yet another six miles to go, we halted and moved into a soaking wet field, and sat down by Companies, and the "Cookers" (following behind us) were called up and the men had some of the hot food which had cooked itself, en route. The officers had tea, and my delight was huge, and my sense of romance gratified, when in the semi-darkness, I spied a
SUGAR COATED CAKE
which had lately arrived from Mr. Murphy's far-famed established in Fenton (Staffordshire Potteries) and which he had sent me as a little Christmas token of friendship, and for "Auld Lang Syne"! "Once a cake, always a cake" was falsified, for it went like the wind, and when the Junior Subalterns came up in due course for their nibble, not a crumb remained, and even its seasonal symbol of spurious holly berries had vanished. We got in that night at about 8.30 p.m., the Colonel slept in the pantry of a farmhouse, and four others of us dossed down on the floor of the kitchen. Yes! they were stirring times, and we were fetched back here for CHRISTMAS DAY
The weather was dead against a cheerful and complete observance of the great Christian festival, but I managed all the celebrations of
HOLY COMMUNION
I had arranged, but the out-door services had all to be cancelled. I celebrated at 7 a.m. and 8 a.m. in a schoolroom, and the General and a large number of Officers and men came to worship, and later in the morning I celebrated for one of my Battalions in a barn, and the attendance was excellent. I think we shall all be returning to the Trenches and firing-line early next week.
I've come across several old friends since last I wrote to you. Lieutenant C.W.D.Lodge, one of St. George's, Windsor, old Choir and school boys, met me one day, and we compared notes, and contrasted with much merriment, the quiet, orderly days at Windsor, and our present eventful existence. Our respective horses became"good comrades", and I much doubt whether either Sir Walter Parratt or Mr. Fowler would have recognised either of us! I've heard several times from Harry Lowe - my old house boy - who is now in the Durham Light Infantry and not far from my Area. I hope his name is on Rolleston's Roll of those serving King and Country, as he has been so long identified with those of us at Rolleston, and his fierce charges in the football field used to fairly astonish my little dog "Jock" and the Choristers! I've also met boys grown out of all recognition, and at least one Officer of the North Staffs. who recounted to me some of their gallant and heroic deeds at Loos or thereabouts. And now 1915 has drawn to its close! 1915 with all its stirring events - its disappointments - its SCARLET CRIMES
DENSTONE COLLEGE
on the part of our enemies! And we set forth into the unknown, to wit, 1916! It lies before us like a new Book with its uncut pages, its great possibilities, its tragic uncertainties! And how do we face it? Are we downhearted? and from a thousand thousand throats there comes, like an angry sea breaking on a shingly beach, the thunderous roar - No! and why not? that is the question that our enemies ask, and to which question they cannot understand our reply! No! gathering up the experiences (many of them dearly bought) of 14 months of War - we face the future with fresh confidence - with renewed vigour - with more than ever! Faith in God! - Faith in our Cause! - Faith in ourselves - (provided our trials and tribulations have drawn us nearer to God and made us more God-like) we determine to go Forward.
UNBENDING DETERMINATION

Forward! be our Watchword,

Steps and voices joined;
Seek the things before us,

Not a look behind;
Burns the fiery pillar

At our Army's head:
Who shall dream of shrinking

By our Captain led?
Forward through the desert,

Through the toil and fight;
Jordan flows before us,

Sion beams with light.

No! "Forward" must be our motto for 1916!
Forward in Spiritual things! Forward in military concerns! And I pray there may be a forward movement at home, in the Political and Industrial World!
"WAIT AND SEE"!
did for 1915, and none too well it did it! But "do" without further Waiting must be the new order of things. No more haggling over details of trade union rules, which may have served their purpose in times of peace. No more "waiting" on Political Party expediences, with one eye on the Ballot box, "a democracy which asserts the right of manhood suffrage, while denying the duty of manhood service, is living in a fool's Paradise"! And I devoutly trust and pray that our 1916 "Forward movement" will drive us out of our "FOOL'S PARADISE"
into instantaneous and unanimous actions of all kinds - actions which shall carry us beyond the sandy desert of our past futile hesitations, and land us safely (before next Christmas) into the Promised Land of final and overwhelming Victories.
How shall I sum up my New Year greetings and good wishes? Can I do it better and more comprehensively than in the words of St. John in his 3rd. Epistle, v.2 - "Beloved! I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper, and be in health, even as thy Soul prospereth."
Believe me,

Sincerely and affectionately yours,

LEONARD TYRWHITT.

He was not always an easy man to deal with, nor was he the most modest of men. St. Mary's church still has two large portrait photographs of him and, at one time, he had another portrait made into a post-card to sell for church funds.
He was born on 29th. October 1863, the 7th. son of Sir Henry Thomas Tyrwhitt, 3rd. Baronet, and Emma Harriet, Baroness Berners, and received his M.A. Degree from Magdalene College, Cambridge. He died, unmarried, on 7th. July 1921, aged 57, in the Princess Christian Nursing Home, Clarence Road, Windsor.

His early career as a preacher

Before he came to Rolleston he was vicar of Fenton in the Potteries, where he preached what became known nationally as the "Devil in the Potteries" sermons. In the local press the following articles appeared:
Staffordshire Advertiser of 19th. December 1903:
THE VICAR OF FENTON ON LIFE AND MORALS IN THE POTTERIES
The Rev. the Hon. L. F. Tyrwhitt, preaching in his Parish Church on Sunday evening,spok out very strongly with regard to the evils which are rife in the industrial towns of north Staffordshire. The title given to his discourse was "The Advent of the Devil - in the Potteries," and his text was the words "Then cometh the Devil." He said that that which gave him the idea of this sermon was the conclusion of the classes for their confirmation candidates. Since he came to Fenton, close on 1,000 souls had been confirmed, and, of that number, it had been his privilege personally to prepare 326. As each batch passed out into the world he had thought over the occasions when in the course of their several lives it might be said "Then cometh the Devil." Generally speaking, Satan came to people when they had received some special grace. The advent of the Devil might also be expected in hours of work, in hours of recreation, in the pages of books and newspapers, and in clubs to which they might belong. First as to their hours of work. He had now worked in Fenton for upwards of eight years, and he had come to this conclusion, that if he had children of his own he would rather cut his right hand off and would sooner go about and beg his bread from door to door than let them - he spoke more especially of girls - earn their living in the appalling moral atmosphere which pervaded most of their china and earthenware manufactories. If he could lead them up to the very gates of hell he doubted if their temptations and difficulties would be greater than those that their young people had to contend with in their factories and works. He knew that many had passed through unscathed; sustained by the great grace of God, and their own gentle inborn instincts, they had not sunk into the depravity which was so rampant. There were men and women working in the manufactories of the Potteries as gentle, as refined, and as pure as any that were to be found in the length and breadth of the land. But for all that, whenever any of their young people entered their factories they must be prepared to meet a veritable hell-fire of temptation. Or again, by reading the Devil attacked them. He could say much in heartful praise of the English Press. He knew many journalists of high standing, and he knew their high ideals. He knew how well they realized their great responsibilities, and how most of them wished with all their heart that the English papers should be better and cleaner than they were. But was there a person of any pretensions to refinement and intelligence who did not in his heart bitterly deplore much that appeared in the daily press? And what about the clubs, coloured sometimes with one political colour and sometimes with another? How pleasant it all sounded - a working man's club, so much better than the public house, with its low dancing saloon and kindred attractions. But was it better? He had heard of one club where gambling was very rife, and something was alsao known of the drink bill at most clubs. He knew that many clubs were splendidly managed and were social centres for all that was good.. But when a young man joined a club let him be on his guard - let him be aware of gambling, betting and excessive drinking. Again, the newly confirmed, as well as others must must beware of the Devil during their hours of leisure. A friend told him lately that he went to a well known place of entertainment to see one item in the programme which was particularly good, but to see and hear that item he had to sit through a programme of sordid and low vulgarity, such as Satan himself with all his 'cuteness, might have planned. Then what about the "Devil's parade" - that evening crush in the streets all over the Potteries, about which they heard so many complaints. Who formed it? How many after their Sunday evening's service raced off to join in one or other of these giddy throngs, where the words and the actions were the Devil's own. Was he a fanatic on this question? Was he giving to the Devil more than his due He would to God that it were so. But he knew too much of what he was speaking of to be wrong. Believing that it was his duty to bring before the people the dreadful facts, he mentioned that three girls, in by no means the poorest part of their parish, were now mothers but not wives. They had been seduced, ruined, betrayed, and their age was between 15 and 16. Horrified and disgusted they must be, but not surprised so long as no serious effort was made on the part of the manufacturersto cleanse the atmosphere of their works. One of the greatest boons which could happen to that district would be if some of the leading manufacturers, those who were Christians, would say: "The people on my works, anyhow while they are at work, shall be people of cleanlips and clean lives." That, seriously seen to, would in time work wonders. If these things were to be altered, if the moral atmosphere of the Potteries was to be cleansed, if truth, righteousness and purity were to flourish in in the land, let the large employers of labour do their duty as Christian men, and let parents be parents in something more than name, and warn their own children of the piutfalls, wherever they went, which would beset their feet. The weapons needed for the fight were spiritual and not carnal, and the sign by which they might conquer would be, as of old, the sign of the Cross.

The vicar's strictures have naturally given rise to a great deal of comment throughout the Potteries. At the opening of a Working Men's Club and Institute at Fenton, on Tuesday evening, the Chairman (Mr. P. Brennan) said their club was one of those referred to and he could not allow such remarks to pass by, especially on such an occasion. Their club and institute was established with the sole object of bringing the working classes in closer commune, with a view that they might exchange their views with respect to their different trades, take part in discussions and debates, and so familiarise themselves with the leading matters that were engaging the public attention. They had a reading-room provided, and it was incumbent on no member to have a drink when he entered that building. Many there were to his mind who simply used the institute for the facilities which they had of perusing the several periodicals. He found on investigation that since the club opened the drink bill per member per week amounted to only 6d. Referring to gambling, he said he had not the slightest hesitation in refuting it in toto.

Mr. Thomas Minton has the following letter in the Daily Telegraph of yesterday:- "I have just seen in the Daily Telegraph, headed "Morals in the Potteries," an account of a sermon by the vicar of Fenton, Stoke-on-Trent, in which, in the very strongest language to be found in the dictionary, he speaks of the immoral atmosphere which pervades most of the china and earthenware manufactories. After an experience of about forty years, I consider that the artizans of the Staffordshire potteries - men, women and children - as a whole are as steady, moral, intelligent and hard-working body of men and women as could be found in any trade in the country."

The vicar is to recur to his subject on Sunday evening, when he will reply to the criticism which his sermon has called forth.

Staffordshire Advertiser of 26th. December 1903:

THE VICAR OF FENTON ON LIFE AND MORALS IN THE POTTERIES

On Sunday evening the Rev. the Hon. L. F. Tyrwhitt, vicar of Fenton, preached a second sermon on the subject which engrossed so much attention in the previous week. There was a crowded congregation, and hundreds, coming from different parts of the potteries, were unable to obtain admission. The text was taken from St. John's Gospel - "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The preacher, at the outset, said he would like to clear away some of the gross misrepresentations which during last week, intentionally, or as he preferred to think in a charitable spirit, unintentionally, had been given to the words of his previous sermon. Never had he in this awful matter ever denounced anyone, and one London paper had quite accurately caught his meaning when it headed its report, "vicar's denunciation of vice in the Potteries, and that was his point. Like Jesus Christ, whose he was, and whom he humbly served, he deeply sympathised at all times with the sinner, while strongly and sternly denouncing the sin. And the sin which he chose to speak upon last Sunday night was that most deadly, most infectious perhaps of almost all sins - the sin of impurity, adultery and fornication. If as an Englishman he might be allowed the liberty of his opinions it was his firm belief that while in England to-day drink and the curse of drink might be said to be slaying its thousands, the vice that he referred to was among all classes slaying its tens of thousands. He believed that most of the members of the medical profession, hospital nurses, infirmary, workhouse and asylum authorities would back him up in that opinion. Believing, aye and knowing, that the Pottery district, of which in many ways they has so much reason to be proud, had in its staple trade, with its mixed sexual labour, always been especially liable both to foster and to develop the various forms of this awful vice, he made a strong appeal first to the parents, then to the manufacturers (as large employers of labour and therefore as men holding great responsibilities in this matter) and, lastly, to all who would unite - for he need not say that this was only the commencement of a big campaign - in one common, earnest, Christian action to arrest the further spread of this that was in their midst, and was within the common knowledge of all. Though of course, hundreds in the Potteries and hundreds elsewhere, had quite correctly grasped his meaning, there had been those who, wilfully or through ingnorance, had spread the libellous statement that he had cast a slur on all the employers and employees who followed their trade in that industrial centre. He indignantly disclaimed having done anything of the kind, and quoted the passage from his former sermon in which he fully recognised that there were men and women working in the manufactories of the Potteries as pure both in word and deed as any to be found in the length and breadth of the land. But for all that, he added, when any of their young people entered their factories they must be prepared to meet a veritable hell fire of temptation. He said those words with meaning then, and now after all he had read in the papers, after all the confirmative and corroborative evidence from all parts of the Potteries, coming to him in letters from working men and women, he repeated those words with greater emphasis and with yet greater alarm. It was out of the fullest sympathy that he had said what he had and he could not unsay it. The force of his speech they must take as the measure of his affection and regard. "Tell the truth and shame the devil" said Shakespeare. This was just what he had endeavoured to do, and he prayed that he had already done so under God, with no small measure of success. He had simply spokenthe truth of the devil in the Potteries - the devil holding his evening parade, with a large force of Hanley and Stoke police busily engaged in superintending this innocent Sunday evening's walk as some caled it - and the devil naturally resented it. The devil had been in their midst and in their factories so long that the Potteries seemed to be his very home. Some had become so accustomed to his dreadful works of darkness that they had become commonplace and matter of fact, and now the truth had been spoken, and they had shamed the devil. No wonder, like a roaring lion, he went about seeking whom he might devour. As far as he was personally concerned, he could continue to roar. But his powers, he hoped, would be vastly curtailed. The truth had been spoken, and it possessed within it that which, if the knowledge were properly used, would make them in the Potteries free. The vicar proceeded to describe the evils upon which he had tried to arouse the public conscience had gradually been forced upon his notice, and the testimony borne to him by those who had gone through all the experiences step by step. But there had been more than that. From all parts of the Potteries, men of standing, men on different works, men of various religious views (Nonconformists without number) had written to thank him for what he had done, and mark this!, to to endorse what he had said.

Staffordshire Advertiser of 3rd. January 1904:

THE MORALITY CRUSADE IN THE POTTERIES

On Sunday evening the vicar of Fenton (the Hon. and Rev. L. F. Tyrwhitt) preached a third sermon in continuation of his crusade against immorality in the Potteries. There was again a crowded congregation. The vicar took for his text I Kings, xix, 12 - "After the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voice." The preacher pointed out that at the time to which these words related the prophet Elijah had been having a warm time of it for speaking the truth. Things around him had got into a rotten state, and there was a seething mass of corruption - defended, minimized and even denied by people who ought to have known better. There was only one course open to Elijah - to obey the dictates of God coming to him through the still small voice. In this was to be found a lesson for all time - that no noise, no clamour nor evil speaking should turn us to the right hand or to the left. The vicar proceeded to say that only two weeks ago, from that very pulpit, he said what ought to have been said ages ago - that in a great number of their china and earthenware manufactories, in certain departments, there was an appalling immoral atmosphere, and he appealed to those in authority to take strong measures to rectify things. He also appealed to parents to do their duty, and to be something more than parents in name. As a result he had been assailed with slanderous statements, misrepresentations, petty personalities and vulgar abuse. But now, this last week, conscience, the still small voice, was doing its work, and the burden of the message conveyed to him had been that he was quite right, and that what he had said was absolutely true. Again and again during the past week men of honour and sterling worth had said to him , "You have not spoken out half strong enough, and I don't think you can know all." Yes, the truth was out and the devil in the Potteries had been shamed. Only two days ago, a man who was about 30 years of age told him that he had worked on four factories, and had found the same state of affairs on each., and in consequence he had been obliged to to give up the trade. The foul language and vile depravity of deed were beginning to be realized where before they had been accepted as a matter of course. The still small voice of conscience would succeed to the earthquake, the wind and the fire. He put it that much of the opposition which had been directed against him had been directed by wounded pride, whereas there should be remorse and conscience-stricken repentance. When all this appalling crime and misery existed in their midst it was the true friend who pointed it out and and so helped them get out of the mire. Again, it was sometimes said that the Church must have failed if this terrible state of Potteries life were true. But what was the Church? Certainly not alone the clergy. They were only a small handful of officers in the vast army of the living God. The officers must lead the way, but in fighting the foe they would need the help and incessant co-operation of the rank and file, of all the members of that body to which they happened to belong.

If the devil were to be ousted from their midst, if the unclean spirit were to be hounded out of the Potteries, if this stronghold of Satan were to be taken by assault, they must all help. Municipal Councils (this was important) must fearlessly and faithfully back up their police; parents must face their responsibilities, illuminated by the guidance of God's Holy Spirit; and prayer unceasing must ascend from numberless homes to the throne of grace. His hope for the future was based on the belief that, in the midst of their awful darkness (and it could not be exaggerated) there were in every town of the Potteries sufficient men and women of goodness and enlightened understanding who, in the coming year of 1904, if only they would face fairly and squarely this gigantic evil, could make the year for all a year of grace in something more than in mere name. His hope for the future was strengthened in that he believed that the chief facts of his statement were now accepted on almost all sides. Only for a moment did he stand alone as one crying in the Potteries - "Repent ye, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." Now literally thousands were flocking to the standard of Christ, and crusaders from all parts were pouring in. Nonconformist Ministers from Hanley and Longton had written him friendly greeting, and they too, were summoning their hosts to fight the common foe. In conclusion, the vicar urged that there could be no peace till after the battle. They were engaged in a noble strife that was to free their own flesh and blood from the snares of the devil. For himself, he had never spent a Christmas with his conscience more relieved. He appealed to the pens and tongues of all the ablest in the district; he appealed to all who acknowledged Christ as King to come over and help win this battle, for win it by God's grace they would.

rector of Rolleston

Canon Tyrwhitt was not always an easy man to deal with, nor was he the most modest of men. St. Mary's church still has two large portrait photographs of him and, at one time, he had another portrait made into a post-card to sell for church funds.

Within a short time of his arrival in Rolleston, he had managed to quarrel with the Lord of the Manor (Sir Oswald Mosley, 4th. Baronet), his Churchwardens and many parishioners.

In April 1908 Sir Oswald Mosley, in a letter to the Churchwardens said: "I am quite willing and pleased that any seats that may be vacant in the 'Mosley Family Aisle' after the body of the Church has been filled, at the evening service only, may, with my permission, be used by members of the congregation at the discretion of the Churchwardens. I write this in the interests of my family, and in order that in years to come no claim may be made by the public to this private aisle, and that I can at any time cancel this arrangement." He came to regret it.

Because of the behaviour of some members of the congregation, in May 1910, he wrote: "Sir Oswald begs to inform the rector and Churchwardens of the Parish Church at Rolleston that after the 1st. of June 1910 he must close the Pews in the Family Aisle till further notice during any service with the exception of members of his household." Canon Tyrwhitt replied saying that he hoped the closure would be "for one Sunday only as the inconvenience will be immense, especially at this time of the year" He added that he was anxious "that your action in this matter shall not become the subject of public and painful notoriety."

A long and acrimonious correspondence ensued, from which it is apparent that the Churchwardens, William McGibbon and Samuel Robinson, who were responsible for seating the congregation, were coerced or even bullied into supporting first one side then the other.

The "public and painful notoriety" began when the rector gave Mr. McGibbon a newspaper cutting which read: "All seats and pews in this church which are unoccupied five minutes prior to the commencement of service are free for the use of all who desire to use them ... Exceptions coming within the time limits above mentioned are merely acts of courtesy extended to the regular worshippers which are open for revision from time to time by those having authority over the seating of this church."

By this time, the rector had instructed a London solicitor, Robert Charles Bolton, who wrote to Sir Oswald's solicitors, Kirby Millett Ayscough, implying that he had also been instructed by the Churchwardens. Kirby Millett Ayscough replied: "some doubt appears to exist as to whether you are instructed by the Churchwardens as well as by the rector." They also pointed out that seating in the Church is the responsibility of the Wardens, not the rector.

On 14th. July the Churchwardens wrote to Sir Oswald saying that they had not "consulted or instructed a Mr. Bolton or any other person" to act on their behalf. R.C.Bolton continued to insist that he had been instructed by the Churchwardens, claiming that the letter "was obtained from them under pressure from Sir Oswald Mosley and his agent after their instructions had been conveyed to me."

In August Sir Oswald petitioned the Diocese of Lichfield for a Faculty granting to his family the exclusive use of the South Aisle, basing his claim on the fact that his ancestors had always had such a right as well as exclusive right of access through the South Porch, that they had for hundreds of years maintained, restored and extended the Aisle at their own expense, that they had had sole right to erect monuments there, and so on for many pages.

In December 1910, the Consistory Court decreed a Faculty to Sir Oswald, granting to the occupiers of Rolleston Hall exclusive use of the seats in the South Aisle, and granting to Sir Oswald and his heirs as long as they remain the owners of Rolleston Hall the exclusive right to erect monuments in the Aisle. The Burton Observer, quoting from the January Parish Magazine, said that Canon Tyrwhitt referred to "a sense of mental relief that the vexed question has been finally settled" and described the outcome as "an honourable compromise to both sides." He went on to explain that Sir Oswald had 28 seats for his family in the South Aisle, that he had the sole right of erecting monuments there, and that he had the obligation of maintaining the aisle and keeping it in repair. He said "I am more than content with the result". He congratulated Sir Oswald on having had reserved for his use an ample number of seats and added "May he live long to enjoy them."

The honourable compromise did not last long. In October 1911, Sir Oswald's solicitors wrote to the Churchwardens that on 8th. October "certain persons" had been directed by them to seats in the South Aisle without Sir Oswald's permission before the service began, although there were plenty of seats vacant in other parts of the Church. They went on to threaten them with legal action if the terms of the Faculty were broken. The Churchwardens replied, rather weakly, that they didn't have a copy of the Faculty, as it had been removed from the Church door.
The dispute rumbled on. Even as late July 1921, the PCC Minutes recorded that: "As there seemed some misunderstanding as to the rights of the Squire to the Mosley Aisle, the Secretary was instructed to exhibit a notice in the Church regarding same." By this time, Canon Tyrwhitt had been replaced by Rev. William Bagnall and the Mosleys had effectively left the village.
Finally, the PCC Minutes of September 1922 stated: "The Chairman read a letter from Sir Oswald Mosley with respect to the use of the Mosley Aisle. A discussion followed at the conclusion of which Mr. Toon to whom the letter particularly referred promised not to use the Aisle in future in deference to the wishes of Sir Oswald Mosley & the P.C.Council." From hearsay evidence, I believe that it was this Mr. Toon, who caused some scandal by coming into Church with dilapidated boots and no socks, and waving a stick, was one of the "certain persons" who had kept the dispute going.
In 1911, the problem of new burials had become acute, and Sir Oswald Mosley proposed a solution. He suggested through his solicitors "that he and his Trustees shall give to the Parish for the purpose of extending the Graveyard the Plot of land ... containing about 8,807 square yards (an extension which will satisfy the needs of the Parish for many years to come) in exchange for the conveyance to his Trustees of the Site and building of the Old Boys' School. Sir Oswald would further be willing to pay all legal costs in connection with the carrying out of this Exchange including the cost of the necessary re-building of the Churchyard wall ... the offer is one extremely favourable to the Parish; for if the cost of re-building the Churchyard wall.and all legal and other costs are added to the value of the land offered, Sir Oswald and his Trustees will be giving the Parish about three times the value of the School, and this without deducting from the value of the School anything for the rights of Sir Oswald and his successors to hold Courts Leet in the School building.

A Special Vestry was held a fortnight later "to consider Sir Oswald Mosley Baronet's offer of exchanging the old boys' school valued at £60 for a plot of land ... valued £96 for the extension of the churchyard." Canon Tyrwhitt held that the School was the property of the Church. Mr. McGibbon said that "as the churchyard was getting full and a lot of bones had to be disturbed when getting out new graves, new land was required for burial ground and with a generous offer like the one Sir Oswald had made, then, they ought to accept, to save the parish rates in years to come." Mr. Ward added that "he could remember 70 years ago when graves were dug that often bones had to be disturbed." Sir Oswald said that "the School never did belong to the Church for there was an old map in existence showing that it was outside the churchyard. The Church had never solely kept it up neither had his family, so that neither the Church nor he could say it was theirs."
Canon Tyrwhitt was evidently at odds with the Churchwardens, not for the last time! Something very irregular then occurred. At this point, the second half of the page in the minute book was rather crudely cut out, as was the whole of the next page. This was probably done between this meeting and the Annual Vestry Meeting on 21st. April 1911, as the minutes of that meeting start on the other side of the half-page. They are crossed out and "See next page" scrawled over the top. At this last meeting, "Mr. Slater then rose to ask a parochial question, but the rector ruled that the meeting was only for the election of Church officers and to pass the accounts for the past year." For some years thereafter, the minutes are very brief.
Between the last two meetings, the Churchwardens had written to the Board of Education explaining that the only area available for new graves was full of large tree roots, so difficult and costly to dig. They supported Sir Oswald's offer, saying that "The whole Parish (with the exception we understand of the rector) is of opinion that immediate provision for the extension of the churchyard is of supreme importance." They said that the School was not suitable for teaching unless more money than it was worth were spent on adaptation, ventilation and sanitary arrangements, and that it was not possible to extend it.
The 4th. Baronet died in 1915, but the extension was still being discussed in Vestry in 1920, when it was proposed to restrict burials to the inhabitants of Rolleston and to approach Sir Oswald again. Canon Tyrwhitt died in 1922.
A meeting of the new Parochial Church Council was called in March 1923 "to discuss the kind offer by Sir Oswald Mosley [i.e. the new Sir Oswald, 5th. Bart.] of land in the Park adjoining the Churchyard for an extension thereof & that the land was given by Sir Oswald on the understanding that the expense of setting back the park fence was undertaken by the Parish, it was proposed by the rector [i.e.the new rector, William Bagnall] seconded by Mr. Robinson & Resolved that the offer be accepted & that the best thanks of this Council be conveyed to Sir Oswald Mosley." Mr. Topley was asked to give an estimate, and to get on with the job as quickly as possible. By 18th. April, "Mr. Topley had mentioned the sum of £120 ... & the work was now well in hand."
Canon Tyrwhitt's Will tends to confirm that he was not the most modest of men.

Thomas Unton M.A. (rector of Creswell) 1610-1693 H133
Unton, christened on 21 Jan 1609.10 at Drayton, was 1st son of Thomas Unton of Drayton, Salop gentleman. He studied at Oxford where on 29 Jan 1629.30 he was a student at Trinity College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 4 Feb 1629.30 (M.A., 13 Dec 1632). He was ordained deacon and about 1635 ordained priest by Lichfield. On 21 Sep 1635 after presentation by (? the lord of the manor) Robert Lovet of London merchant c1577-?1657 he was instituted (sinecure) rector of Creswell. On 29 Mar 1639 after presentation by Henry Bromley he was, plurally, instituted vicar of Mountford, Salop. A dispensation (? for plurality) was granted on 16 Feb 1639.40. About Feb 1643.4 he may have been removed from both parishes. In early Jun 1660 he was not in an office. On 13 Sep 1660, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers, he was restored in both parishes. He probably resigned Mountford before 25 Aug 1662 when he was, plurally, instituted rector of Chetwynd, Salop. Still in office at Creswell and Chetwynd he died, aged 83, on 31 Mar 1693 and was buried on 4 Apr at Drayton. In 1665 no hearth tax assessment was made at Creswell so that Unton was not assessed. His will made on 29 Mar 1693 was proved under Lichfield on 5 Jul 1693. In his will he bequeathed "my books to a publick use in the Town of Drayton" and others to Trinity College in Oxford. Unton may not have married. In the period that Unton was sinecure rector at Creswell the church was in ruins and it is possible he never visited the parish.

In 1826 he was ordained and in 1830 he was made Headmaster of Reading School. He inherited a court judgment, ignored by his father, requiring grammar schools to teach classics free to local pupils. Reading people, still aggrieved over the school, disinclined the corporation to repair the increasingly crumbling leasehold premises. Though Valpy resembled his father in scholarship and preaching eloquence he was not an inspiring teacher and lacked the decisiveness required to overcome the school's problems with the town. By 1837 it had only twenty boarders and seventeen day-boys, nine with free places. [ODNB]

Hic Imaginem Eduardi Vernon (Divinarum Literarum Professoris) videre licet; qui Scholae Publicae, Librariae, Pavimenti, Fontis Com'unis, ac Pauperum Tunicarum Primus Fundatur ac Donator fuit. Ano D'ni 1622. This tomb is inclosed by a plain wooden palisade. [GENT.MAG (1813) Vol 83 Part 2 114]

(1813) The following statement of Benefactions is taken from the Tables fixed up in different parts of tbe Church; but the arrangement has been changed, for more easy reference ;and a few verbal alterations made, not changing the sense. I. A School House and Free School. At the East end of the Churchyard in Audley is erected a Schoolhouse, which I guess will hold a hundred boys, or more. "Edward Vernon, preacher of the, Gospel, rector of Welford, co. Gloucester, did in his life-time, at his own proper charge, erect a School-house in Audley, wherein to teach the children of the said parish." The Benefactors in The Endowment of the Free School were, 1. The same Edward Vernon; who, out of zeal for God's glory, and his love for learning, in his lifetime gave £120, to purchase land for the maintenance of a schoolmaster, who should freely teach the children of the parish of Audley for ever. 2. Richard Vernon, (brother to the said Edward Vernon), parson of Hanbury, in Worcestershire, gave £40 to the parish of Audley. One moiety , of the use thereof to be given to the schoolmaster, the other to the poor of the parish for ever. 3. William Johnson, of Jamage within the hamlet of Talk upon the hill, by his last Will gave £100 for the use above said. Which monies (of the above three Benefactors) were employed according to the Wills of tbe Testators Amio Domini 1611. And the land so purchased lieth in Upper and Nether Teane, in the county of Stafford, to remain for the use of the Free School of Audley for ever. [GENT.MAG (1813) Vol 83 Part 2 420]

Humfrey Vincent (?stipendiary curate of Alvechurch, Worcs) ?1595-....
Vincent, (? christened on 11 May 1595 at Kinver), was likely 2nd son of Humfrey Vincent of Kinver upholsterer c1553-1605 and Mary (Shiston). He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before 9 Oct 1620 when he was probably a stipendiary curate at Alvechurch, Worcs. For a few years before Mar 1639 he preached by invitation in at least 15 parishes in Shropshire (8) and Staffordshire (7). The central point of the area in which the 15 parishes lay was in or near Brewood and Vincent may have lived there. In Dec 1641 at London Southwark St George the Martyr he preached two sermons on Isaiah XXX 33 "The breath of the Lord as a streame of brimstone kindleth it.". The same month the sermons were published as The coblers sermon cryed downe ... Vincent may not have married. No further record has been discovered. At the end of his book of sermons is the following testimonial signed by fifteen anglican clergymen probably about 1638:

> Mr Packington before the Justices required me to produce the testimonie of some Ministers of my own Countrey, I therefore am compelled to produce this, written by them, and subscribed every one with his owne hand. We whose names are underwritten, doe certifie, that Mr. Humfrey Vincent, whom we have known for a good space of time, is of a very honest life and conversation; he hath at our desires at sundry times preached in our severall Cures; The Lord hath endued him with singular gifts which he hath denied to his Brethren, although faithfull in their places. Indeed he is one of a thousand, either to break, or to bind up (by Gods help) a broken heart. He is a John Baptist to humble and to lay low a proud exalted spirit. He hath beene sent for to preach in many places about us, where we have heard his Doctrine hath been found, and his carriage as a Minister of the Gospel; and we hope he hath done much good in our Country. In withesse whereof, we Ministers of the Gospel have put to our hands. John Needham Preacher of Stafford; Seth Wood of Annitage; Sampson Newton of Canck; Thomas Thomas of Beckbury; William Fletcher of Albrington; Simon King of Codsall; William Brueton of Noschall; George Baxter of Wenlock; William Peake of Shemton; Robert Ashton of Bednall; Deliverance Fennyhouse of Shaffal; John Chapman of Dunn-ngton; William Madestart of Bridgnorth; Thomas Mocket of Newport; Roger Lin[sh] of Norton juxta Canck. William Vincent B.A. (parochial curate of Acton Trussell & Bednall) c1632-c1678 D134

Vincent, born about 1632, was a son of Spencer Vincent of London silk weaver. He studied at Cambridge where on 22 Jun 1650 he was admitted as a pensioner at Pembroke College and matriculated that year. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1653. On 12 Jul 1662 he was in office as a stipendiary curate at Woodcote, Salop when he subscribed to the Act of uniformity but was only ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield on (the next day) 13 Jul 1662. On 23 Oct 1662 after probable presentation by Walter Fowler of St Thomas (by Stafford) esquire 1620-1684 he was, jointly, licensed parochial curate and appointed reader at Acton Trussell and Bednall and on 22 Apr 1663 appointed schoolmaster of Acton Trussell parish school. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Acton Trussell constablewick but was not assessed there. In 1667 he may have been living at Penkridge where in 1668 he was found to be an unlicensed teacher. In 1677 he was living at Bednall but, still in office at Acton Trussell and Bednall, is said to have died, aged about 46, about 1678 in prison. Vincent probably married about 1666 to a woman by whom he had 1 son (who was christened on 10 Jul 1667 at Penkridge). Vincent was the author of a 1677 pamphlet entitled Strange and true news from Staffordshire, or, a true narrative concerning a young man lying under almighty God's just vengeance, for imprecating God's judgment upon himself, and pleading his innocency though he knew himself guilty. Written by W. Vincent minister of God's word at Bednall, in the county of Stafford aforesaid, who saw and discoursed the said person upon the 26th day of April, 1677. The saddest spectacle that ever eyes beheld.

William Waine (independent curate of Wetton) c1612-1660

Waine, born about 1612, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 18 Dec 1636 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield and shortly after was appointed independent curate of Wetton where he was in office in 1639. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued here as compliant minister but by 1648 was in office as presbyterian minister of Ashbourne vicarage, Derbys when the Committee for plundered ministers granted him an augmentation of £50 to his annual salary. Still in office he died, aged about 48, in 1660. His will made on 4 Jan 1659.60 was proved under PCC on 14 Jul 1660. A rhyming epitaph for him (below) was written by ●Edward Manlove of Ashbourne gentleman c1616-1671. Waine married perhaps in 1644 to Dorothy by whom he probably had 3 sons and 2 daughters.

> Since that pale death, hath stopt the breath, | Of Learned William Wain, | Friends and Allies, dry your wet eyes, | To Weep it is in vain. | He's in the Dust, whera all men must, | Ere long interred be, | Whilst he liv'd here, he did appear, | A Learned man to be. | Of judgement great, tho not so neat, | In words, as many are, | But for his parts, in learned Arts, | With most, he might compare. | Yet they can tell, that knew him well, | He was not puff'd with Pride, | Nor soared high, ambitiously, | But humbly liv'd and dy'd. | And in his Grave, as in a Cave, | This learned Rabby lies, | Where he must stay, till that great day | That Christ shall say arise. | Then Learned Wain, must rise again, | From dusty earth and Clay, | To judgement just, (as all men must) | And after live for aye.

(c1660) AN EPITAPH UPON THE DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM WAINE, VICAR OF ASHBORN. COMPOSED BY EDWARD MANLOVE, ESQ. Since that pale death, hath stopt the breath, | Of Learned William Wain, | Friends and Allies, dry your wet eyes, | To Weep it is in vain. | He's in the Dust, whera all men must, | Ere long interred be, | Whilst he liv'd here, he did appear, | A Learned man to be. | Of judgement great, tho not so neat, | In words, as many are, | But for his parts, in learned Arts, | With most, he might compare. | Yet they can tell, that knew him well, | He was not puff'd with Pride, | Nor soared high, ambitiously, | But humbly liv'd and dy'd. | And in his Grave, as in a Cave, | This learned Rabby lies, | Where he must stay, till that great day | That Christ shall say arise. | Then Learned Wain, must rise again, | From dusty earth and Clay, | To judgement just, (as all men must) | And after live for aye.

(1985) William Wayne alias Weane first appears as vicar of Ashbourne 8 Feb 1649/50 when the CPM ordered payment of an augmentation grant to him; the order was repeated 24 May 1650; vicar when the parliamentary survey was taken 10 June 1650; signed the testimony of John Greaves to the Triers 1655; burial of Joseph son of WW vicar 1 Mar 1660 noted in parish register . [DAJ 1985 p31]

[Ashbourne/Thomas Peacock] (Aug 1645) The following article is found inserted in the church register at Ashbourn;- "1645 August, king Charles came to the church, and many more, and talked with Mr. Peacock." [D.P. Davies A new historical and descriptive view of Derbyshire ... Volume II (1811) p431] ... (1934) ... The Parish Registers for 30 years of the incumbencies of Mr. Peacock and his successor, including the stirring times of the Civil War (1643 to 1649) are missing; but the deficiency has been made good from other sources, notably the minute book of the Governors and Assistants of Queen Elizabeth's Grammar School at Ashburne which began in 1603, and in which Mr. Peacock's signature, as a Governor, occurs frequently over a long term of years; and it is now possible to say that Mr. Peacock died soon after the 19th August, 1641, and certainly before April 1643 [no source quoted for this statement]. He was not the Mr. Peacock who talked with Charles I. when the King visited the Church in 1645 (see Historical Notes, p. 49). ... 17. The beginning of MR. WAYNE'S incumbency is given as 1643 [no source quoted for this statement]. (it was 1656 in Cox's and Jourdain's lists), as he is known to have been Vicar in April of that year, but it was probably earlier. ... but Mr. Wayne would certainly be the Vicar when King Charles I signed the Church Register in 1645. He was also Head Master of the Grammar School from 1654 to 1659, and in the latter year resigned both the Vicarage and the Head Mastership. ~~He died in 1669~~. . [Ernest A. Sadler A guide to Ashburn parish church ... (1934) p58]

Humphrey Waldron B.A. (presbyterian minister of Broom) 1633-1668 R43
Waldron, christened on 20 Jan 1632.3 at Belbroughton, was a son of Roger Waldron of "Giles House", Belbroughton, Worcs yeoman c1587-1661 and Elizabeth (Blicke). He studied at Oxford where on 24 Jun 1653 he was a student at Balliol College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 6 Jul 1654. About that time he was briefly an assistant to Richard Baxter at Kidderminster. On 21 Feb 1654.5 (although not aged 24) he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by the Derbyshire Wirksworth Classis at Wirksworth to the title of Broom rectory and probably on 15 May 1655 was appointed presbyterian minister of Broom rectory (in Worcester diocese). By early 1656 as "minister of Broome" he was a member of the Worcestershire Association. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. In 1665 he was assessed on 4 hearths at at Broom township in Clent & Broom constablewick. Shortly after he moved to Bromsgrove, Worcs where he died, aged 35, and was buried on 11 Nov 1668. His will written on 4 Nov 1668 was proved under PCC on 23 Dec 1668. Waldron married first on 23 Nov 1654 at Kidderminster, Worcs to Mary Nash by whom he had 2 daughters. He married second about 1665 to Catherine (d 1669) by whom he had 1 son. Waldron's brother Roger Waldron of "Giles House", Belbroughton, Worcs scythesmith c1635-1671 was married to Mary Tristram dau of Richard Tristram (rector of Belbroughton, Worcs) 1613-1691. In a letter of 10 Feb 1673.4 Baxter includes Waldron (noted as then dead) in a list of ministers who had never "done or said [anything] against the King". In 1696 he writes "At Broom was silenced Mr. Humphrey Waldern, my [former] Assistant ... of good Learning and Utterance."

Michael Walford M.A. (vicar of Shenstone) c1603-1665
Walford, born about 1603, was a son of John Walford of Warwickshire woollen-draper. He was educated at Warwick under Mr Biker. He studied at Cambridge where on 8 May 1620 he was admitted as a sizar at Caius College and matriculated that year. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1624.5 (M.A. 1630). On 10 Jul 1627 his B.A. was incorporated at Oxford. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 2 Sep 1626 when after presentation by Sir Thomas Lucy of Charlecote, Warwicks knight c1584-1640 he was instituted vicar of Charlecote, Warwicks. On 2 Oct 1629 he received a dispensation for plurality and on 7 Oct 1629 after presentation by George Pudsey of Langley in Sutton Coldfield, Warwicks gentleman c1594-.... was, plurally, instituted rector of Wishaw, Warwicks. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued as compliant minister in both parishes but under An act against the enjoying of pluralities ... (16 Jan 1642.3) was required to resign one of them. He may have resigned at Charlecote but continued at Wishaw. On 16 Nov 1655 Robert Beake 1620-1708, then mayor of Coventry, "made an order for the outing of Walford, minister of Wishaw, for scandal in life". He was then sequestered. By An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) he was restored as rector. He probably resigned before 10 Nov 1661 when he was apppointed "minister" (? parochial curate) of Packwood, Warwicks where he subscribed to the Act of Uniformity on 21 Aug 1662. On 6 Feb 1662.3 after presentation by the Crown he was instituted vicar of Shenstone. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Shenstone constablewick and was assessed on two properties "Mr. Wilfords house ... Two --- And in the vicarridge ... One, and nothing to bee paid". Still in office Walford died, aged about 62, and was buried here on 14 Sep 1665. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 30 Sep 1665 to a creditor. His personalty was valued at £20/4/10 and included "his warringe apparell & his books £1". Walford married on 15 Sep 1629 at Wolverton, Warwicks to Margery Mantell dau of Averell Mantell of "Bacons Inn", Coleshill, Warwicks gentleman by whom he had 3 sons and 5 daughters.

[Harwood 211 470]
(protege and executor of Rowland Lee (Bishop of Lichfield))

1547, August 5, Richard Walker. He was a provident man, as the Lichfield Historian calls him, and was chosen from the School of St. John's Hospital, in this city by Rowland Lee, Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, to be steward of his household. He afterwards ordained him; and collated him to a rectory in Wirhall; Cheshire; and, as a final proof of confidential esteem, made him executor of his will. He was a benefactor to the church and to the city; and left land to the Corporation of Lichfield towards the payment of six shillings and eight-pence a quarter, for six poor scholars of the Grammar-school of Edward VI. in this city, to buy them bibles, and brooms to sweep the school. He died in 1567, and was buried in this cathedral. He was the fourth Dean of Chester. [Harwood (1806) 211]

(author of Some Masterpieces of the Theatre) 1931

A bachelor and the son of a family of builders from Derby, he was a very well-educated gentleman who wrote poetry and books on politics. He [was] well-known for his method of mounting his bicycle - from the rear - to the amusement of parishioners He had two daughters, Annie and Isobel, and was very fond of dogs - his dog Pal was buried in the vicarage garden and the stone is now in the churchyard [SHARESHILL HISTORY W.I.] [NOTE: It seems unlikely that he was both a bachelor and had two daughters]

(Christ Church, Sydney) Walsh was licensed to the parish while still a Deacon. He was ordained priest by the Bishop of Australia, William Grant Broughton on 22 September 1839. During his 26 years he oversaw the construction and interior decoration of Christ Church, and the creation of several daughter parishes, including, St Paul's, Redfern and St Michael's, Surry Hills. Among his parishioners were some of the poorest people in Sydney, and some of its leading citizens - such as Chief Justice Sir Alfred Stephen and Thomas Sutcliffe Mort. Described by his contemporaries as "an old-fashioned, academic High-Churchman", Walsh strove to bring liturgical dignity to the services in ways that, in time, became accepted practice throughout the Anglican Communion. His theology was the Tractarianism of Newman, Keble and Pusey, and in this teaching he was the chief exponent in the Diocese of Sydney, arousing considerable criticism. Walsh's influence in the diocese declined after the appointment of Evangelical Bishop Frederic Barker. He returned to England in 1865 but did not formally resign until 1867 before taking up parochial duties in the Diocese of Lichfield where he enjoyed the patronage of the Bishop, George Augustus Selwyn (formerly Bishop of New Zealand). He returned to Australia in 1880 as domestic chaplain to the Mort family at Bodalla and became the first rector of All Saints', Bodalla. He died there on 17 December 1882. [INTERNET]

Godfrey Ward (parochial curate of Barton-under-Needwood, Staffs) c1637-1696
Ward was born about 1637 of unknown parentage. He studied at Oxford where on 11 Apr 1660 he matriculated fas a commoner rom Magdalen Hall but may not have graduated. Probably as a literate he was ordained deacon by Lichfield at London St Andrew Holborn on 24 May 1662 and (presumably) ordained priest. He subscribed to the Act of Uniformity at Repton, Derbys on 30 Jul 1662. Likely later in 1662, after probable presentation by the Dean of Lichfield qua patron of Tatenhill - William Paul 1599-1665, he was appointed as parochial curate of Barton-under-Needwood. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax at Barton-under-Needwood constablewick but was not assessed there. He resigned Barton-under-Needwood before 6 Oct 1671 when after probable presentation by the Dean and Chapter of Lichfield he was appointed vicar of Harborne and paid the first fruits. In office at Harborne he died, aged about 59, around Sep 1696. His administration was granted at Lichfield on 22 Sep 1696. Ward married first about 1662 to Jane by whom he had four sons and two daughters. He married second perhaps about 1676 to Mary who survived him. Ward appears to have had an interest in land at Rock, Worcs.

$Robert Ward (?compliant minister of Horton) e1592-....
Ward, born perhaps about 1592, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. [? He was probably ordained as a deacon before 14 Sep 1616 when he was in office as parochial curate of Deritend, Warwicks.] [? On 17 Jun 1636 as a "curate" he was licensed to teach at Kirk Ireton, Derbys.] About 1646 probably after presentation by Francis Bowyer (compliant minister of Leek) 1605-1648 QV he was appointed ?compliant minister of Horton dependent parochial chapelry. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Ro Ward Minister of Horton". Robert Ward B.D. (rector of Barrowden, Rutland) c1587-1682 was a contemporary clergyman.

(1915) oc. 1648 Robert Ward 3 -3 Ward. Signed the testimony in 1648. On 16 Jan 1646 the committee for plundered ministers granted the incumbent here £10 pa from this impropriate rectory, sequestered from Francis Biddulph esq., delinquent, and £40 pa from the rectory of Lapley QV. On 3 Dec 1652 the committee discovered that this last rectory could only pay £10 - after paying £50 to its own minister - so this last augmentation was reduced to £10. (Bodl MS 328 p213; SP Dom. Peter Watkinson B.A. (vicar of Hanbury) c1608-?1688 H136
Watkinson, born about 1608, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1625 he was admitted as a sizar at King's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1628.9. On 15 Jan 1627.8 he was, on an archbishop's licence, appointed a schoolmaster at Chesterfield Free School, Derbys. On 26 May 1632 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield and presumably later ordained priest. On 21 Mar 1639 he was in office as a stipendiary curate at Brampton, Derbys. On 12 Jul 1643 by order of the House of Commons he was appointed vicar of Chigwell, Essex. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister but probably resigned in 1647/8 before being appointed compliant minister of Kirk Ireton, Derbys. Whilst at Kirk Ireton he was from 1651 to 1658 a member and sometime moderator of the Derbyshire Wirksworth Classis. In 1653 he declined an invitation from the parishioners of Chesterfield, Derbys to become their minister. By 3 May 1660 he was compliant minister of Wirksworth vicarage, Derbys, in early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto vicar but a successor was instituted on 20 May 1661. On 24 Oct 1662 he was collated by the bishop of Lichfield then John Hacket 1592-1670 vicar of Hanbury. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Marchington & members constablewick (which contained Hanbury) and was assessed on 3 hearths at Hanbury township. Probably in late 1667 he resigned here and then served as an "assistant minister" at Sheffield, Yorks West Riding until 1670 when after presentation by Sir Thomas Wharton of Edlington, Yorks West Riding K.B. c1615-1684 he was instituted rector of Edlington. Probably still in office he died, aged about 80, perhaps in 1688. Watkinson married on 30 Dec 1630 at Chesterfield to Elizabeth Heathcote dau of Gilbert Heathcote of Chesterfield, Derbys 1585-1647 and Elizabeth (Owtrem) (no known children). In 1656 whilst at Chigwell Watkinson was the author of a poem commending a book regarding the Psalms written by a fellow minister William Barton. It was published with it. Much later in 1672 he preached a funeral sermon on the death of Mary the first wife of his patron Sir Thomas Wharton K.B. which was published in 1674 and then in 1684 preached again on the death of Wharton himself who bequeathed "twenty pounds to Mr Watkinson the present Minister of Edlington". Watkinson qua vicar of Hanbury was patron of the parochial chapelries of Marchington (where he had probably presented Edward Shawe QV in 1665) and Newborough. [NB: It is just possible that two men are conflated in this account.]

Of the six daughters named in Gilbert Heathcote's will, Elizabeth and Alice were already married. Elizabeth married at Chesterfield, 30 December, 1630, Mr. Peter Watkinson, rector of Kirk Ireton in 1647, and a leading member of the Wirksworth Presbyterian Classes. In 1658 he was appointed vicar of Wirksworth, possibly holding the two appointments together. The other married daughter, Alice, was the wife of Mr. Harding. The unmarried daughters were: Dorothy; Frances, baptized 1615; Ann, baptized 8 November, 1617; and Rosamund, baptized 5 December, 1620. Another daughter, Helena, who was baptized at Chesterfield 1619, had died in April, 1625. Mr. Peter Watkinson was living in 1682, when Sir Gilbert Heathcote describes his coming to visit him while at his father's house in Derbyshire, and giving him various information as to family matters, being then between seventy-five and eighty years old. Whether he was the same Mr. Peter Watkinson who, as vicar of Edlington near Doncaster, to which he had been presented in 1670 by Sir Thomas Wharton, preached the funeral sermon of Lady Mary Wharton in 1672 is uncertain. Potentially sequestered at Chigwell, Essex from 1643 to 1648. He then became rector of Kirk Ireton, Derbyshire, a post he still held in 1658. Samuel Webley (?presbyterian minister of Gnosall) e1619-....
Webley, born perhaps about 1619, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by (perhaps 1646, or) 1649 when he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Gnosall. On 7 Oct 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted an unnamed minister here (possibly Webley) an augmentation of £37 pa to his annual salary of either £20 or £13/3/4. Webley did receive this augmentation in 1649 and 1650. A successor was appointed on 30 Aug 1650. No further record has been discovered.

Regarding the links with Barrow Harbour there is an interesting comment by the Rev. Charles Rock West of Salvage written in June 1870. He observed that "The Mission, or Parish, of Salvage extends from Barrow Harbour to Gooseberry Island inclusive; the inhabitants of the former place (Barrow Harbour) having chiefly removed to Salvage Bay (Happy Adventure and Sandy Cove) regular services are not held there as formerly, but at Salvage Bay aforesaid." Previous to 1862, Salvage formed part of King's Cove Mission. Flat Island and Gooseberry Island were in the Greenspond Mission. In 1862 Salvage welcomed its first resident Missionary, the Reverend Charles Rock West. [INTERNET]

Roger Wetton (parochial curate of Bagnall) e1609-....
Wetton, born perhaps about 1609, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. By 1639 after probable presentation by the rector of Stoke-upon-Trent then John Mainwaring c1605-1692 he had been licensed as parochial curate of Bagnall. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister and was still in office in 1651.2. In 1665 Thomas Cooke e1639-.... was in office as parochial curate. No further record has been discovered.

Walter Wheeler (vicar of Clent) e1632-1669 H137
Wheeler, born perhaps about 1632, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade.
He was presumably anglicanly ordained deacon and priest before 6 Aug 1663 when he was in office as vicar of Clent (in Worcester diocese). In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Clent & Broom constablewick and "The Viccarrage house" was assessed on 5 hearths. Still in office he died, perhaps aged about 37, and was buried here on 3 Feb 1668.9. His will made on 1 Feb 1668.9 was proved under Worcester on 29 Jun 1669. His personalty was valued at £99/0/8 and included his "study of books £18". Wheeler married perhaps about 1662 to Elizabeth by whom he had 1 daughter. Wheeler qua vicar of Clent was patron of the parochial chapelry of Rowley Regis.

Thomas Baldwin was succeeded in the living of Clent in 1662 by Walter Wheeler, another vicar whose name does not appear in Nash's list; but he held it only a few years, till his death in 1668. His burial is entered in the register on the 3rd of February in that year, and his will was proved at Worcester on the following 29th of January [?June], being dated two days before his burial. He left all his goods to his wife Elizabeth, and they were valued at £99 0s. 8d. His study of books was worth £18 and he seems to have farmed in a small way, one item in the list of his property being a lot of hop-poles, valued at ??? He was succeeded by Thomas Walker, Master of Arts. In a note to Nash's List of Vicars one Cole is said to have been incumbent before Walker, but this must be a mistake, since only only one month elapsed between the burial of Wheeler and Walker's induction. [John Amphlett A short history of Clent (1890)]

Thomas Whinnell B.A. (compliant minister of Leek) c1600-?1662
Whinnell, born about 1600, was a son of Thomas Whinnell (rector of Askerwell, Dorset) c1560-1638 and ----- (Lyte). He studied at Oxford where on 6 Dec 1622 he was a student at Brasenose College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. in Feb 1625.6. He was ordained deacon and on 21 Dec 1628 ordained priest by Exeter. In 1640 a contemporary writes of him as "our learned lecturer at Gloucester who, last summer made an expedition into Scotland for Bachelor in Divinity, but was fain to return as wise as Waltham's calf, and so still continues". About 1642 he was instituted - reputedly "thro' some mean employment" - as rector of Cranham, Glos. Here he was removed by the Gloucestershire parliamentary committee before 1650 when he was assisting at Bishops Cleeve, Glos. By 1655 he was in office as compliant minister of Leek vicarage and was appointed register on 12 Aug 1655. In Jun 1660 he may have continued in office as de facto vicar but probably resigned here before 13 Mar 1660.1 when he was appointed prebendary of Wolverhampton Hilton and perhaps also "vicar" of Wolverhampton. As "incumbent" of Wolverhampton he paid a clerical subsidy of £1/10/0 about Jan 1661.2. He probably died, aged about 62, in 1662 before the Act of uniformity (24 Aug 1662). Whinnell may not have married. Whinnell was the author of The covenant[?er]'s plea for infants; or, the covenant of free-grace, pleading the divine right of christian infants unto the seal of holy baptism (1642) and Suspension discussed: Or, church-members divine-right to christ's table-throne of grace, examined & cleared: Occasioned by a paper sent to one of the authors parishioners for his private satisfaction, and by appointment delivered to the author for his answers thereunto. Both published for the satisfying of weaker consciences (1657).

John Whynnell, the author of Englands sorrows turned into joy: A sermon preached the 28th of June, 1660. Being a publick thanksgiving, for the restauration of his excellent majesty, Charles II ..., was probably his brother.

The Reverend Francis Le Grix White was born in London around 1820 ... and although he was originally qualified as a barrister he relinquished this in 1849 when he was ordained. In 1851 he was domestic chaplain to the Marquis of Drogheda and then in 1857 to 69 the first vicar of Croxton in Staffordshire. He then retired to Leeming House due to ill health and he lived there with his wife until his death in 1887. Occasionally he did help his brother clergy in the services of the church, although much of his time he spent writing and his most famous publication was "Forgotten Seigneurs of the Alenconnais by one who has raked them out of the dust of ages". Thomas White M.A. (parochial curate of West Bromwich) 1642-1710 H138

White, christened on 20 Nov 1642 at Birmingham, was first son of Samuel White of Birmingham, Warwicks "gentleman" ?1618-a1654 and Amphelis Sadler daughter of Thomas Sadler. He studied at Cambridge where on 28 Apr 1658 he was admitted as a sizar at Pembroke College and in 1660 matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1661.2 (M.A., 1671). In Dec 1662 he was ordained deacon, in Jul 1663 ordained priest and on 27 Jul 1663 licensed as a preacher (all) by Lichfield. By 4 Aug 1665 he was in office as parochial curate of West Bromwich. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for West Bromwich & Sandwell constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths. Here he probably resigned before 12 May 1674 when he was licensed ?parochial curate of London Stratford-le-Bow. On 31 Jul 1679 he was appointed preacher of London Stepney and on 1 Jul 1681 after presentation by Philadelphia Wentworth (widow of Thomas Wentworth 5th Baron Wentworth 1613-1665) he was instituted rector there. On 28 Feb 1682.3 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Longdon (and installed 30 Apr). On 7 Oct 1692 he was admitted as a canon residentiary at Lichfield but probably vacated before 30 Sep 1693. On 12 Jul 1693 (probably after presentation by his brother Samuel White and nephew Thomas White on behalf of himself qua prebendary of Lichfield Longdon) he was*, plurally,* ?without licence, ?instituted vicar of Longdon. Here he resigned before 18 Oct 1709 when he presented his successor as vicar. Still in office at London Stratford-le-Bow and London Stepney he died, aged 68, on 25 Feb 1709.10 and was probably buried at London Stratford-le-Bow where an inscribed monument was placed in the church. His will made on 26 Oct 1709 was proved under PCC on 28 March 1710. White married perhaps about 1675 to Lucy (no known children). White was the author of A sermon preach'd to the natives of the county of Warwick, and city of Coventry, in the church of St. Mary le Bow, London, November 14th, 1695... (1695).

James Whitehall M.A. (rector of Checkley) ?1579-1645
Whitehall, christened on 2 Oct 1579 [?1578] at Ipstones, was 1st son of Robert Whitehall of Sharpecliffe in Ipstones c1553-.... and Dorothy Henshaw dau of Thomas Henshaw of Lockwood in Kingsley c1528-.... He studied at Oxford where on 15 Apr 1597 he was a commoner at Broadgates Hall and matriculated but later migrated to Christ Church. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 24 Oct 1601 (M.A., 4 Jul 1604). On 11 Jun 1609 he was ordained deacon by Oxford and presumably ordained priest before 16 Jun 1620 when after presentation by (his father-in-law) John Hollins of Swerford, Oxon gentleman c1554-a1629 he was instituted rector of Checkley. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Still in office Whitehall died, aged about 66, on 2 Mar 1644.5 and was buried here (as requested in the chancel) on 4 Mar. An inscribed monument was placed to the right of the altar in the chancel (below). His will made on 10 May 1642 was proved under PCC on 8 Nov 1645. Whitehall married about 1614 to Elizabeth Hollins (b c1584) dau of John Hollins of Swerford, Oxon gentleman c1554-a1629 and sister and heir of John Hollins (rector of Rotherfield Greys, Oxon) c1594-.... by whom he had 1 son and 3 daughters. At Checkley in 1633, under archbishop Laud's influence, rails were placed round the communion table and in 1637 Whitehall compelled a parishioner not to attend unlawful conventicles under pretense of religion. However churchwardens' accounts show that Whitehall was continually harassed by visitations for not conforming to Laudian principles and in summer 1644 with Laud under arrest the rails were removed. The accounts note "Pd for John Arnold for taking downe the railes of the communion table 0-0-6".

> Here lyeth the Body of JAMES WHITEHALL late rector of this place twenty & two yeares who departed this Life the 2d. day of March 1644. - White as his name & whiter then this Stone | In hope of Joyfull Resurrection | Here lyes that Orthodox that Grave Divine | In whome true virtue did so clearly shine | One that could live & dye as he hath done | Suffered not Death but a translation | But out of Charity Ile speake no more | Least his Friends pine with sighs, with teares the Poore

(2002) James Whitehall was inducted as rector of the Checkley Parish, Staffordshire, in 1620. Like Burton, he was no friend of independents. Checkley parish records show that he once compelled parishioner Thomas Wood not to attend unlawful conventicles "under pretense of religion" (Staffordshire Record Office B3955/1/1[1637]). But his Calvinist loyalties were unquestionable. Described on his alabaster memorial at Checkley as "that orthodox, that grave divine," he was, as church wardens' accounts reveal, continually harassed by visitations to conform to Laudian principles of church order. Wardens' accounts show that in the summer of 1644, with Laud under arrest, Whitehall had the fence around the communion table dismantled: "Pd for John Arnold for taking downe the railes of the communion table 0-0-6" (Staffordshire Record Office D113/A/PC/1[1644]). The enclosure had been installed in 1633, the same year Whitehall was compelled to purchase the monastic-style hood to satisfy Laudian requirements for clerical vestments. (continued to 1559, the manuscript chronicle of Thomas Chesterfield)
[ODNB] [SIMMS*]

He was collated in March 1561 by Bishop Thomas Bentham to the prebend of Curborough in Lichfield Cathedral, "in which church", according to his uncle Sir James Whitelocke, "he lived for the latter part of his time altogeather". One of the few clergymen of the period to make a significant contribution to antiquarian studies, Whitelocke completed the first draft of a history of the cathedral church of Lichfield in 1569. His "Chronicon Lichefeldensis ecclesie", which was compiled at the request of a fellow canon who was curious about the history of the cathedral, went through several drafts. It was mainly a condensed version of the final section, on the bishops of Lichfield, of the Lichfield chronicle written by Alan Ashbourne between 1323 and 1334. Whitelocke made several additions to Ashbourne's account of the holders of the see, and added a further series of brief biographies of the bishops, concluding with the consecration of Bishop Bentham in 1560. To compile his history he used material in the cathedral library, including another chronicle written by John Aston, a contemporary of Ashbourne. The new material which he added on Lichfield traditions, such as the site of a Mercian burial-ground, reflects Whitelocke's antiquarian interests. His episcopal biographies also contain material from the registers of the archbishops of Canterbury, which he might have owed to his friendship with his fellow antiquarian John Twyne, to whom Whitelocke was said to have given information about the dispersal of John Bale's library. Whitelocke took the extracts from Ashbourne's chronicle from the copy presented to the cathedral by Thomas Chesterfield in the mid-fifteenth century. Henry Wharton, who published several accounts of the history of the cathedral in his Anglia sacra (1691), not only wrongly ascribed extracts from the original Lichfield chronicle to Thomas Chesterfield, but also incorrectly ascribed to Whitelocke another compendium, the "Historia ecclesiae Lichfeldensis" written in 1575 by an anonymous author, who was possibly Lawrence Nowell, dean of Lichfield between 1560 and 1576. Four versions of Whitelocke's "Chronicon" survive, all of them dedicated to his fellow canons; in December 1583 he presented an abridgement of the first draft to another antiquarian friend, the lawyer Francis Thynne. Whitelocke died in Lichfield, unmarried, early in 1584. [ODNB]

About 1519 he presented Cardinal Wolsey with a verse and a prose treatise, with a dedication requesting patronage. In the same year he published Libellus epigrammaton, an anthology of poems addressed to Henry VIII, Cardinal Wolsey, Thomas More, and John Skelton. His Vulgaria, published in 1520, pays compliments to the late king Henry VII, to Thomas Linacre, and to More himself, who was here first described as "a man for all seasons". Whittington's efforts succeeded by 1523, at the latest, when he enjoyed the favour of Henry VIII. Whittington was most famous as the author of elementary Latin school books, including De nominum generibus (1511), Declinationes nominum (c. 1511), De heteroclitis nominibus (c. 1511), Syntaxis (second edition, 1512), De syllabarum quantitate (second edition, c. 1512), De octo partibus orationis (c. 1514), De synonymis together with De magistratibus veterum Romanorum (1515), Vulgaria (English and Latin sentences for translation, 1520), and Verborum preterita et supina (1521). He also edited John Stanbridge's Accidence (c. 1515). Each dealt with a different aspect of grammar, and they could be bought individually and cheaply. They were widely sold and frequently republished up to the early 1530s. Whittington's grammars continued to be printed during the 1520s, usually by Wynkyn de Worde but briefly also by Richard Pynson. About 1529, however, Whittington seems to have moved his custom to Peter Treveris, who issued his works for the next two years. By 1533 Whittington had returned to Worde. Worde, however, ceased to issue Whittington's works after 1534, and Whittington turned his attention to translation from Latin into English. He brought out versions of Erasmus's De civilitate morum puerilium (1532), three works by Cicero (De officiis, 1534; Paradoxa, c. 1534; and De senectute, c. 1535), and three allegedly by Seneca (The Forme and Rule of Honest Lyvynge, 1546; The Myrrour or Glasse of Maners, 1547; and De remediis fortuitorum, 1547), the Forme and Myrrour actually being the work of Martin of Braga. Letter: [c1801] Sunday ----------: from [? Mr Mott] to [? Bishop of Lichfield]

The Revd. Mr Wickes is now at Mr Barbers at Walsall, He requests that Mr Mott will immediately write to the Bishop, and inform him, that Hugh Dive Esqr is the undoubted Patron of the Living of Ronton, now void by the death of the Rev'd Mr Wright and he is also the Lord of the Manor, and he has given the Living to the Revd Mr Wickes, and he inform'd Mr B[arber] at Walsall Yesterday, that the Bishop is much at a loss to know who the right Patron is, and at present thinks that the right of Presentation is in the Crown, Mr W[ickes] wishes Mr M[ott] to write by tomorrow post and so soon as Mr M[ott] receives a Letter from the Bishop, Mr Wickes requests to Mr M[ott] to address a Letter to him at Mr Brown's, Kings Arms, Tamworth, at which place he will be, for at least a week. Sunday Noon.

Letter: 27 Aug 1801: from Anthony Gell to [? Mr Mott]
Cloisters Wish...; 27 Augt 1801; Dr Sir, The Revd John Wight Wickes (who will set out this Evening for Tamworth on dec... of the death of his Uncle Charles Floyer of ...well) has desired me to prepare a Presentation of him by Hugh Dive of Clifford Street who he informs me is the true [patron] of the Vicarage of Ronton, the Right of Presentation to which is now vested in the said Hugh Dive in Consequence of the Manor and Estate having long since been purchased of the Cope [family]. He desires you inquire whether the Bishop will grant him Institution and favor him with a line on the subject at Tamworth. Excuse my further[sic] as I am going along with my Eldest Son to consult his Physician, being I much fear in a declining state. I am Dr Sir Yrs Truly. Anthy. Gell

Letter: 27 Aug 1801: from John Wight Wickes to [? Bishop of Lichfield]
Sir, I am just setting of for Tamworth in consequence of my Uncle, Mr Charles Floyers death, and have only time to say that Mr Gell will write to you on the subject of Ronton Vicarage. Hugh Dive Esqr the Lord of the Manor, the Patron of the Vicarage & etc in right of Inheritance from his ancestors who became possessed of the same by purchase of the Copes family has presented me to the said Living. It has frequently lapsed to the Crown from the circumstances of the Dive family never concerning themselves about presentation - and the same lapse would have occurred again but from accident - Mr Dive who lives in Clifford St had read a Volume of Sermons I have lately dedicated to his R.H. the Duke of Cumberland and tho I was unacquainted with him, sent me the offer thro the medium of a Friend, as a test of his esteem - these things seldom happen - and that the Vicarage is very inconsiderable I cannot but be flattered with the mode in which it is obtained - Will you be kind enough to favor me with a line of Instructions directed, Kings Arms, Tamworth, Staffordshr. - I am Sir, with much respect, Yr ff servant John Wight Wickes M.A. Domestic Chaplain to his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland; 7 Maddox Street, Hanover Square, August 27th 1801.

Letter: ?29 Aug 1801: from [? Bishop of Lichfield] to [? Mr Mott]
Eccleshall Castle; Aug: 29?th 1801; Dear Sir, I enclose a letter to Mr Wickes which I had written in answer to one that I received from him, before yours arrived. Be so good as to put it into a cover & direct it to him. This will explain the Business to you. The time for admis[lost] of candidates for Orders is now over. Believe me to be Your most faithful servant. ?I., Lichfield and Coventry. Mr ? Brereter's Nephew is to have Prees. We shall have a bed ready for you on Thursday.

●Robert Wild D.D. (rector of Tatenhill) c1616-1679
Wild, born about 1616, was a son of Robert Wild of St Ives, Hunts shoemaker e1586-..... He was privately educated at St Ives. He studied at Cambridge where on 26 Jan 1631.2 he was admitted as a sizar at St John's College and on 6 Nov 1634 was a scholar. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1635.6 (M.A., 1639) (B.D., Oxford) 1 or 2 Nov 1642; (D.D., lit. reg., ?1661). On 18 Feb 1637.8 he was ordained deacon and on 22 Dec 1639 ordained priest (both) by Peterborough. In Aug 1643 his oldest son was christened at Andover, Hants where he may have been "an usher in a free school". On 22 Jul 1646 by order of the House of Commons he was appointed compliant minister of Aynho, Northants in the place of the previous incumbent James Longman who was sequestered on 10 Dec 1646. Wild compounded here on 11 Dec 1647. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector. About Sep 1660 he was displaced from office on the reinstatement of Long. Shortly after he is said to have been presented by the Crown to another living and on having to give place to another claimant to have written the distich "If hand and seal won't do the thing, Charles is return'd, but not the King". On 1 Sep 1660 after presentation by the Crown he was inducted as rector of Tatenhill, on 21 May 1661 compounded and in Jan 1661.2 paid a clerical subsidy of 5/0. Wild's predecessor here was Henry Burford c1590-.... QV (who had perhaps resigned). It is said that Wild "allowed him £20 to keep him alive as he was reduced to poverty and much impotency". On 24 Aug 1662 Wild did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. He was living at Watford, Herts on 18 Jul 1665. Shortly afterwards he moved to Nuneaton where he became a friend of Richard Clayton ?1595-1669 QV. It is said "there was such an Intimacy and Friendship between these two that they were to each other as David and J*onathan."* In 1669 a conventicle was held at his house in Nuneaton of which he and two other men (Andrews & Campion) were teachers. It is said to have been attended by "about 30 [people], but of late growne to 120 or more". In Jul 1669 he was indicted at Warwick Assizes for keeping a conventicle. On 10 Aug 1672 he was licensed to be a presbyterian teacher at his own house at Oundle, Northants. Wild died probably from apoplexy, aged about 63, in Jul 1679 at Oundle where he was buried on 30 Jul. His will made on 10 Aug 1678 was proved under PCC on 17 Feb 1679.80. His personalty apparently exceeded £1,000 for in his will he bequeathed £500 to each of his two older sons and mentions that his youngest son had already received the same amount. With regard to his books he writes "unto my two [older] sonns ... my Library of Bookes to be equally devided betwixt them by lotts ... to my wife their mother my best Bible and what other English Bookes she shall chuse not exceeding six in number". Wild married about 1642 Joyce (d 1688) by whom he had 3 sons: Robert Wild M.A. (rector of Toppesfield, Essex) 1643-1691, John Wild M.A. (vicar of Weekley, Northants) c1647-1682 and James

Wild of London linen-draper 1649-.... Wild was a religious and political thinker, writer and poet whose views must have evolved with time. After anglican ordination and serving as a compliant minister he was able to accept an anglican office from the Crown in 1660 but then on 24 Aug 1662 did not subscribe was to be deprived and subsequently became a presbyterian teacher. Wild was also capable of humorous observations. Thus Anthony a Wood, writing about 1691, calls him "a fat, jolly and boon Presbyterian" whilst Calamy records in 1702: "I have heard him commended by those that knew him, not only for his Facetiousness, but also his strict Temperance and Sobriety, and his being very Serious in Serious Things". He then quotes one Stancliff who wrote "He was excellently qualified unto his Ministerial Work. None more melted and melting in Prayer, nor more serious and fervent in Preaching Christ and his Gospel". In his will is mention of a bequest of "fifty pounds to my native Towne of St Ives ... for and to such uses .. in a writing". This writing or deed is said to have requested "a sermon to be preached annually on Whit Tuesday; as well as for six bibles, for which twelve natives were to cast lots upon the communion table with three dice in a sawcer on the said day. Wild was the author of many books, poems etc which (are thought to) include the following: Benefice. A comedy. By R.W. D.D. Author of Iter Boreale. Written in his younger days: Now made publick for promoting innocent mirth. [? written 1641] (1689); [Anonymous] "The combat of the cocks" in Thomas Randall The high and mighty commendation (1642); An Elegie upon the Earle of Essex's Funerall (1646); Poem Gondibert Vindicated from the Wit Combats of four esquires Clinias Dametas Sancho and Jack Pudding Printed in the year 1655 (1655); The Arraignment of a Sinner at the Bar of Divine Justice: Delivered in a Sermon in St. Maries Church at Oxford, March the 5. 1655 Before the Right Honourable, the Judges of Assize, &c (?1656); In Nova Fert Animos &c a New Song Upon the Hopeful New Parliament Elegy Upon the Much to be Lamented Death of the Reverend Mr Vines (1656); Iter boreale. W.'s Last Legacie [1679]; A Copy of the Last Verses Made by Dr. Wild (1679). [NB: Wild evidently died a wealthy man bequeathing £1,000 to his two older sons. During his lifetime he may have had a good income from his clerical offices and from his published books. He may have inherited wealth from his family but his father was only a provincial shoemaker. It seems more likely that his wife Joyce was an heiress. In 1665 Wild received £755 from Richard Noyes and Joseph Hinxman probably after the sale of land at Andover and his wife Joyce may have been a relative of one or other of these men.]

(1678) By his wife, Joyce, Wild had at least two sons, both of whom, it is said, were conforming ministers (cf. Foster, Alumni Oxon. 1600-1714). Wild's will, dated on 10 Aug. 1678, contained a singular bequest to his native parish of St. Ives for a sermon to be preached annually on Whit Tuesday; as well as for six bibles, for which twelve natives were to cast lots upon the communion table' with three dice in a sawcer' on the said day. The lottery was duly carried on for some time, but is now abandoned. [DNB]

(1691/2) This Dr. Wild who was a fat, jolly and boon Presbyterian died at Oundle in Northamptonshire, about the beginning of Winter, an. 1679, and soon after had a Poem written on his death, intit. A pillar on the grave of Dr. Wild, besides another called A dialogue be|tween Death and Dr. Wild; both printed in folio sheets, an. 1679. In the month of May 1672 there had like to have been a Poetical war between this Dr. Wild and Tho. Flatman, but how it was ter|minated I cannot tell [Anthony a Wood Athenae Oxonienses Volume II (1691/2) p706]

(1713) In the County of NORTHAMPTON Ayhno: Robert Wild, D.D. A Witty Man, and very pleasant in Conversation. His Performances in Poetry are well known. Mr Wood says, he was a fat, jolly Man, and boon Presbyterian. I have heard him commended by those that knew him, not only for his Facetiousness, but also his strict Temperance and Sobriety, and his being very Serious in Serious Things. So that if any thing contrary to this was intended to be insinuated by that Reflection, it is a wrong to his Memory. Mr Stancliff in his Book (which I have in my Hand) over against his Name in this place wrote thus "He was excellently qualified unto his Ministerial Work. (1803) AYNHO, [R.] ROBERT WILD, D. D. [of Oxford university] He was born at St. Ives in Huntingdonshire. Bridges, in his History says, "Dr. Longman was removed in 1646, and the famous Dr. Rob. Wyld put in his place by order of Parliament, (which be quotes) and Dr. Longman re-entered about 1660." Wood says "He was a fat jolly man, and a boon Presbyterian." But those who knew him commended him not only for his facetiousness, but also his strict temperance and sobriety. He was very serious in serious things ; so that if any thing contrary to this was intended to be insinuated by the above reflection, it is an injury to his memory. [The following is related as one of his witticisms: He and another divine had preached as candidates for this living. The Dr, being asked whether he or his competitor had gotten it, he answered, " We have divided it; I have got the AY, and he the NO."Of his seriousness, the following anecdote affords a striking proof: Mr. Baxter, being much displeased at some instances of his facetiousness which he had heard of, called on him in his way from Kidderminster to London, to reprove him, as the times were very dark. When he came to Aynho, he found the Dr. just gone to church, on a day observed by him and his people as a fast. Mr. Baxter got into a corner of the church, and when the service was over, came to the Dr. thanked him for his service, and desired that he would rebuke him sharply, as he deserved it. Being desired to explain himself, Mr. Baxter answered, " For my great uncharitableness and folly in regarding reports," &c, and then told him why he had called upon him. Mr.Stancliff, over against Dr, Wild's name in this place, wrote thus : " He was excellently qualified unto his ministerial work; none more melted and melting in prayer; nor more serious and fervent in preaching Christ and his gospel." He died at Oundle, in 1679; aged 70; and left the poor of the parish at St Ives £6 per ann for ever. A little before his death he preached on Rev. xiv.12. "Here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus"; and in the course of the sermon he expressed his apprehension of his approaching end, saying "It is but a short time, and I shall be in paradise". He had two sons, who conformed. WORKS - The Tragedy of Mr. Christopher Love, at Tower-Hill - Iter Boreale, upon Monk's March from. When seriously ill in 1747 he wrote his own epitaph in eighteen rhyming couplets:
Here, reader, stand awhile, and know || Whose carcase 'tis that rots below. || A Man's, who walk'd by Reason's rule, || Yet sometimes err'd and play'd the fool; || A Man's, sincere in all his ways, || And full of the Creator's praise; || Who laugh'd at Priestcraft, pride, and strife, || And all the little tricks of life. || He lov'd his king, his country more, || And dreadful party-rage forebore: || He told nobility the truth, || And wink'd at hasty slips of youth. || The honest poor man's steady friend, || The villain's scourge in hopes to mend. || His father, mother, children, wife, || His riches, honours, length of life, || Concern not thee. Observe what's here. || He rests in hope, and not in fear. [Shaw (1801) p149]

BIRMINGHAM. Mr. Samuel Wills. Of Christ's Col. Camb. He was born at Coventry, and first called to be minister at Croxal in Staffordshire. Being driven from thence in the time of the civil war, he removed to London, and was chosen at Great St. Helen's, where he spent a considerable time, to the great satisfaction of his hearers. The *people of Birmingham being destitue, Mr. Simeon Ashe, recommended Mr. Wills to them. Here he had a large congregation many of whom were very intelligent and pious people, and very diligent in searching the scriptures. He continued with them near twenty years, in great reputation for his probity, wisdom, and seriousness, till the year 1660 or 1661, when one Mr. Slater, an apothecary, encouraged by the alterations expected from the Restoration, pretended a claim under the widow of the former incumbent. Tho' the court of arches had declared themselves in favour of Mr. Wills*s title, yet partly by fraud, and more by force, this apothecary got possession of the church, and became preacher there. Mr. Wills being of a calm and peaceable temper, thought not fit to contend any more, but contented himself to preach in Deritend chapel, at one end of the town. Some time after, a process was instituted against him at Litchfield court, and he was cited thither for not reading the Common Prayer, tho' it was not yet enjoined. To avoid this prosecution, he removed a little way into Worcester diocese. He afterwards had many removals, particularly by the Corporation-act. For some time he was in Coventry, where he was chosen by the people who had belonged to Dr. Bryan, and there preached till some unquiet people drove him away. His last remove was to his son's house in Shropshire, a pious worthy Conformist. He died May 14, 1684, aged 73. He was a sedate, quiet, peaceably, able divine. [CALAMY]*

Nathaniel Williams B.D. (rector of Hamstall Ridware) c1599-1669
Williams, born about 1599, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where he was a student at St John's College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1619.20, (M.A., ????), (B.D., Trinity College, Oxford) 6 Jul 1632. On 23 Nov 1623 he was ordained deacon and on 13 Jun 1624 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield. On 14 Feb 1623.4 after presentation by Timothy Wagstaffe of Bishops Tachbrook gentleman c1585-1625 (? on 23 Jan) he was instituted vicar of Bishops Tachbrook, Warwicks. Here he resigned before 29 May 1626 when he was collated by the bishop of Lichfield then Thomas Morton 1564-1659 vicar of Dunchurch, Warwicks. Here he resigned before 14 Mar 1626.7 when after presentation by Catherine Leigh widow & her son Thomas Leigh [1st Baron Leigh of Stoneleigh] c1595-1672 he was instituted rector of Hamstall Ridware. On 10 Feb 1629.30 after a faculty office dispensation for plurality (on 30 Jan) and presentation by Martha widow of Anthony Fitzherbert of Norbury, Derbys esquire c1560-1613 he was, plurally, instituted rector of Norbury, Derbys. On 7 Dec 1630 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Offley for this turn the next day). He resigned at Hamstall Ridware before 15 Jan 1630.1. On 13 Oct 1635 after a dispensation for plurality (on 1 Oct) and presentation by John Heath clerk he was, plurally, instituted vicar of High Offley. From 5 Feb 1643.4 his prebend was abolished but he continued at Norbury and High Offley as compliant minister. He was not allowed to continue as a pluralist and by 12 Jun 1647 had resigned High Offley. On 17 Nov 1648 the Committee for plundered ministers confirmed a previous order that no disposition of prebendal rents be made without consulting him. In early Jun 1660 he was reinstated as rector of Norbury and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 13 Aug 1662. On 12 Feb 1663.4 he was re-collated prebendary of Lichfield Offley. Still in both offices he died, aged about 70, on 6 Aug 1669 and was buried on 10 Aug at Snelston, Derbys. His will made on 27 May 1665 was proved under PCC on 13 Sep 1669. He bequeathed to his son Thomas "my Studdy And all my bookes and papers". Williams married perhaps about 1630 to Ann by whom he had 1 son. Williams was the author of Imago saeculi. The image of the age, represented in four characters viz. The ambitious statesman. [The] insatiable miser. [The] atheistical gallant. [The] factious schismatick. To which is added a pindarique elegie on the lost learned, and famous physitian Dr Willis. Oxford (1683). Thomas Willis 1621-1675 was a royal physician to Charles I.

James Willis
In 1841, James Willis (aged circa 55, Schoolmaster) and Catherine Willis were living with their youngest daughter Louisa aged 15 at Church St, Tamworth. All were "born in the county", i.e. Warwicks (noting that Tamworth was part in Staffs and part in Warwicks).
James Willis married Catherine Lees in 1806 at Tamworth.
I have assumed that Eliza Willis is the daughter of James and Catherine, as they baptised 5 girls (Jane, Mary, Catherine, Sarah and Louisa) and 1 boy (Charles) at Tamworth between 1806 and 1822. They appear to be the only Willis family in Tamworth at the time. Eliza was born circa 1811 at Tamworth according to various censuses. I understand that the Tamworth parish baptism registers for the years 1809-1813 have not survived, and are therefore not included on the IGI, as are other Tamworth records.
Eliza Willis married John Clarson in 1830 at St Phillips, Birmingham, and their four sons (Joseph Henry; James Willis; Robert Willis and John) were baptised at Tamworth between 1832 and 1836. Both Eliza (ca 1811-1892) and John Clarson (1808-1849) were born and died at Tamworth, even though they married at Birmingham. John Clarson was a bricklayer and builder, and after John's death at age 41, Eliza carried on his building business.
The IGI has a submitted record for James Willis born 1782 at Tamworth, Staffs, but as no parents are named, this entry may be derived from the 1841 census. It seems unlikely that James Willis was baptised at Tamworth, as there is no other record for him on the IGI.
He is listed in the publication "A History, Topography & Directory of Warwickshire", by William West, 1830 as running an "Academy" at Church St, Tamworth (see http://www.genuki.org.uk/big/eng/WAR/west/index.html#index).
I would be interested to know whether anyone has any other records for James Willis, Schoolmaster of Tamworth from at least 1830 to 1841.

Thomas Willesby M.A. (presbyterian minister of Wombourn & Trysull) 1618-1682
Willesby, christened on 12 Aug 1618 at Spalding, was seventh son of William Willesby of Spalding, Lincs gentleman 1576-1631 and (his second wife) Mary Edwards dau of Thomas Edwards of Wisbech, Cambs. He studied at Cambridge where on 6 Sep 1634 he was admitted as a pensioner at Emmanuel College and matriculated that year. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1638.9 (M.A., 1642). He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 4 Aug 1646 when he was appointed presbyterian minister of Bigby-cum-Somerby rectory, Lincs. On 20 Apr 1647 he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by the London 4th Classis. On 18 May 1652 he was "settled" as presbyterian minister of Wombourn vicarage (probably also serving Trysull independent parochial chapelry). Whilst in office here "he set up a Lecture every other Tuesday for his neighbouring Ministers to preach in his Church, that the People might have the Benefit of their Assistance", is said to have been a member of the Worcestershire Association and "long kept one of the most learned of the Prelatists in his House". In 1655 he certified the fitness of candidates for the ministry. About 1658.9 he received an augmentation of £60 to his annual salary. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £2. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. He had moved to Birmingham by 1669 when he was a nonconformist teacher at his own house. Whilst here he was "troubled " by Sir Robert Holte of Aston by Birmingham, Warwicks 2nd baronet c1625-1679. Later he moved to Old Swinford, Worcs. Calamy records in 1727 that "Then he remov'd to Old Swynford, and preach'd in his own House, near the Church, between the Times of publick Service; and from thence led his Hearers to the Church, in which he sometimes join'd in the Sacrament of the Eucharist, as well as other Services." On 12 Jun 1682 ●Philip Henry presbyterian minister c1631-1696 noted in his diary "to Swinver. & Sturbr. -saw Mr. Wilsby an aged N.C., weak". Still living at Old Swinford Willesby died, aged 64, and was buried there on 6 Aug 1682. His will made on 24 Jun 1682 was proved under PCC on 1 Jun 1683. The value of his personalty is undiscovered but in his will he mentions much property and he was evidently a wealthy man. In his will (extract below) Willesby founded a school at Spalding later known as the Willesbye or Petit School. He bequeathed four named books (first published in the years given) to his brother James: William Camden Britannia (1586), Peter Heylyn [? Microcosmus. A little description of the great world (1621)], Samuel Clark A mirrour or looking-glasse both for saints and sinners ... (?1654) and Richard Baxter A Christian directory (1673). His remaining books were to be charitably disposed. Two of his five overseers were fellow ministers - Richard Serjeant presbyterian minister of Stone, Worcs 1621-? 1696 and John Reynolds M.D. (presbyterian minister of Wolverhampton) 1632-1683 QV.

Willesby married perhaps about 1648 to Ann (no known children). Calamy records in 1727 "He was of a catholick Spirit, and by Preaching, Practice, and Conference stirr'd up others to Moderation, holy Walking, Heavenly-mindedness, and the Practice of Piety. He was sometimes a little melancholy; but liv'd by Faith to a good old-Age and when he died was very generally lamented."

Mr. Wilsby of Womborne: i.e. Thomas Willesby of Wombourn, Staffs.) ejected; d. 1682: C.R. [RB] [Nuttall (1950)]
Whilst at Wombourn he is said to have been a member of the Worcestershire Association.
(1696) 14. At Womborne was silenced Mr. Wilsby, an ancient, judicious, peaceable, moderate Divine (who had long kept one of the most learned of the Prelatists in his House.) At Bremicham, where he lived privately, he was troubled by Sir Robert Holt [Sir Robert Holte of Aston by Birmingham, Warwicks 2nd Baronet c1625-1679] , but (under many Infirmities) is yet alive, a man of humility, and an unblameable Life. I mention not the Judgment of any of these, that I may say of all together, that as far as I could perceive, they were neither for Prelacy, Presbytery, or Independency, as now in Parties, but as I said of them before, of the primitive temper, for Concord, on the Terms that all sound and good men are agreed in, and for the practice of that, rather than contending about more: And of the primitive extraordinary Humility and Innocency. [Baxter (1696) p92] 266. And about the same time Sir Robert Holt a Knight of Warwickshire near Bremicham, spake in the Parliament House against Mr. Calamy and me by name, as preaching or praying seditiously; but not one syllable named that we said : And another time he named me for my Holy Commonwealth. After he was forced from his beloved people, he sent them many excellent letters, relating to their soul-concerns, and particularly concerning matters of duty. He lived either at or near Birmingham, and had some trouble for preaching in those parts, especially from Sir R. Holt. He afterwards removed to Old Swinford, and preached in his own house, near the church, between the times of public service, and from thence led his hearers to the church, in which he sometimes joined in the Lord's Supper, as well as other Services. (Storrington) ... "alumnus cujusdam [pupil of a certain] Henrici Wilsha, Litchfeldiensis, presbyterij" ...

One of the Earl's [Arundel] chaplains, Henry Wilshaw, offers a similar example. He was first favoured by Arundel in 1547 and subsequently received a number of lucrative benefices, including Storrington after Hooker's death. Wilshaw was also a Bachelor of Divinity, a product of Queens' College, Cambridge where he became a fellow, then bursar and dean. He became a founding fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge in 1546 along with the Fitzalans' radical servant John Geffrey. (13) Wilshaw was certainly a reformer. He was one of a number of Protestant divines authorized to preach in 1547 and, although he conformed under Mary, he was amongst the `spiritual men without promotion' considered for preferment by Cecil early in 1559. Later, in the 1569 sede vacante visitation of Chichester, Wilshaw was listed as one of only seventeen preachers in West Sussex. [INTERNET]

(Wilson writes on 12 Oct 1791) The right of presentation belongs at present, I believe, to Lady Gresley, widow of the late Sir Nigel Gresley, by which worthy gentleman, your humble servant, who was born A.D. 1748, was presented to the living in June 1783. There is no parsonage house; 'tis said there was one, but being burnt down by some accident, the abbot of Hulton, whose duty it was, never thought proper to rebuild it. I have therefore lived in Congleton, about 4 miles from my church, this 15 years, being appointed master of the free grammar school there about half a year after I got the curacy of Biddulph. Wilson, born perhaps about 1622, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman when about 1651.2 he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Pelsall independent parochial chapelry. In Jun 1660 he probably continued in office as de facto parochial curate. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Daniel Witter D.D. (?presbyterian minister of Madeley) 1616-1675
Witter, christened on 17 Nov 1616 at Tarporley, was a son of John Witter of Tarporley, Cheshire c1578-.... He studied at Dublin where in 1639 he was admitted as a scholar at Trinity College. At Dublin he may have graduated B.A. or M.A. (D.D., ad eundum, spring 1669). He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by the winter of 1651.2 when he was in office as ? presbyterian minister of Madeley vicarage. At Madeley a predecessor of Witter had resigned on 4 Jul 1648 and his next known successor was in office on 15 Jan 1658.9. However it is not discovered how long Witter served there. If not ordained earlier he was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) in 1660/1 when he came to Ireland as chaplain to James Butler [1st Duke of Ormonde [I.]] 1610-1688. On 27 Mar 1661 he was appointed dean of Ardfert and rector of Trallee. On 23 Sep 1662 he was installed prebendary of Dublin St Michael. He had resigned these offices before 15 Jul 1664 when he was instituted dean of Down, rector of Down, Saul, Bright and Tirela, vicar of Rathmullen and chancellor of Dromore. In 1668 he gave £50 towards providing communion plate for the chapel of Trinity College, Dublin. On 19 Aug 1669 he was consecrated bishop of Killaloe by Thomas Price (archbishop of Cashel). Still in office as bishop he died, aged 59, on 16 Mar 1674.5 and was buried at Dublin St Michael. His will made - "in great pain and haste" - on 24 Nov 1671 was proved under the Irish prerogative court in 1675. Witter may not have married. His coat of arms is said to have been "Argent on a chevron gules between three crescents sable another crescent of the field".

(1764) DANIEL WITTER. [Succ. 1669. Ob. 1674.] Daniel Witter, Doctor of Divinity of the University of Dublin, was born in England; where having suffered much for his Loyalty to the King, and Zeal to the Church, he came into Ireland after the Restoration with James, Duke of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant of that Kingdom, whose Chaplain he was; and was first made Dean of Ardfert, and rector of Trallee in the said Diocese by Letters Patent dated the 27th of March 1661, and then prebendary of St. Michael's Dublin. He was afterwards on the 19th of March 1663 presented to the Deanery of Down, the Rectories of Down, Saul, Bright, and Tirela, (being the Corps of the said Deanery) to the Vicaridge of Rathmullen in the Diocese of Down, and to the Chancellorship of the Cathedral of Christ the Redeemer in Dromore: At length he was promoted to this See [Killaloe] by Letters patent dated the 19th of August 1669, and was consecrated in the Parish Church of Cashell in September following, by Thomas, Archbishop of Cashell. He died in March 1674. His Will is scarce intelligible, being wrote, as he says, in great pain and haste; yet it bears date more than two years before his death (viz.) on the 24th of November 1671. What I can gather from it is; that after his Debts paid, he bequeathed his Stock, Books, and Furniture to be sold for the Use of the Church of Killaloe, to buy a silver flaggon for the Altar, to procure the Commandments, Creed, and Lord's-Prayer, &c. to be hung up in the Church, and the rest to go to adorn it; except ten Pounds, which he left to the poor of the Parish, and other small Legacies. I forgot to mention that the year before his Advancement to this See, he gave 50l. to the College of Dublin, towards providing Plate for their Chappel. Samuel Wollaston M.A. (rector of Thorpe Constantine) c1595-1668 H140
Wollaston, born about 1595, was a son of Richard Wollaston of Northampton ironmonger c1570-1647. He studied at Oxford where on 24 Jan 1611.2 he was a student at Trinity College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 6 Jul 1615 (M.A., 18 May 1618). He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 19 Mar 1620.1 when after presentation by Sir Thomas Burdett of Bramcote, Warwicks 1st Baronet 1585-a1647 he was instituted rector of Thorpe Constantine. On 18 Aug 1629 after presentation (again by Burdett) he was, plurally, instituted rector of Seckington, Warwicks (where he appears to have been replaced by 1644). On 29 May 1635 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued at Thorpe Constantine as compliant minister. Still in office as minister in early Jun 1660 he was then reinstated as rector and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £5. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 31 Jul 1662. In 1665 Wollaston did not certify the hearth tax for Thorpe Constantine and was not assessed there. He had perhaps been placed in care for that year it was said that he had lost his memory (? suffered from dementia) and that the parish was being served by a clergyman from Seckington. Still in office he died, aged about 73, and was buried there on 2 Jun 1668. His will made on 26 Feb 1666.7 was proved under PCC on 21 Sep & 3 Dec 1668. Wollaston may not have married.

John Wood B.A. (vicar of Clent) ?1596-....
Wood, (? christened on 10 Nov 1596 at Clent), was likely 3rd son of Henry Wood of Clent, Worcs c1553-.... and Joyce. He is said to have graduated B.A. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 19 Feb 1625.6 when after presentation by the Crown he was instituted as vicar of Clent and subscribed as an anglican. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister and signed a transcript of the parish register in 1644. A successor was appointed on 14 Jan 1649.50. At Clent he combined farming with his ministry and possessed a large flock of sheep which ran upon the parish commons. Wood married first on 12 Nov 1627 at Belbroughton, Worcs to Bridget Conyers (b 1595) dau of Francis Conyers (? of Arrow, Warwicks) and widow of William Perrott of Bell Hall, Belbroughton, Worcs gentleman 1591-1623 by whom he had 1 son and 2 daughters. He is said to have married a second time. No further record has been discovered.

(1635) Abstract: Will of Elizabeth Perrott, 27 April 1635 - 18 September 1635 To daughter-in-law, the wife of James Perrott, my son, and to my son John Perrotts wife, and to daughter-in-law Bridget Wood, 10s. each, to be bestowed in rings. I forgive my son-in-law, John Wood, vicar of Clent, all debts owed to me.
(1890) ROBERT Cleye was, perhaps, the first married vicar who held the incumbency of Clent. During Queen Elizabeth's reign the members of the old faith had regarded " priests' wives" with the greatest abhorrence ; the appellation was to them a term of the deepest degradation. Robert Cleye's wife was a daughter of William Sparry of Walton, by his wife Joyce Coxe, who married secondly Henry Wood, and became the mother of two sons and three daughters, baptized at Clent. Of these, one son, John, was christened on the 1oth Nov., 1596; he it was, in all probability, who became vicar of Clent in 1626. ..... He was succeeded on February 10th 1626 by John Wood BA John Wood was a bachelor when he became vicar for he married at Belbroughton the same year widow of William Perrott of Bell Hall and daughter of Francis and niece of Sir John Conyers Constable of the Tower of London He combined farming with his ministry and possessed a large flock of sheep which ran upon the commons in the parish Several of his children were baptized at Clent [only 2 found] and the last time his name appears signing the register as vicar is in 1641 though a transcript at Worcester was signed by him in 1644 The register from this time till 1649 when it was recommenced by Andrew Tristram his successor is wanting nor are there any transcripts in existence to supply the deficiency Parish registers were greatly neglected in the troublous times of Charles I s reign and though in the year 1644 an ordinance was passed by the House of Commons that a fair register book of velim was to be procured and kept by the ministers and other officers of every church throughout the land the neglect was universal [Amphlett Clent (1890)]
(1915) 18 May 1612 oc. 1644 John Wood B.A.6 - 6 Wood. B.A. New College, Oxford (Auden). Occurs 1644 (Amphett). [1915 p64 66]
3. William [Perrott], bapt. August 5th, 1591. He met with a violent death (1) at Bewdley in 1623, and was buried at Ribbesford. He made no Will, but adminstration of his effects was granted, at Worcester, to Bridget his widow, and his inventory was made Nov. 17th, 1623, by William Penn, Oswald Tolley, Henry Smyth, and Matthew Walford.(2) He married at Studley, co. Warwick, Oct. 19th, 1620, Bridget daughter of Francis Conyers, and sister of Sir John Conyers, Knt., Lieutenant of the Tower of London, and by her (who was bapt. at Belbroughton Aug. 24th, 1595) had issue two sons, Humphrey who settled in Ireland (of whom hereafter), and Conyers, bapt. 1623, of whom I have no further information. The widow Bridget was married secondly at Belbroughton, on November 12th, 1627, to the Rev. John Wood, vicar of Clent, by whom she was mother of a daughter Mary, (3) married at Belbroughton, Sept 18th 1655 to James Purshull of Purshull Hall co Worcester son of Gerard Purshull mentioned hereafter and had with other issue a son Conyers Purshull stated to be æt 26 at the Visitation of Worcestershire in 1682. [Midland Antiquary]
(3) A monumental inscription in Elmbridge Church, Worcestershire, to Mary the first wife of James Purshull, describes her as "daughter of John Wood, rector (sic) of Clent, by his first wife Bridget, widow of William Perrott, of Belhall, gent., daughter of Francis Conyers, Esq., and sister to Sir John Conyers, Knight and Baronet (sic), sometime lieutenant of the Tower of London, Captain of the King's Life-guard of Horse, and Governour of Berwick-upon-Tweed." I take this Francis Conyers to be the Francis Conyers of Arrow, who is stated in the Warwickshire Visitation of 1619 to have married Elizabeth sister of Sir Thomas Beaufoy of Edmonscote. But it would seem that he lived, after his marriage, at Belbroughton, for besides Bridget, he had three other children baptized there, viz., John (?the Lieutenant of the Tower) on Jan. 28th, 1586; Grey, on Nov. 12th, 1589; and Dorothy, on July 30th, 1592. John Savage, of Egioke, co. Worcester, who died in 1631, aged 52, is stated to have married " Frances, sister of Sir John Conyers, Kt." [Midland Antiquary]

Seth Wood (?parochial curate of Armitage) c1608-c1672
Wood, born about 1608, was a son of Tempest Wood M.A. (vicar of Lenton, Lincs) c1575-?1639 and Elizabeth. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1626 he matriculated from Magdalene College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1628.9 (M.A., 1632). He was ordained deacon (? and priest) before 19 Jul 1635 when his first child Catherine was christened at Mavesyn Ridware where he might have been a stipendiary curate. His second child Cornelius, born on 1 Sep 1636 in Staffordshire, was not christened at Mavesyn Ridware probably because Wood was by then living at neighbouring Armitage where he was presumably parochial curate. About 1638 he was styled " Seth Wood of Annitage - minister of the gospel", when he testified to the honest life and conversation of a local preacher Humphrey Vincent ?1595-.... On 15 Mar 1638.9 after presentation by Sir William Armine of Osgodby, Lincs 1st Bart 1593-1651 he was instituted by Canterbury as vicar of Lenton, Lincs (having received a dispensation "to succeed his father Tempest Wood clerk" the day before). (Later in 1651 on Armine's death Wood preached his funeral sermon). On 30 Oct 1643 he was appointed compliant minister of Long Melford rectory, Suffolk but in 1648 resigned and returned to Lincolnshire. On 24 Mar 1651.2 the Committee for the regulation of the universities appointed "Mr. Seth Wood, of Lenton" as minister of Leicester St Margaret. Wood may again have been in office at Long Melford in 1654. On 29 Aug 1654 he was appointed compliant minister of London Christ Church vicarage and on 19 Sep 1655 a lecturer at Westminster Abbey. On 19 Sep 1657 he was admitted as a lecturer at Westminster St Margaret. On 24 Oct 1657 he was appointed an Assistant Commissioner for the ejection of scandalous ministers in Middlsesex. On 1 Oct 1658 he was appointed compliant minister, of Dinton vicarage, Bucks but was never admitted. By 1660 he was in office at London St Leonard Eastcheap where he was ejected that year. In Jan 1660.1 he signed a declaration against Thomas Venner c1609-1661 [ODNB] who was executed that month for leading an uprising against the government. Whilst living at Westminster in 1661 he was said to be a London congregational minister. In May 1670 he was resident "ye back-side of' Red Lion, Gray's Inn Lane" when he was convicted by the lord mayor of London for preaching in Blackfriars . Wood died, aged about 64, about 1672 and was buried at St Leonards, Bucks where his son John Wood was parochial curate. In 1707 an inscribed monument (below) was placed in the church by his 1st son Cornelius Wood 1636-1712 with the family coat of arms Gules semy fitchy argent three demi savages with clubs elevated proper. Wood married on Sep 1634 at Lenton to Elizabeth by whom he had 5 sons and 2 daughters. John Wood (parochial curate of St Leonards, Bucks) 1639-?1697 was his 2nd son, Aaron Wood (rector of Greens Norton, Northants) c1643-1720 was his 3rd son. Wood was the author of Orders from the Lord of Hostes, for Regulating the Hostes of the Lord ... (1646) and The Saints Enterance Into Peace and Rest by Death ... in a Sermon Preached at the Funerall of ... Sir William Armyne, Baronet ... (1651)

The recipient, George Girdlestone Woodhouse (1831-1897), was a close friend and colleague of Dodgson's at Oxford. From the Spring of 1852, he and Dodgson shared rooms for five terms at the Cloister staircase, Christ Church. "Charles addressed his one-hundred-line mock epic 'The Ligniad' to Woodhouse, perhaps in gratitude: he was the 'very first who spoke to me -- across the dinner table in Hall' in Charles's earliest college days" (Cohen, p. 43). Dodgson's diary entry for April 29, 1877 mentions that Woodhouse and his wife came to visit in the afternoon for about an hour "to see photographs." Presumably Dodgson wanted to give his friend a keepsake, but not having any spares he inscribed his own copy of Snark . [INTERNET]

Ralph Woolley (vicar of Alton, Staffs) c1617-1681
Woolley was born about 1615 son and (probably) heir of John Woolley (Master of Alton Parish School, Staffs) e1585-.... Perhaps about 1638 he became a successor of John Woolley as Master of Alton Parish School and was in office when he subscribed to the Act of Uniformity on 14 Aug 1662. On 14 Dec 1662, as a literate, he was ordained deacon and on 15 Dec 1662 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield. On 15 Dec 1662 after presentation by the lord of the manor Francis Talbot 11th Earl of Shrewsbury c1624-1668 (or his representative) he was instituted vicar of Alton. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Alton constablewick when the vicarage was assessed on 3 hearths. In office at Alton he died, aged about 66, and was buried there on 25 Feb 1680.1. His will made on 26 Dec 1680 was proved at Lichfield on 31 Mar 1681. His personalty was valued at £541/11/0 but this included the large sum of £340 due on a bond from Mary Brown. An Alton property "Shaw House" had been bought by his father John Woolley in 1622 and was probably sold by Ralph Woolley (shortly before his death) to this Mary Brown. John Woolley (vicar of Bromsgrove, Worcs) c1617-1662 was a (?younger) brother who in 1660 was installed prebendary of Lichfield Stotfold and in 1661 leased the prebend to Ralph Woolley and another man. Ralph Woolley married first, perhaps about 1662, to a woman (d a1671) by whom he had two daughters. He married second on 29 Dec 1671 to Priscilla Lathrop 1619-1694 dau of Humphrey Lathrop of Crakemarsh in Uttoxeter, Staffs c1586-....

A farmer in this parish of this name got Mason ejected and hired itinerant preachers to supply the cure, having for his labour the profits of the glebe worth £40 pa, the small tithes and an augmentation of £30. (1934) WOOLRICH. Calamy gives Mr. Woolrich as ejected at Chebsey, Staffs. According to information supplied to Walker by Chas. Harvey, V. of Chebsey, 1705, he was a farmer in the parish, who acted as sequestrator - this must have been after removal of Samp. Newton (q.v.) - and employed itinerant preachers to supply the cure until the restoration of the seqd. vicar 'a month or two before the King came in'. Thos. Woolrich and Mary, wife of Ric. Ralph Worsley B.A. (presbyterian minister of Leek) c1632-1694
Worsley, born about 1632, was 5th and youngest son of Ralph Worsley of "Platt", Withington in Manchester, Lancs gentleman 1593-1669 and (his 2nd wife) Elizabeth Walker dau of George Walker of Ashton-under-Lyne, Lancs. He studied at Oxford where on 27 Nov 1650 he was "a commoner" at Oxford and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 12 Oct 1652. He had not fulfilled the residency requirement but had been backed by Oliver Cromwell who noted that his "conversation during his abode in the University has beene such as has spoken him civill in his life and faithfull to the state". About Mar 1652.3 he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by Manchester classis and on 14 Jun 1653 he was appointed presbyterian minister of Chelford, Cheshire by Manchester classis in succession to his brother-in-law Joseph Ottiwell. At Chelford on 17 Jan 1653.4 Worsley was prevented from imposing hands at an ordination and was then described by Henry Newcome as "of very light carriage" implying that he lacked strength or conviction. On 7 Jun 1654 after presentation by Thomas Rudyard of Rudyard in Leek esquire c1628-p1680 he was approved by the Commission for the approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister of Leek vicarage but was replaced in office during 1655. In 1658 he styled himself "pastor of Macclesfield". In 1661 he is said to have been ordained deacon and priest (both) by Bangor. On 24 Sep 1661 after presentation by Sir Brian Broughton of Broughton in Eccleshall 1st Baronet 1618-1708 he was instituted vicar of Egmanton, Notts by York. In 1689 he took the Oath of allegiance to the Crown (William and Mary). Still in office Worsley died, aged about 62, and was buried here on 5 Oct 1694. Worsley married perhaps about 1662 to Ann Crompton (d ?1695) by whom he had 2 sons and ?3 daughters. Charles Worsley of Manchester, Lancs M.P. 1622-1656 [ODNB], a supporter of Oliver Cromwell, and Edward Worsley (rector of Lethingsett, Norfolk) 1662-1674 were his half-brothers. Joseph Ottiwell alias Johnson (vicar of Ellesmere, Salop) 1627-1702 was married to his sister.

(1652) Yet another case involved Ralph Worsley, future vicar of Egmanton in Nottinghamshire, who got his degree with Cromwell’s backing, as someone who had not fulfilled his residency requirement, but whose "conversation during his abode in the University has beene such as has spoken him civill in his life and faithfull to the state". [The Letters, Writings and Speeches of Oliver Cromwell, general editor John Morrill (3 vols, Oxford, 2022) (hereafter Letters, Writings and Speeches). ii p556]

For an account of him see Booker's Birch, p. 27, and Earwaker's East Cheshire, vol. ii p. 504. Presented himself for ordination March, 1652.3, coming from Pembroke College, ~~Cambridge~~, and was ordained to Chelford in Cheshire. He did not stay there beyond 1657, being succeeded by Mr. Hugh Henshaw. See Newcome's Autobiog., p. 47, for his "light carriage" at Chelford. (17 Jan 1653.4) Tuesday, January 17th, 1653.4. Mr. Ra. Worsley was then at Chelford, and was of very light carriage; and to keep him off from imposing hands at the ordination, they proposed to have some three or more of such as were nominated to impose hands. I was left out; and the baseness of my heart was such that I had great tugging with myself. (Edward W.) At Letheringsett he was succeeded by John Bond who had been ordained according to the Prayer Book Rite in 1643 and was rector of Holt from 1646 when the Royalist incumbent, Hammond Claxton, was deprived. But on Claxton's reinstatement Bond's Puritanism commended him to the Jermys, but in a few months he was dead and Edward Worsley became rector of Letheringsett. To have been presented by the Jermys, Worsley must have been of Puritan sympathies and he was succeeded by Nathaniel Palgrave, a member of the Puritan family of that name at North Barningham. But the old animosities were fading away and Worsley's son Charles, afterwards rector of Salthouse, married Beatrix Claxton a relation of the old royalist parson of Holt. Their monument in Letheringsett Church has recently been restored to its original position on the north wall of the chancel. ... M. In a petition to the king and council in Parliament Wotton pleaded his own cause, and gave an account of himself and how he was thus ousted out of bis Prebend, praying that as he was now blind, old and feeble it might be given back to him, as a work of charity and for the soul of Baldwin his late lord. John Wright (vicar of Seighford & parochial curate of Stafford St Chad) ?1636-1682 H142
Wright, (? christened on 20 Nov 1636 at Adbaston), was probably 1st son of Thomas Wright of Adbaston husbandman c1603-1674 and Bridget (Angier). He probably studied at Dublin as a student at Trinity College (entering about 1654) but is not of record there and is not known to have graduated. He was presumably ordained deacon before 23 Sep 1661 when after probable presentation by the prebendary of Lichfield Pipa Minor then Robert Hill e1610-1662 he was licensed parochial curate of Stafford St Chad. On 4 Mar 1661.2 Wright was ordained priest by Lichfield and after presentation by the Crown was, jointly, instituted vicar of Seighford and also paid first fruits. During Easter 1662 at Stafford Quarter Sessions he was ordered to make restitution for forcibly dispossessing (his predecessor) Richard Clayton ?1595-1669 QV of church and glebe. In Oct 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £25. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Seighford constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths at Seighford township. He resigned at Seighford (? and at Stafford St Chad) before 12 Sep 1671 about which time he was instituted as rector of Longford, Derbys. $Charles Wynne M.A. (vicar of Penn) c1619-1669 H143

Wynne, born about 1619 in Worcestershire, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 1 Apr 1637 he was admitted as a sizar at Emmanuel College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1640.1 (M.A., 1644). About 1642 he is said to have been ordained deacon by Hereford and in Feb 1642.3 was ordained priest by Norwich pro Lichfield. He is said to have been a stipendiary curate at Sudbury St Peter, Suffolk. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. On 16 Dec 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers (with the approval of the Westminster assembly of divines) appointed him as compliant minister of Penn vicarage and granted him an augmentation of £50 to his annual salary of £30. In some following years a smaller augmentation was paid. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Charles Winne Minister of the Gospel at Penne". In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto vicar and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 14 Aug 1662. On 23 Oct 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £20 pa. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Lower Penn and Upper Penn constablewicks and was assessed on 3 hearths at Upper Penn. Still in office he died, aged about 50, and was buried here on 2 Jun 1669. His will made on 28 May 1668 was proved under PCC on 15 Nov 1669. Wynne married on 18 Jan 1652.3 at Penn to Elizabeth Brindley by whom he had 2 daughters. Zachary Rogers M.A. (vicar of Great Tey, Essex) c1629-.... was his kinsman.

(1915) 16 Dec 1646 ob. 1669 Charles Wynne B.A. 10 - 10 Wynne, Winne. Probably B.A. 1640.1, M.A. 1644 Emmanuel College, Cambridge (Venn). Appointed by the committee for plundered ministers with the approval of the Assembly of Divines. (Bodl MS 324 p155) As the vicarage was only worth £30 pa, the said committee augmented it in 1646 with the following sums, viz. £9 pa from the rent reserved to the vicars choral of Lichfield out of this impropriate rectory, £3 pa from the tithe corn sequestered from Col Levison and £38 pa from Penkridge rectory sequestered from Sir Edward Lyttelton, delinquent. (Bodl MS 323, p357) The £3 is omitted in SPDI F1 p198. Payment of these amounts was ordered to Wynne in Jun 1650 (Bodl MS 327 p480), but in Dec 1650 it appears that the only augmentation made was the £9 pa, which was then ordered to be paid (Sion MS p490). On 11 Jun 1651 he received an order for the payment of both the £9 and the £38 augmentation from the committee for plundered ministers (SPDI F2 pt ii p357; Bodl MS 328 p363), but the trustees apparently confined the augmentation to £9, which they ordered to be paid in Mar 1650.1, 25 Jul 1651, 4 Feb 1651.2. (LMS 978, pp619, 623; 976 p330) Also on 13 Jun 1651 they ordered the arrears of the £9 due 2 Feb 1649.50 to be paid. (LMS 979 p359) In April 1654 Wynne pleads that he only had one payment of the £3(sic) augmentation, viz. on 29 Sep 1653, and begs for its continuance. (Compounding p2485) On 7 Jun 1654 he again receives an order for the £9. (LMS 973, p678) On 11 Oct 1655 a fresh order was made by the trustees, under which apparently he received £8/18/0 pa till 1659 or later (LMS 995 p230; 981 p20; cf994 p142). He signed the testimony in 1648. [1915 p212-3]

Wyrley, born perhaps about 1622, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 23 May 1652 when he took office as ?presbyterian minister of Eccleshall vicarage. On 16 Sep 1656 he was also chosen and sworn in as parish register. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar. Still in office he died, aged about 39, and was buried on 25 Mar 1661 at Chebsey. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 15 Sep 1698. His personalty was valued at £61/10/0 and included " The Bookes £10" and "The Easter Role £20". Wyrley married perhaps about 1655 to Ann Sergeant dau of John Sergeant (of Cotes in Eccleshall) gentleman c1588-.... [SLG] by whom he had 2 sons.

"Dr. David was founder of the branch called 'Yale of Plas Grono,' also given as 'Plas of Gronwy.' 'In 1598 he made extensive purchases of land from the Erddigs of Erthig, selling some but keeping Plas Grono as the family seat.' The present Erdigg House is a handsome red-brick Georgian mansion with an imposing wide facade. In June, 1977 Erdigg Park was officially opened by Charles, Prince of Wales, as a British National Trust property and is now undergoing extensive restoration, both mansion and grounds. 'Plas Grono' reverted to the Erthig estate in 1728 and the house was pulled down in 1876." [INTERNET NOT CHECKED]

Jonathan Yates B.A. (vicar of Bradley) c1610-?1686
Yates, born about 1610, was ?6th son of Thomas Yates of Middlewich, Cheshire commoner c1572-.... and Margaret (Carter). He studied at Oxford where he was a student at Brasenose College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 28 Jan 1629.30 (but apparently only matriculated the following day). He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 20 Jun 1636 when after presentation by Francis Comberford of Bradley gentleman c1610-c1677 he was instituted vicar of Bradley. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister but, presumably as a committed anglican, was ejected before Apr 1647. By 1654 he was in office as compliant minister of Stowe Nine Churches vicarage, Northants. Here in 1655 the Council (? of State) "refused to examine articles against him from parishioners". However in 1656 he was ejected. In 1660 he was instituted vicar of Spratton, Northants. On 4 Mar 1663.4 after presentation by John Clement esquire he was (plurally) instituted rector of Blisworth, Northants. Before 20 Dec 1669 he resigned Spratton. Yates probably died in 1686, aged 76, whilst still in office at Blisworth. Yates married (? on 15 Nov 1634 at Southwark St George the Martyr) to Rebecca (?Blakey) (d 1679) by whom he had 2 sons and 5 daughters. Thomas Yate (principal of Brasenose College, Oxford) c1602-1681 was his oldest brother. Samuel Yate (rector of Middleton Cheney, Northants) 1620-1693 was his youngest brother. Jonathan Yates's brother Thomas Yate owned the manor of Rushall, Wilts at his death in 1681. The manor passed in 1683 to Jonathan who in 1684 settled it after his death to his daughter Ellen and her husband William Giffard of London St Clement Danes leatherseller c1650-

1717. Their sons were Jonathan Yate Giffard 1681-.... (minister of the island of Montserrat in 1711) and Thomas Giffard (rector of Rushall, Wilts) 1683-1746. [NOTE: Many members of the Yates family were styled Yate]

(1975) The manor [Rushall] was apparently allotted to Anne and Thomas Wharton and sold to Thomas Yate (d. 1681), principal of Brasenose College, Oxford. Yate's lands were partitioned in 1683 when Rushall was allotted to his brother Jonathan ~~(d. 1690),~~ rector of Blisworth (Northants.). In 1684 Yate settled the manor on himself and, after his death, on his daughter Ellen (d. 1702) and her husband, William Giffard (d. 1717). William was succeeded by his second son Thomas (d. 1746), rector of Rushall, and he by his son William who in 1749 sold the manor to Edward Poore. [VCH (Withshire) X (1975)]

Yates, born perhaps about 1632, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Oxford where he was a student (perhaps at St Mary Hall on 26 Nov 1650 and) at Magdalen College but did not graduate. He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by 3 Feb 1657.8 when after presentation by Charles Cavendish "Viscount Mansfield" c1626-1659 he was approved by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as presybyterian minister of Blore Ray rectory. On 15 Feb 1661.2 after presentation by (the lord of the manor) William Cavendish 1st Duke of Newcastle-upon-Tyne 1593-1676 he was instituted rector of Blore Ray. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 21 Aug 1662. On 9 Nov 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £40. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Grindon constablewick (which included Blore Ray parish) and was assessed on 2 hearths at Blore Ray township. On 8 Feb 1666.7 he was appointed schoolmaster of Blore Ray parish school. Still in office he died, aged about 57, and was buried here on 24 Apr 1689. His will made on 19 Feb 1688.9 was proved under Lichfield on 26 Sep 1689. His personalty was valued at £275/11/10 and included "All His Bookes in his Studdy £2". Yates married first in 1660 at Blore Ray to Ann Stubbing (d 1666) dau of Charles Stubbing by whom he had 1 daughter. He married second on 5 May 1670 at Blore Ray to a widow Elizabeth ?Morris (d 1679) by whom he had 2 sons and 2 daughters.

Richard York (presbyterian minister of Rushall) c1633-1666 G47

York, born about 1633, was a son of Francis York of Shrewsbury innkeeper c1596-1644 and Sarah (Owen). He was educated at Shrewsbury about 1645/8. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman when about 1657 he was probably appointed presbyterian minister of Rushall vicarage. In Jun 1660 he probably continued in office as de facto vicar. About Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of ??? On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. In 1664 he is said to have been lodging at Shrewsbury with Alderman Webb and that year was acting as an "intelligencer" between presbyterians in London, Shrewsbury, and Wales. On 3 Jul 1664 he was preaching at London St Mary Aldermanbury and in Dec 1664 and Jan 1664.5 at London St Lawrence Pountney and London College Hill. He died "of a consumption", aged about 33, and was buried on 21 May 1666 at Shrewsbury St Chad perhaps as requested "in [the] Churchyard ... amongst my Ancestors". His will made on 17 May 1666 was proved under Lichfield on 3 Oct 1666. His personalty was valued at £48/14/10 and included "It In bookes £6/13/4". York married on 2 Mar 1662.3 at Shrewsbury St Mary to Mary Evans of Astley (no known children). On 28 May 1666 Philip Henry presbyterian minister c1630-1696 writes in his diary "The week before, Mr. York dyd in Shrewsb. a holy good man, & well approved in the Ministry, who wasted his own Candle in giving light to others, even whilst under the Bushel. ..." Whilst Calamy records in 1713 that he was "A religious active Man, and a lively Preacher."
